Three WCC Students Make Who's Who

Three students at Wilkes Community College have been named to the 1968-69 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges.

The three students, selected as being among the country's most outstanding campus leaders, are Charles Wiley Johnson, Brenda Jane Mathis, and Marilyn Anita Shepard.

Charles is a sophomore majoring in Business Administration and is president of the Student Government Association. He is from West Jefferson.

Brenda is a sophomore in the college transfer division and is a member of the annual staff and the newspaper staff. She is from Hays.

Anita is a sophomore Secretarial Science major from Creston and is a member of the Student Government Association as well as the annual staff and the newspaper staff.

The three selected will join the group of students selected from more than 600 institutions in all 50 states, as well as the District of Columbia and several foreign nations in North and South America.

These students were selected on the basis of their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

WCC GETS ACTIVITY BUS

Wilkes Community College has added an activity bus to its facilities for the convenience of the students.

The bus was purchased by the Student Government Association with the intention of using it to transport students to school activities that arise away from school such as ballgames, conventions, field trips, and other outings.

The newly acquired bus, a converted school bus purchased from the Wilkes County School System, has been completely repainted inside and out by interested students who worked on the bus on Saturdays and Sundays through much of the cold weather.

Charles Johnson, president of the Student Government Association stated that the bus has been used on one trip thus far and there are hopes of using the bus for most of the away ballgames next year for which there will be a slight charge.

Tractor Engine Donated

A Ford tractor 201 engine has been presented to Wilkes Community College by Ford Motor Company's U.S. Tractor and Implement Operations.

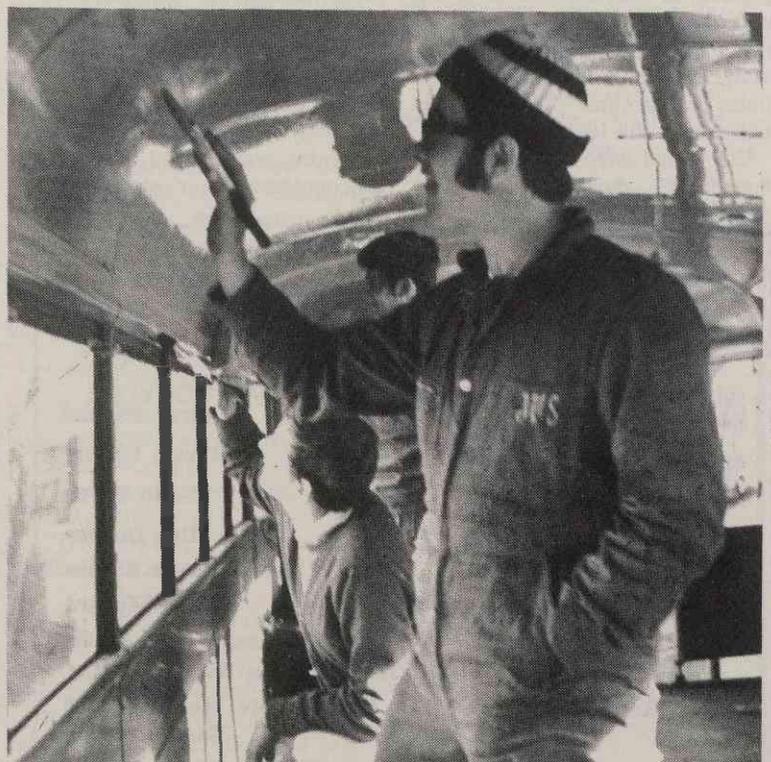

This engine is a diesel, consisting of three cylinders to be used with the complete power train as is found on an operable tractor. The power train includes an eight-speed manual-shift transmission and rear axle.

Ford Rash, head of Agriculture Equipment Technology at Wilkes Community College stated that the engine will be used to teach the principles of the internal combustion engine, the design and construction of the engine components and systems.

The donation was arranged by Blue Ridge Tractor Company of Wilkesboro and is part of the Ford program to support vocational agricultural curriculums.
