'71 Insight Gone

It's gone! The 1971 INSIGHT is in the hands of the publisher.

In years past, there has been some delay in returning the yearbooks to the student body. This year, however, it is entirely possible, that they will be put on display EARLY.

Brantley Watkins, co-editor, says that at the last though, things were a little hectic. But with true team spirit, the yearbook staff pulled together and surprised even themselves by submitting the finished product a day early.

The question may arise, "When will the book get back to WCC?" The answer lies in the hands of Hunter Publishing Company. Tentatively, the date set for distribution is May 15, 1971, five days before exams. This means that even at that set date, it will give the staff plenty of time to set up operations, and the students five days to find five dollars, if they have not purchased a yearbook in advance.

The Student 'Onion' Advances

With its large and bleak interior, students may wonder what proposals are being made for the new Student Union, also called the "Onion." Here then is an unofficial list of goals that will need to be accomplished in order for WCC to have a successful Student Union.

The Union itself will not officially open until the latter part of February at which time most, if not all, of the listed items will be installed.

A wall will go in the Union to separate the TV area. The purchase of a rug is also proposed. A new color television set with an outside antennae has already been purchased and will be installed when the wall has been erected.

The tables and chairs for the game room have not arrived yet, but when they do arrive, it will give additional tables for eating and more room for card playing.

Book and coat racks have been ordered and will arrive with the tables and chairs. This should eliminate the inconvenience of books being placed on tables.

Planters are being proposed to separate and balance the game area and give life to the building. Pictures from the old lounge will be hung on the walls as soon as possible.

The pool table and football machine will be separated by another planter so as to keep the areas self-regulating.

When the tables and chairs come in, little room will be left for any additional games. Some students have proposed a ping pong table, yet if this is put in, the pool table and football machine will have to go. Only a limited area can be provided for games, and ping pong is not a game limited to a small area. Although many cannot perceive the cramped area now, when the new tables and chairs are placed in the game room, it will be obvious that all three games are not possible. As it is now, the pool table draws money that can be used for many needs of the Union, such as landscaping. However, a ping pong table draws no money. The decision will be with the students and will be decided when the new tables and chairs are placed into the Union.

An information booth is being built that will house game equipment such as chess, checkers, and pool cues. This is

Homecoming A Great Success

The weekend of January 15 and 16 was a new adventure for students at Wayne Community College as they began enjoying the college's first Homecoming. The Student Government Association decided during the Fall Quarter to take on this Homecoming as a new project in order to evoke student participation. Many letters were mailed, posters distributed, and various types of publicity used to reach WCC alumni.

Miss Jenny Gordon was crowned Homecoming Queen by Miss WCC, Sandy Mitchell, during the half-time ceremonies. Miss Gordon was elected by the students and represented the College Transfer curriculum. First runner-up was Penny Davis and second runner-up was Jean Brown.

Friday night found students and some alumni enjoying a "film festival" featuring the "Roadrunner" and "Daffy Duck." This was followed by a dance in WCC's new Student Union with music provided by the 100 Percent Nothings.

Registration was held on the WCC campus Saturday morning. Campus tours were directed by various clubs and organizations of the college. Departmental meetings were held and an Alumni Association formed.

WCC Bisons hosted Davidson Community College at a basketball game at Goldsboro High School gym at 2:00 where they triumphed over Davidson. During half-time ten clubs and organizations participated in a mock parade featuring floats made by each individual organization. The winning float was constructed by the WCC Watchmaking Guild. Second place went to Delta Chi Omega Fraternity while WCC Cheerleaders received an Honorable Mention.

also in the February deadline.

Delta Chi Omega Fraternity has donated and will install an AM-FM radio, record player, and possibly an 8-track tape deck combination to the Union. It will be installed by the brothers of the fraternity when the information booth is in operation. The Juke Box will come out, and the music will be piped in from six speakers located at various points in the Union. The unit will also have a PA system.

A counter is being built for better service with the machines. On the back of this counter, located between the two posts near the machines, will be a large bulletin board. Again, this will give uniformity to the Union.

The machines are there to stay. These machines are not intended to replace a home cooked meal but are for snacks only. As soon as all the problems with machine maintenance are solved, the machines should work much better than did the counter at the old Student Lounge.

All the dances will be held in the Union, and unless there are serious disturbances, there will be no restrictions against going in and out of the dances. A portable stage has been discussed for use in future plays and dances.

Curtains have been purchased and have been put up.

All these proposals will eventually become reality in the Union, but patience is needed. There are exactly five people, as of now, contributing their time and energy to the Union. Therefore, it is difficult to complete the Union to the satisfaction of all persons.

If a student wishes to find out more about his Student Union or to help with the decoration of the "Onion," he should make an effort to attend one of the Student Union COommittee meetings.

WCC Hosts Date Program

Two students from the Dental Auxiliary Teacher Education program at the School of Dentistry, University of North Carolina have been doing their practice teaching in the Wayne Community College Dental Auxiliary Department during the Winter Quarter.

Miss Caroline J. Flintom, a registered dental hygienist is presently enrolled in the DATE program at UNC and will graduate in June with a B. S. degree. Miss Flintom is a native of Greensboro.

Miss Christine A. Leimone, a native of Burgaw, is a certified dental assistant. She will also receive her degree in June.

The Dental Auxiliary Teacher Education Program is designed to further train registered dental hygienists and certified dental assistants for teaching roles.
