

The Guilfordian

VOLUME III

GUILFORD COLLEGE, N. C., MAY 2, 1917.

NUMBER 28

GUILFORD CLAIMS STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

Perfect Record Makes Other College
Records Dim by Comparison.

The baseball season has been brought to an end somewhat abruptly by the cancellation, on the part of the rival colleges, of the larger number of the scheduled games.

Guilford has combatted nine clubs for honors, each time emerging from the fray with a wreath of laurels. She has contested the strongest teams in the State—A. & E., Wake Forest and Trinity, and was and is willing to pit herself against the other college nines. Davidson and the University of North Carolina called off their games, and for this reason the Crimson and Gray has not battled with these colleges.

Nine games without a defeat! So the god of fandom of the National sport has decreed? This is a record to be envied by any club. Not only bringing into submission the college teams, against which she has gone up, Guilford humbled the "Twin City" leaguers by the score of 5 to 2.

Since this record can not be surpassed or even equalled by any college in the State Guilford should and does stand as the unchallenged champions of the State. If any college in North Carolina denies this fact, the Guilford team stands ready to play any challenged games for the State championship in baseball.

At the beginning of the season the outlook for a strong team was not doubted, but only as time has advanced has the fact been substantiated, that Guilford has amassed the fastest aggregation of the pastime she has possessed in many years. Had not the fate of war interrupted the schedule, no doubt the Crimson and Gray would have given even better exhibitions of her prowess.

The close of the season saw Captain Garner, a man who has contributed more to baseball than any other man, play his last college game. The entire club has played the very classiest sort of ball, and has hit the "pill" very well considering the fact that all the games which have been played were staged before the weather permitted much practice. Murchison leads in batting with an average of .545. Marlette follows with a .343 average. The average of the entire team is .201.

The batting of the entire club is as follows:

Murchison, p.454
Marlette, s.s.343
Newlin, 3b.310
Massey, cf.285
Duncan, 1.f.285
Zachary, p.214
Garner, r.f.193
McPherson, 1.f.143
Reddick, 1b.129
Armstrong, 2b.125
Finch, p.125
Ballinger, c.000
Westmoreland, c.000

LISTEN TO YOUR INNER SELF

Professor Partington Advises Y. M. C. A.

"Be a man and obey that impulse to do what is right" was the keynote of Professor Partington's earnest appeal to the young men on Thursday night.

Commencing his talk with a brief description of Jesus' courage and manhood before the Jews and Pilate and contrasting this with the failure of Pilate to dare the disapproval of the mob and obey his impulse to do right, Prof. Partington followed up with numerous illustrations which served to drive home more forcibly the principles of Christian life.

"Is Pilate dead?" he asked, and then went on to answer this by saying that we all have our moments of indecision when right and wrong struggle together and sometimes wrong triumphed. If our wrong-doing and selfishness however only affected ourselves it would not be so serious, but our lives are so bound up with others that such is impossible.

He touched upon a problem which is now being presented daily to every young American. The question as to whether one's duty was first to his country or to those who are dependent upon him.

"In the present crises let each man do what he thinks best for himself," he said.

"Men come by thousands to offer their lives for their country, while only a few offer themselves for Christ," he continued and then proceeded to make a few comparisons of the number of English soldiers now going to the trenches with the number that went to the foreign field before war was declared.

For the last few meetings the boys have been congregating around the organ immediately after the meeting and singing some of the popular Blue Ridge Conference songs. Mr. Bergetholdt, of the State Y. M. C. A. has also promised to send us some slide pictures showing Blue Ridge scenes. These will be shown at the first meeting after they arrive.

The Y. M. C. A. Cabinet Entertains in Honor of the Visiting Y. W. President.

In order that the visiting Y. W. C. A. presidents and secretaries might meet the Y. M. C. A. cabinet, an informal reception was given on the campus Saturday afternoon from 4 to 5.30, the local Y. W. C. A. cabinet also being present.

The Y. M. cabinet proved to be very entertaining and congenial hosts, and in a very interesting manner showed the visitors over the campus. As a refreshment, punch was served.

Y. W. C. A. PRESIDENTS' COUNCIL MEETS

Delegates From Several Girls' Colleges Entertain Here.

On Friday afternoon, April 28th, the Guilford Y. W. C. A. girls were all hurry and excitement. Just before each train two or three could be seen clambering into a car which hurried to the station, and when it returned there could be distinguished some unfamiliar faces. Then one heard murmured the word—"delegates." Then when asked what the delegates were coming to, immediately there came the answer—Presidents' Council. And thruout all the buzzing one heard the names of Miss Flenniken and Miss Young most of all, they being two of the Student Secretaries of the South Atlantic Field, who were here to train the Y. W. C. A. Presidents of the colleges represented.

The first service was held Friday evening at 7:30. Miss Flenniken presided using the first few minutes for intercession in which she spoke on "Our Scale of Values." Then there followed a get together time, and everybody found out who everybody else was. After a short explanation of the programs for ensuing meetings the council adjourned.

Saturday morning Miss Young gave the girls a splendid talk on ideals in personal living. Space will not permit that we mention all the good things which were said during this meeting, but Miss Young's heart-to-heart talk centered mostly around this main thought "what you think is what you are." She said, "Let me know what you think when alone with your conscience and I will tell you what you are." Miss Young also reminded us that it is, after all, the things we laugh at which betray our standards. No really Christian girl can enjoy an unrefined joke or a witticism which may cause another pain.

Miss Flenniken then took up the question of cabinet and committee policies, enumerating the principles which a thoroly efficient policy should contain.

Saturday afternoon the topic for discussion was Ideals in Relationship. This was lead by Miss Young. She said that one cannot possibly be Christian in one's thinking if one confines one's thinking to oneself. A follower of the Master has also infinite respect for the personality of another.

The speaker touched on the real meaning of friendship and advised every girl present to read Miss Bertha Caude's book, "The Business of Being a Friend." Miss Flenniken here took charge of the meeting pointing out the ways in which the Y. W. C. A. may be made a vital force on the college campus. Following this, Miss Young in a few well chosen remarks pointed out the

(Continued on page four)

SUNDAY SERVICES

Conducted by Dr. Howard E. Rondthaler.

One of the best services of the President's council was the 11 o'clock service Sunday. The theme of Dr. Rondthaler's sermon was taken from Matthew's version of the Master's mission, which is, "He came not to be ministered unto, but to minister."

By repeated illustrations Dr. Rondthaler showed that Christ came to serve and that his followers in their desire for their own efficiency forget that He is waiting to serve them.

From the very first the speaker emphasized how easy it has always been for Christians to be confused by the paradoxes in the life and teachings of Jesus. The crown of thorns and robe of mockery are illustrations of this.

In conclusion Dr. Rondthaler said that the highest mission of Christ is not as a friend and companion but that this leads to that greater one of a Savior triumphant over death and eternal in the resurrection.

DR. BABB ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Dr. Maurice J. Babb, of the mathematics department of the University of Pennsylvania, gave an interesting chapel talk last Monday morning on mathematics. He discussed some of the least known phases of the history of that subject and illustrated some of the peculiar methods of multiplication used by the Roumanians and Russians. He also outlined the most famous unsolved mathematical problems. Dr. Babb, during a leave of absence from the University, is taking an automobile trip thru the South and was a visitor at the college for several days.

ZATASIAN SOCIETY NOTES.

Last Friday evening the Zatasians were honored with a very interesting program. The first number was a recitation by Euna Seal, after which Sara Goldo rendered very beautifully Mazurca by Chopin. The next number was a reading by Alma Chilton; then Vera McBane conducted an interesting contest, the questions of which were to be answered with the name of a cloth.

Under miscellaneous business, Bernice Pike, Gertrude Cronk and Susan Gentry were elected as members of the Guilfordian board for the coming school year.

A very good critic's report was given by Isabel Goldo.