

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

The president of the Girls' Athletic Association has chosen the following girls as managers for the different departments: Addie Morris as basketball manager; Ellen Raiford, tennis; Dorothy Faucette, assistant tennis manager; Maude Lassiter, track manager. Each of these girls is busying herself in planning some special feature in her line of work.

The basketball manager is planning for class games later on in the season. A great many of the new girls are basketball players, and with the aid of the college coach, the Guilford girls are expecting to have a splendid team. Numerals will be given those who conform to the restrictions.

A field day is being planned. Potatoes races, obstacle races, tennis and basketball will be the features of the day.

With the co-operation of the girls we hope and expect to have a year of better athletics than the Guilford girls have ever known.

WEBSTERIANS ELECT OFFICERS.

On Friday night, the 6th, the Websterian Literary Society held its regular meeting. President Beeson opened the meeting in the usual manner, after which Ralph Yow was appointed critic and the judges were chosen.

Messrs. Robert Frazier and R. A. Lineberry argued the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, that co-educational colleges are more beneficial than non-co-educational," while Messrs. Clarence Macon and Dewey Dorsett upheld the negative. Mr. D. S. Cameron completed the literary program with a very creditable oration on the South. The decision of the judges was in favor of the affirmative.

Interesting talks were given by the visitors in commendation of the program and the society in general.

This was the regular meeting for the election of officers. The following were elected: A. Jones Smith, president; Dalton J. Smith, vice-president; Robert H. Frazier, secretary; Lindley Tremain, assistant secretary, and Charles R. Carroll, marshal.

The critic rendered a very helpful and instructive report, after which the Society adjourned.

GUILFORD LOSES TO THE BAPTISTS.

ling dummy in training season and also to the fact that the squad had never been pitted against any men of unusual size. With special training in low and hard tackling, the team should be able to play a better defensive game.

Another weakness was made patent in the game with Wake Forest, namely, lack of effective interference. Armstrong and Jonas each got away with several fair gains, despite this defect, and with special drill in this department of the game they should become good ground-gainers. These are, of course, just those defects which are expected to appear in an inexperienced team but which should be remedied by some special work during the next few weeks. With better tackling and interference, the Quaker club will be able to play a much stronger game offensively and defensively. Line-up:

Wake Forest Position Guilford
Olive L. T. Kiser
Harris L. E. Stafford
Coble L. G. Lloyd
Blankenship ... C. Garner

POLITICAL SPIRIT ON CAMPUS.

During the past week much interest in politics has been exhibited on the campus. Hughes buttons are displayed on quite a number of coat lapels, while others avow themselves Wilson men. Organized yelling for Hughes, Linney and Grissom is heard on one side, while Wilson and Bickett are similarly supported by others. It is probable that both Republican and Democratic clubs will be organized within the next week.

Don't forget the Y. W. C. A. picnic next Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Craver and Mr. and Mrs. Gennings visited Miss Thelma Gennings Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gurney Briggs were at the college Friday afternoon.
