

MADAME MYSTIC MOON'S

August 2001

Virgo (Aug. 23- Sept. 22): NEWSFLASH!!! Cotton balls soaked in orange juice does not count as a balanced meal. The power of Twinkies and milk compels you.

Libra (Sept. 23- Oct. 22): OK that's enough! Your obsession with your goat has gone too far. You would think your little episode on the Springer show would teach you and your mom about the dangers of farm animals.

Scorpio (Oct. 23- Nov. 21): The cosmos are out to get you. So just throw the blanket back over your head and pray an asteroid does not locate your brain waves through all that tin foil on your head.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22- Dec. 21): Put your seat in an upright position and buckle up as you start your gradual descent to homelessness.

Capricorn (Dec. 22- Jan. 19): This is your month! You will make great grades without having to study. Too bad it is only for this month.

Aquarius (Jan. 20- Feb. 18): Madam Mystic says "If you hate someone, walk a mile in their shoes. Then you will be a mile away from them and you will have a new pair of shoes."

Pisces (Feb 19- Mar. 20): Distribute your responsibilities well or else you will be a beached little fishy.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Madam Mystic says, " He who throws mud at others is losing ground."

Taurus (Apr. 20- May 20): Remember you are what you eat. So eat lots of cow so you can MOOOO-VE up in the world.

Gemini (May 21- Jun. 20): My little pyromaniac's quit college and now sells Insurance for computers against water damage. Due to a invention called sprinklers you will make millions.

Cancer (Jun. 21- Jul. 23): If you like your time alone, eat more beans. It will give your social life more space.

Leo (Jul. 24- Aug. 22): Your parents are not paying for you to get an education at college. They are paying for you to find a rich sugar Mama/Daddy.

CAREER CORNER

What will be my college major? What do I want to do with my life? Do I want to change my career direction? These are questions you may have asked yourself at one time or another.

Career Planning is an on-going process. For the young and older adult population, it is important for you to assess where you are if you are to meet your needs and turn your dreams into reality. The unemployed and unskilled worker in transition with little experience in the workforce has different needs from the young adult student looking to launch a first time professional or technical career. The older adult, who has been recently affected by an employer's reorganization, faces a different set of issues. All populations can benefit from the career planning process of self-assessment, exploring career opportunities in the world of work and learning assertive job search strategies that produce results.

The Career Planning process is a continuous cycle divided into three parts. The picture below illustrates the process with a circle and three arrows.

1. Self-Assessment/Knowing Yourself

In the 1st step, we learn about our personal qualities and characteristics. In the 2nd step, we explore the world of work and assess that information with the previous step. In the 3rd step, we use the strategies to locate opportunities in the careers we have found. The process and cycle continues as we grow and develop through our lives to other occupations throughout our lifetime.

At Wilkes Community College career planning services are available to assist in making these important life decisions. Career assessments and labor market information can be obtained in the Counseling Center of the Student Services Office. Contact Cathy Annas, Career Counselor, Room 1126, for more information.
