EDITORIAL.

WHO?

The question was recently asked by a professor, "What has become of the pictures which the Dramatic Club had hung in the English room?" The answer was that no one seemed to know, but that they were thought to be in some student's room.

The pictures referred to were scenes from Macbeth and Hamlet as presented by the Dramatic Club in 1913 and 1914. The Dramatic Club paid for having these pictures framed and the English professor as coach thought it fitting that they should be hung in his class room.

Now the question is, Who has these pictures? They certainly are not the property of any individual and we hope to see them returned at once to their accustomed places.

With the publication of this issue of The Guilfordian the present board completes its work and retires in favor of the new board which will have charge of the next issue.

In this my last editorial I wish to express my appreciation of the prompt manner in which the members have performed their tasks. I want to thank each and every member of the board; all other persons who have contributed to our columns and for their interest in the improvement of the publication.

The board wishes to acknowledge its indebtedness to Miss Papworth for the splendid articles which she has written for our paper—articles both of literary and educational merit. This we appreciate all the more because it has been done solely for the good of our paper as Miss Papworth is neither a member of the board nor does she receive credit for the articles by permitting her name to be signed to them.

Finally, we wish for the incoming board the greatest possible success and we leave The Guilfordian in their hands feeling sure that they will make it a better publication than we have.

FRESHMAN CONTEST.

The annual Freshman declamation contest was held in Memorial Hall April 20, Prof. W. E. Moore presiding with Robert H. Frazier. The program was rendered as follows:

1. A North Carolina Poet and Saddlebags of Gold—Joseph White.
2. The Opportunities of the Scholar—Harry Johnson.
3. Rabbits and Other Eggs—Etta Sullivan.
4. Higher Ideals as a Remedy for Public Abuses—Chester Sutton.
5. The Duty of the South to the Country Boy—Wade Hussey.
6. The American Union—John White.
7. The New South—Ruth Coltrane.
8. Higher Culture in Dixie—Solo—Pauline White.

Judges—Prof. Geiser, Prof. Peele, Miss Osborne.

The eight speakers acquitted themselves admirably. The prize, a gold medal, went to the seventh speaker, Miss Ruth Coltrane.

Miss Myrtle Pitts visited Miss Etta Sullivan Sunday afternoon.
