

According To Doyle

Robert Doyle

The next time you need a breath of fresh air, go to Robert Doyle's office in Daniel Hall. This reporter did that as a matter of assignment. In the interview time he graciously allotted, we discussed many subjects. He gave much insight.

It is apparent in the first few minutes of talking with Robert that no subject is a taboo subject. He encourages students who talk with him to use his friendship and confidentiality. Apparently, this approach grants him the trust of a large number of students. Certainly, this alienates him from some people, but as he says, "I don't expect everybody to like me... they will have an opinion of me — good or bad." This, too, is reason for feeling good, as this instructor seems to have a low opinion of fence-sitters.

Talking of instructional methods, Robert claims a very nontraditional platform. One would expect this, since he acquired his degree only three years ago. Robert maintains even as a child he aspired to teach and "not to be a fireman, nor a lawyer." He wanted to make a difference in other people.

Robert's nontraditional ways are not just for the sake of being nonconformist; he makes his decisions as a consideration of each separate situation. He is playmate to his fourteen-year-old son because his own father seemed aloof to him. He acts spontaneously in lecture and lab, because students of technology need to know that their foundations are the efforts of men and not gods. He offers you coffee because of your thirst. He offers you friendship because of the Golden Rule.

You should do yourself a great favor. Assume nobody's opinions. Meet Robert Doyle.

— Woody Woodside

Plight Of The Freshman

Why does this feel so much like an experience I have never experienced before? Does this question sound familiar or merely silly? You see, by stepping on this campus, you became very humble. When you graduated from high school you had all the answers and were on top of the world. This was all fine and well but the library was at the south pole! You now have become confused, befuddled, and down right frightened. The registration line is so long, that to see the end of it would take a 500 power telescope! When you hear a comment from someone about ever reaching the end of the line, you turn and reply, "does snowball's chance mean anything to you?" Tempers flare, whining abounds; it's not a pretty picture.

There is hope, you guys. You will get to the end of the line. You may have a slight graying of the hair by then, but you'll get there. Isn't it amazing how that brief summer of triumph has turned into the feeling of starting all over again? Well, let me try to clarify a few things, though it may or may not help you.

If you think this is the last time you will ever have to step into unfamiliar territory, don't kid yourself. Don't get overly dismayed; look into the past and you will begin to get the picture. Your entire life has been a series of jaunts into unfamiliar territory. Now look how far you have come! School represents a series of challenges that are perhaps unfamiliar to you. There may be some extremely difficult classes that you will be required to take. During such classes will be the time that you realize you need other people to help you along. Don't be ashamed! No one is exempt from this fact. But all you are concerned about now is making it through today. Well, if you were thinking this to yourself, you answered in a general form, of course, all your questions. Take it one day at a time! Have great dreams and wish upon the stars. Do not set limits upon your imagination. It holds the key to your future! Dream and use your imagination to get rid of your fears. The people around you now are in the same boat. You are NOT ALONE! The sophomores are facing the dilemma of graduating next spring and starting all over again. There is a certain continuity about problems and challenges we face on a year-to-year basis. Please remember to always take it ONE DAY AT A TIME. Dreams do come true, you know.

— J. Correll

Fall For This One

ACROSS
1	Autumn's falling one				5	_____ in the _____				10	Fall _____
14	Singing syllables				15	Cut bread, e.g.				16	Fall of _____
17	Singer Jacques				18	Abodes				19	Selves
20	Took part in a bee				22	Falling stars				24	Poe's over
25	Appraised				26	_____ as a peacock				29	Weapon
30	Streets				34	Get place to live				35	Gloomy _____
36	Band on a sleeve				37	Suffix for percent				38	Fall by the _____
40	General Robert E.				41	Pay attention to this				43	Conclusion
44	Vice president				45	Kind of jacket and collar				46	_____ a girl
47	_____ fall				48	Belongs to actor Bruce				50	Come together
51	Naval VIP				54	Frame for climbing vine				58	Regular attendee
59	In _____, fashionable				61	_____ Kleine Nachtmusik				62	Melville novel
63	A Peron				64	_____ upon a time				65	Before or after fall
66	First public appearance				67	Close by				6	Trudge
7	Do before firing				8	The _____ Cometh				9	Change the dials
10	Liberty				11	Trademark				12	Eros
13	Hardy heroine				21	Guided				23	_____ Haute, IN
25	Potatoes				26	It goeth before a fall				27	Lease again
28	_____one (hyph.)				29	Fall _____				31	Distribute
32	Tractor company				33	Navigate				35	Sat, e.g.
36	_____ up, make sense				38	More learned				39	_____ and outs
42	Fireplace need				44	Early ship				46	Fall _____ (2 wds.)
47	Tiny				49	Ranted				50	Humpty had a _____ fall
51	Zeus, e.g. (2 wds.)				52	Major _____				53	Cat sound
54	Ballerina outfit				55	Fall into _____				56	Early Peruvian
57	Prophet				60	Machine part
DOWN
1	Law degrees (abbr.)				2	Lawman Wyatt				3	On the leeward side
4	Radiation				5	Poe's Fall of the House of _____

Whiz Quiz

How many of these numismatic questions can you answer without looking?

1. What group of four words besides In God We trust appears on most U.S. coins?
2. What seven-letter word stands alone on U.S. coins?
3. Which presidential profiles are on the backs of these coins: a. penny? b. nickel? c. dime? d. quarter? e. half dollar?
4. All the presidential profiles on coinage face to their right except one. Which faces to his left?
5. What structure appears on the front of the penny?
6. On the front of the presidential nickel, what building is pictured?
7. Does Lincoln wear a tie on his coin?
8. Which recent coin does not have a president pictured on it?

Answers to Whiz Quiz

- 1—United States of America. 2—Anthony dollar.
- 3—The Lincoln Memorial. 4—Lincoln. 5c—Franklin Roosevelt. 3d—Washington. 3e—Kennedy. 4—Lincoln. 6—The Lincoln Memorial. 6—Monterello. 7—Yes, a bow tie. 8—Susan B.

Question of the Month

Readin', writin', and 'rithmetic are fundamental to a decent education, but isn't thinkin' equally important?

Free Tutoring Available For College Classes

Contact Dr. Barbara Holt, Director
Student Support Services,
Room 1014, Daniel Hall.
651-8753 or 651-8751

Part-Time Jobs At WCC

Job Title:

Tutor,
Student Support Services

Duties:

Tutoring curriculum students on campus

Qualifications:

Personable and dependable with proven ability in subject area

Requirements:

Completion of 8 hour training program. Available a minimum of 15 hours.

Salary:

$4.50 PER HOUR

Contact:

Dr. Barbara Holt, Director,
Student Support Services, Wilkes
Community College, Daniel Hall.
651-8753.