

Twice Defeated

November 16, the Wilkes Community College Cougars played their first basketball of the season. The game began at 8 o'clock in the North Wilkes High School Gymnasium, a scant two hours later the Cougars had met their first defeat by a short margin of three meager points. The victors were from Anderson Junior College.

The second disappointment of the season shortly followed the next week on November 26. Coach Linney's Cougars journeyed to Morganton, North Carolina to challenge the Western Piedmont Community College basketball team; again they met defeat. WPCC's team was ahead at half-time by a score of 30 to 27, then near the end of the game when it looked as if the Cougars might have their first victory Western Piedmont came back to win by a final score of 65 to 55. Although the Cougars have been defeated in their first two games the students at Wilkes Community College are still one hundred per cent behind them and rest assured that the team will emerge victorious at the end of the season.

Mystery No Longer

The identity of the Mystery Girl is no longer a mystery! Here she is fans, Miss Shelby Hampton, a fine representative of beauty at Wilkes Community College. That long awaited moment which has been tearing at the heart strings of every male at WCC has finally arrived.

Just imagine, men, there is no longer anything to trouble your contorted little minds except the cosmic order of the universe, the problems of whether or not your grades will transfer and final exams.

Registration Procedures

Pre-registration for old students begins December 9th, and lasts through December 13. Old students will follow the following three steps. See your advisor and fill out the registration form (all three copies). Then return the four completely filled out forms to the Student Personnel office by no later than December 13, 1968. Finally complete your data card.

New students who are registering shall follow the following six steps. First take the placement tests, second, report to Room 4 to arrange schedules and complete data cards. Third, if interested, sign the proper student deferment form or the G.I. Bill in the Student Personnel Office. Next see the proper instructor to have your name placed on the roll for each class listed on your registration form. Fifth, go to Room 5 or the Business Office with the four copies of the registration form to pay fees and pick up your books. Last, remember to keep the orange registration form, it will be stamped "PAID" by the Business Office, it is your receipt.

Old students who are registering, make sure that you have pre-registered, if not report to the Student Personnel Office. If you have pre-registered, pick up your registration form in Room 4,

No One Knows

No one knows what is in the mind of another, not even when two people are as conscious of each other that they can anticipate when the other wants quiet or the comfort of the touch of her lover's hand or the feather-like kiss of his lips on her throat. Her nerves cry out for relief, only he is capable of giving that care. Only he can reassure her about the myriad worries of a lover, the constant fear that he is with another, the ever-present dread that he may find another more willing or more giving of her favors. She is jealous even of the smiles he bestows on friends. She rages when he laughs too long at a joke. She trembles when he doesn't laugh as expected. One kiss, one touch, one desire starts another. Until, the waiting will finally become unbearable and even the most reticent and uninitiated desires become knowledgable. And still, even with this knowledge, the mind of another is a mystery.

Students Lament

The time of the year has come for all of the students of Wilkes Community College to put away their mugs of Thanksgiving cheer and begin to study like heck for those final exams.

As the Cougar Cry's roving photographers were searching the hiding place of WCC's student body for typical pictures of this rare bird this snapshot was acc-
