Wednesday, 7.00: Literary Club meets.

Thursday, 6.30: Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. meetings.

Friday, 7.00: Literary Societies meet.

Saturday, 3.00: Baseball, Guilford vs. Wake Forest at Greensboro.

Monday, 3.00: Baseball, Charlotte League at Charlotte.

Tuesday, 4.00: Baseball, Trinity at Guilford.

Tuesday, 6.30: Junior class meeting.

In view of the fact that the Easter holidays are due to arrive at this week's end, the Guilfordian announces that publication of the next number will be postponed a week. A number of the boys and girls will be off the hill while others will linger around under the pretense of arranging tennis games which are rarely, if ever, actually played. Whatever be the plans, we wish for our friends and readers the best of luck in selecting from the amusements which circumstances may chance to offer.

Now that the track managers have succeeded in arranging a triangular meet with Davidson and Elon, it is high time some real ginger was being manifested by the men who dream of the halo that surrounds a seat on the contestant's bench. Some systematic effort backed by the entire student body will be necessary to swell our coffers with trophies of the jack rabbit art. In all probability another meet will be arranged with Elon and if the men avail themselves of the practice afforded them, there is no reason why Guilford should not be nobly represented at the annual track meet which is to be held at the University. Let's all get behind this team with the same ardor and anticipation that has characterized the Quaker's winning teams. Every man who is eligible and capable should go out for thorough and regular practice instead of taking cross country runs every fourth day in the hope of being able to star in the hundred yard dash. The grounds are in good shape and the coach is boiling over with instructions. Get on the job and be ready when the show down comes.

Prof. Balderston Leads Y. M. C. A.

At the last meeting of the Y. M. C. A., Prof. Balderston discussed in an interesting and searching manner the motives of some people who do not wish to appear religious. He showed that the fear of hypocrisy was in many cases ungrounded and that some who make great efforts not to be hypocrites by these very efforts sometimes become greater hypocrites than ever.

Y. W. C. A. CLOSES*SUCCESSFUL YEAR

report of her year's work. Then while "Blest be the Tie That Binds" was being sung softly, the members of the old and new cabinets formed a semi-circle around the table. Then the retiring president, Hazel Graham Armstrong, read a comprehensive epitome of the past year in Association work, summarizing the efforts of the various departments and also touching upon our representation at Blue Ridge and at the Volunteer Conference in Greensboro. And to the new officers, she showed new visions of service, new opportunities of helpfulness, a broader outlook into Association fields. Then to the President-elect, Bernice Pike, she outlined the duties and obligations of her office, holding in her hand a lighted candle from which she ignited the candle of her successor, enjoining her to carry on the work in the name and by the help of Him who is the Light of the World.

After a few appropriate remarks from Miss Pike, the other senior officers, Ethel Speas, vice-president; Maude Lassiter, Secretary, and Mary Ina Shamburger, Treasurer, gave to their successors a glimpse of the work of their respective offices, and presented lovely jonquils, in token of their installation, to Ellen Raiford, Vice-President, Deborah Brown Secretary, and Addie Morris, Treasurer—all members of the present Junior class. Then Oma Grey, the retiring chairman of the social committee, delivered her insignia of office with much good advice to her successor Totten Moton and thus a signally successful year came to a close.

The following girls, besides the officers named, compose the cabinet for the coming year: Ruth Coltrane, chairman mission study committee; Beatrice Lewallen, Bible study; Totten Moton, social committee; Ellen Raiford, religious meetings, and Deborah Brown, Association news.
