SUPERLATIVES ARE ELECTED

Mr. and Miss

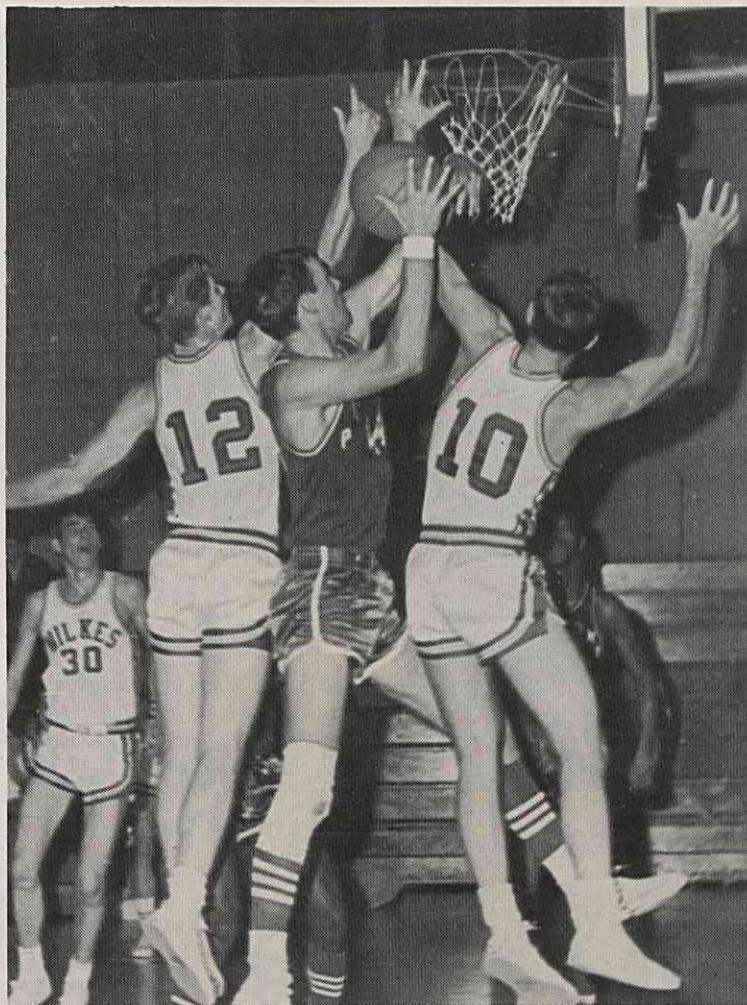

Wilkes Community College Superlatives were elected last week by means of a nomination-vote type affair conducted in the English and Humanities classes by members of the Student Government Association. However this round-about method of election proved to be a sufficient means to achieve a certain goal. Due to the late date that the newspaper staff found out who the superlatives were, there was, unfortunately not enough time to obtain pictures of these people.

According to the SGA the amount of votes cast for each person was so widespread and unbelievably close that many of the positions almost ended in a tie.

Nevertheless, WCC Superlatives were elected and are as follows. Mr. WCC is Louis Poteet, Miss WCC is Jackie Priestly, Miss Cougar is Pansy Lyalls, Miss Gwenda Joines was chosen as a beauty from the Technical Division, Regina Owens is the reigning beauty from The College Parallel Division and Miss Louella Brown shall represent the vocational Division as their reigning beauty.

Quotation

Some people have been heard to say that the young man who cannot laugh is a savage and the old man who will not laugh is a fool.

Cougars Down Pythons

The Cougars experienced their first taste of victory Saturday, November 31st at 10:00 p.m. in the North High Gym. A one point lead proved to be enough in the final minutes as an upset victory was witnessed by several hundred fans.

The Pythons of Winston-Salem Business College were enjoying a five-game winning streak and in three of these five games they had scored over one hundred points. Then Linney's legion dealt them defeat. Have faith in your team fans, this team may have been down, but they are far from being out. Support the Cougars, after all, they are your team.

Unfortunately, there is not always a right and wrong solution to a situation. Sometimes there are only two courses of action, bad and worse.

New Campus: Doubtful

Patience is the key word in connection with the construction and completion of the new Wilkes Community College buildings. Rumors have it that the campus will not be completed; however, a letter from the architect confirms readiness by the winter quarter. Construction engineers have been working almost day and night. Lighting and heating installation as well as final painting are under way. In addition to basic utilities, there is equipment being moved into the chemistry and physics labs.

The primary concern; however, is not the building itself, but the condition of the grounds. The determining factor regarding the grounds has been the wet weather experienced this fall. The ground is too soft for the pouring of curbs and walks, which must be completed before the bringing in of gravel for the parking lots. Without adequate parking it will be impossible for classes to meet. This same situation of student parking has been especially evident this quarter at the classroom areas in both Wilkesboro and North Wilkesboro.

Mr. Mayes reported a trying experience at the new campus last week when he had to shift his Scout into four-wheel drive and proceed through the "sea" of mud.

At any rate, classes will meet next quarter at Woodlawn or in the new buildings. The teachers and material will inevitably be awaiting students.

An adult, uninterested in improving the opportunities of youth, is not a credit to the so-called human race.
