

WEBSTERIANS ELECT OFFICERS

The Websterian Literary Society was called to order Friday night by President Hinshaw. The election of officers took place and the following men were chosen: President, D. E. Smith; vice-president, R. J. Yow; secretary, D. S. Cameron; assistant secretary, J. D. Dorsett; marshal, R. A. Lineberry.

An excellent literary program followed. Robert H. Frazier was appointed critic. Both sides of the ship subsidy question were well argued. Messrs. J. D. Dorsett, O. Zachery and J. H. Beeson advanced strong argument for the affirmative showing the need of an American merchant marine and explaining that ship subsidies were democratic and had been proven practical and beneficial.

Messrs. H. N. Williard, T. N. Williard and C. L. Finch upheld the negative. They very effectively argued the uselessness of subsidies in building our merchant marine. The dangers and failures of such plans were well pictured. Every man on both sides of this interesting question did his part well and the entire program was a success. A two to one decision was rendered in favor of the affirmative.

Several visitors were present and all joined in commending the Websterian Society and encouraging it to still greater work. Mr. A. L. Riddick, of '16 gave an excellent talk on the "Web Spirit." After the critic's report the Society adjourned.

responsible, so she has planned in order to make it easy for the next cabinet to take up the work.

She has succeeded in doing this with the hearty support of her co-workers, Misses Speas, Shamburger and Lassiter.

Miss Speas, by her tactful method of presenting the Association work to the prospective members, has succeeded in bringing every girl into captive membership.

As treasurer of the Association, Miss Shamburger has shown great executive ability and has handled the funds in an efficient manner. She has opened up a Y. W. store both in New Garden and Founders. These have proved profitable, bringing in a nice little sum to the treasury.

Miss Lassiter has been a bulwark of strength to the president, supporting her in all her endeavors and undertakings.

All the officers by their faithful work and untiring efforts have brot to bear an influence which has led to the upbuilding and development of the Association.

UNCLE MUNN'S CORNER.

You'll never know till off you go from the campus bright and green that treasures there are rich and rare as found on any scene. You sport and play from day to day all heedless of the gold that college life with petty strife will some day cease to hold. You'll miss a friend when you've found the end of classwork's toil and care, but there will remain a sweet refrain to cheer you everywhere. So learn the art before you part of testing friendship's worth and you'll have the key wherever you be to the thirsting men of earth.

PHILOMATHEAN NOTES.

For some time Philomatheans have kept their extemporaneous talent hidden in a napkin; however at the last meeting, when the first number on the program was announced as a love song by Deborah Brown, every girl sat up, listened, and found that this talent had not grown rusty with idleness. Then followed an extensive discussion of the creation of the world and subsequent events by Mary Ina Shamburger. This ended the extemporaneous part of the program except the last number, which was an instrumental solo by Thelma Cloud.

The debate for the evening was: Resolved, That the United States should subsidize its merchant marine. The affirmative side of the question was upheld by Gladys Faircloth and Carrie Wakefield. In the absence of the speakers for the negative, Gertrude Hobbs and Elsie Clegg read their speeches which, with a short rebuttal swayed the minds of the judges.

The next number on the program was an interesting discussion of the Leak by Addie Morris. To the majority of the members her remarks were by no means a repetition of something already known.

After some encouraging remarks from Mrs. Bird, a visitor, the Society listened to a constructive critic's report and adjourned.
