Prof. Balderston Inspires Young Men
With a Vision of the Work to Be Done.

The opportunities for building a broad and ample foundation during one's college life for the future, were graphically presented by Professor Balderston in the Thursday evening meeting. Reading first the parable of the sower and the seed, the leader then went on to outline the college careers of four young men who entered together. He showed how one of these young men entered school to find knowledge and found it. He knew only the inside of his books for four years. He graduated with high marks and went out into the world with his mind crammed with the information to be gained from books, but no friendships formed no fitting preparation for life made.

The second entered school to find pleasure. Having the means as well as a bluff hearty manner this was not hard for him to do. He finished after a manner, but yet his closest friends knew that he was shallow and at times ungentlemanly.

The third entered school to build a character—a noble ambition if carried out right. He thought however that a long, pious face was necessary for a Christian character, so he wore one. A long black coat also he thought added dignity to his character, so he wore one of those too. He never did any particular harm neither did he do any good. A character, after a fashion he built, but who would want such a character?

The last man entered school without any particular desire for publicity in any one thing, but with a determination to do all things well. By doing the tasks that were daily set before him and by acting with the true manhood that wins the admiration of all he gained the goals that the others had striven for, but without the handicaps they had brought upon themselves.

Professor Balderston closed the meeting with a selected reading from Rabindranath Tagore, which drove home the thought more firmly.

NEW DEPARTMENT OF DOMESTIC SCIENCE SUCCESSFULLY INAUGURATED.

The new department of Domestic Science opened with a large enrollment. Double sections of all the classes have had to be formed in order to accommodate the applicants.

The laboratory is thoroughly modern and up-to-date. Equipment has been provided for work in cookery, and for various phases of house work, including laundry, home nursing and simple lessons in sewing.

The equipment in the cookery laboratory includes the work table with individual desks, the supply table, sink, stoves, refrigerator and cupboards for cooking utensils as well as for groceries. China has been provided sufficient to serve six guests, and linen and silver will be supplied.

All the equipment is the best that could be procured. With this beginning there is no reason why this department should not grow to be one of the best and strongest in the State.

HELP OTHERS SAYS

MRS. LINDLEY

Christ says 'I have no other way—in that case others will fail to hear.' Mrs. Lindley then closed with this poem:

Lord help me live from day to day
In such a self-forgetful way,
That even when I kneel to pray
My prayer may be for others.

Help me in all the work I do
To ever be sincere, and true,
And know that all I'll do for you,
Must needs be done for others.

Let self be sacrificed and slain
And buried deep and all in vain
May efforts be to rise again
Unless to live for others.

And when my work on earth is done
And my new work in Heaven's begun
May I forget the crown I've won
In thinking then of others.

Others, Lord, yes others,
Let this my motto be,
Help me to live for others
That I may live for thee.

Miss Mary Ina Shamburger, '17, spent a few days with friends here at the opening of the school year.
