

Miss Julia White

THE GUILFORDIAN

VOLUME II.

GUILFORD COLLEGE, N. C., OCTOBER 13, 1915.

NUMBER 4

ATHLETICS

Football.

Since the opening of the football season Guilford Football Club's prospects for a fairly strong aggregation, considering the fact that we have not had football here for at least eleven years, have been materially increased in the last few days. Several men have come out who were not on the field in the beginning of the practice and these men show up well in action. On account of the fact that there has not been a team here for so long and that the practice has not been in process long enough, it cannot be told at present who will compose the line-up in the first real game. But it is more than probable that the aggregation will be chosen from the following men: Semans, Hinkle, Jones, Lloyd, Garner, F. H. Morris, Jno. Hollowell, Wm. Hollowell, Beeson, Redding, Kiser, Walser, Worth, Short, Riddick, Masten, Mason, Royal and others who are rapidly rounding into good form by every day practice.

The first game of the season was expected to be played with Asheville Bingham on last Saturday on their own ground, but the manager of the Bingham team canceled the game late in the week. Consequently the game was not played, but rather than to be too badly disappointed the club boys met the boys in "Blue" for an exhibition game on last Saturday morning on our own field. This was the first exhibition game of the year and the boys in blue, or better known as scrubs, were very effective in preventing the first team men from having a runaway with the game. From beginning to end each team worked vehemently to out-do the other, with a final score of 12 to 0 in favor of the first team. The winning team made two touchdowns while the Blues were unable to carry the ball across the line, but at one time they seemed to be certain of a touchdown, but lost the ball by some fine work on the part of the first team.

Prof. Moore as coach and referee has been doing an invaluable work for the club.

The line-ups of the teams for Saturday's game were as follows:

First team—Walser, left end; Redding, left tackle; Lloyd, left guard; Jno. Hollowell, center; Beeson, right tackle; Garner, right guard; Kiser, right end;

(Continued on fourth page.)

COBWEB SOCIAL

A rather unique social was held at New Garden Hall Saturday evening, October 9. We have heard of following the rainbow to its end and finding a pot 'o gold; however that experience is rare. It was not a matter of following the rainbow to its end Saturday evening, but the task of extricating a red, yellow, blue or green thread from the entangled mass which formed a cobweb in the center of the hall.

As each boy and girl who had not made previous arrangements were gaping wonderingly at this cobweb, they were given one end of a thread and bidden to seek their fates by finding the other end. It would be difficult to trace the destiny of each one, but with the exception of a few strings tied to chairs, posts, or tables, the boys found girls winding threads in their directions and vice-versa.

After the cobweb had served its purpose the crowd assembled in the dining hall to play games. Poor pussy cat proved very amusing. Heart-rending meows of midnight terror made us believe that if every dog has his day the cat has his night—and especially that particular one.

Ten o'clock came too soon and the pussy-cats and all other animals with or without ears were chased away amid peals of laughter and happy assurances of a good time.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

Rains have greatly interfered with our plans for the past two weeks, but we are yet hoping to have our picnic at the Battle Ground some time soon.

We were glad to notice an unusually good attendance at prayer meeting this week. Callie Lewis led the meeting. Her subject was: "Where Only the Best is Good Enough." She very forcibly brought out the following points: If we wish to develop the best that lies within us we must give our best to our classmates, to our associates and to our teachers. Slighting our work and displaying a bad humor is not giving to others our best.

Above all we must give our best to God. It is not necessary to wait for the big things to come to

KARL LEHMAN HERE SUNDAY

Sunday morning, October 10, Karl Lehman, International Field Secretary of the Christian Endeavor, talked to us. His subject was, "Conservation of Natural Resources." As a starting point he told how every drop of water that falls in the West is stored up until needed and then by irrigation is used at exactly the right time. "The Lord does not do for us things we can do for ourselves. Fifty years ago unless a man had gray hair, or no hair, he was not allowed to speak in church. To conserve the natural resource the church has, the young people must be trained and set to work. We must teach the young people to use their brains and tongue for the Lord. There are some few who think that young people should be seen, and not heard. It is mighty hard to teach an old dog new tricks. The various committees of the Christian Endeavor give every one something to do, and an opportunity for service. When I joined the Christian Endeavor I could do nothing but grin and shake hands, so I was put on the social committee. The natural resource is conserved by training in a definite obligation and loyalty to Jesus Christ.

A certain man upon being asked about missions answered thus: Missions is a peculiar disease; it starts in the head and works down. The head thinks about it, the ears hear about it, the mouth speaks about it, the heart feels it, the pocket book gives to it, and the feet want to go work for it. And so it is with the Christian Endeavor. The Christian Endeavor has brought to youth the conception that if we are to be Christians we must get into the soul winning game. It is the energetic, enthusiastic young life that is in demand, and during each college year do enough work so that when you return to your own home community your work and influence will be felt.

put forth our best efforts. In doing well the little every day tasks we are doing service for God.

In conclusion the leader said, "Let us live in such a way that at the end we may say with Paul 'I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith.'"

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Our meeting last week was led by Prof. John B. Woosley. As a basis for his remarks he read some selections from the New Testament. These readings dealt with the idea of right living. Hence the speaker made that his theme.

In the outset Mr. Woosley declared that too much emphasis had been placed upon the emotional part of religion. "Singing, preaching and praying are all right," said the speaker, "but they are not all of a Christian's life. There is something more fundamental and that is one's personal life." The fact that religion is concerned with right action and not so much with creed and forms is what the speaker dwelt on.

Making his remarks more direct he touched on honesty. He maintained that no student body should allow a thief or a dishonest person to remain in its midst. In closing he said: "Let us create such an atmosphere here that one can not be dishonest and remain. Make him be honest or get out." We are very sorry that the inclement weather prohibited so many of our fellows from attending this meeting.

Mr. C. R. Hinshaw was leader this week. To introduce his subject he read a part of the story of Joseph. His theme was Destiny. "Behind destiny is character; behind character is habit; behind habit is choice; behind choice is dream or vision," is the way Mr. Hinshaw began. He emphasized the fact that in order to do or to be anything worth while one must have a right kind of vision and one must follow that vision. In order to prove his contentions the speaker mentioned a host of characters both in history and literature. He handled his theme in a creditable manner and every one appreciated his remarks. A fairly good crowd was present.

CALENDAR.

Thursday: 6.30, prayer meeting.
Friday: 7.30, Literary societies.
Saturday: 8.00, lecture, Dr. J. J. Hall.

Sunday: Religious services, Dr. Hall.

Monday: 6.30, chorus practice.
Tuesday: 6.30, Junior class meeting.

Wednesday: 6.30, Sophomore class meeting.