BASKET-BALL.

The two class basket-ball games played have brought out more spirit than many of the college games played last year. Every body was yelling or singing during the entire game. There is certainly an abundance of class spirit here.

All this is commendable and we want to see more of it. It is our duty to support our class team, but let us remember when the college games begin that it is still more our duty to support our college team. We have the players who can and will play basket-ball.
 Begin to support them now, by learning yells and songs, for the students can and should help win the games.

THE QUAKER.

We can now say definitely that the classes of '16 and '17 will put out an annual this year. The Junior and Senior classes are cooperating in this and The Quaker will be put out by the joint classes.

A business manager and an editor-in-chief have been elected from each class and are now busy considering the propositions of various companies. No contract has yet been signed but this will be done soon and real work will begin.

It would be possible for either of these two classes to put out an annual, but with the two co-operating a good volume of The Quaker is assured. A good annual will speak well for the college and the student body. Everybody boost it.

PROF. W. C. SMITH AT GUILFORD.

We were very fortunate to have Prof. W. C. Smith, of the State Normal, with us Saturday night December 4. Prof. Smith lectured on the subject, "Why Study the Bible."

"The Bible is a book of absorbing interest, and does not confine itself to members of the church.
 It is a practical book subjecting every one to the question, 'What can I do?' The Bible is our unmatched standard of literary excellence. From Caedman to Kipling, its perpetual use has made it the standard of our language.
 President Wilson says, 'I am sorry for the man who does not read his Bible every day.' Why will men deprive themselves of this privilege? The study of the Bible elevates the moral character and lightens the heart. We should study the Bible because we have the direct testimony of men who know that it will give dignity and nobleness. The past year there was more Bibles sold than any one hundred other books combined.
 The Bible is essential to education, and no man can be passably well informed who is ignorant of it. Almost all of our common expressions are taken from the Bible. Whether looked at from the point of art, literature, or daily speech a knowledge of the Bible is considered a part of every liberal education."

W. R. FUTRELL WILL BE HERE
SATURDAY NIGHT.

On next Saturday evening at 7:30, W. R. Futrell will give a humorous entertainment. The program will consist of selections from John Charles McNeil, "Uncle Remus" and others. He will give us a chance to listen to an hour and a half of real fun, so let's all go and enjoy it together.

The entertainment is under the auspices of the Athletic Association.
