

ALUMNI NOTES.

C. C. Smithdeal, '11, is now in the medical corps of the army and is at present taking a special course in X-Ray work. He is stationed at Cornell Medical College, New York City, which is his mail address. He will later be sent to some field or base hospital unit, and expects to be in France within four or five months. Mr. Smithdeal was manager of the Guilfordian for three years while at college, and also got out the first volume of the "Quaker."

D. H. Couch, '05, has changed his address from Perth Amboy, N. J. to Tottenville, Staten Island, New York.

Troy Short, '17, is now stationed at Petersburg, Virginia. His address is 809 West High street.

Ida Millis, who has spent the winter at her home at the college, has been for a few weeks supply teacher in the Jamestown High School.

Helen East has been teaching this year at Dowagiac, Michigan. Her mail address is 402 Michigan Ave.

Agnes King is at her home at Glen Flora, Texas. She is giving her time and energy to Red Cross and other war relief work this year.

Ed. Carroll, '17, and Roger Kiser, who would have been a member of this year's class, have just completed their training at the Officers' Training Camp at Camp Jackson and are spending their leave of twenty days in North Carolina. They hope to get their commissions soon.

Rhesa Newlin, '17, has just finished a very successful year as teacher of mathematics at China Grove High School.

FOOD CONSERVATION DISCUSSED AT SCIENCE CLUB

The regular meeting of the Joseph Moore Science Club held on April 17 was in charge of the Domestic Science class.

Miss Noles explained the course in food conservation which the Domestic Science department is giving and laid stress on the importance of such a course. "Mr. Hoover," she said, "is depending on the schools and colleges as leaders in the movement to conserve food. It is thru them that the homes can be reached."

After these introductory remarks, members of the class discussed the following topics:

1. The world's food situation (a) before the war; (b) changes brought about by war.
2. Need for some kind of food control.
3. What the various countries are doing to meet a food situation (a) Great Britain; (b) France; (c) Italy (d) Switzerland; (e) Germany; (f) United States.
4. United States food administration: (a) creation; (b) organization; (c) accomplishments.

An exhibit which had previously been worked out as a class problem showed the daily allowance of rations per capita in those countries that have a compulsory ration and the suggested allowance in the United States.

The Home of Good Shoes

THE MAKING OF A MAN.

After Secretary of State Lansing's memorable address in an Association meeting at Madison Barracks, which was sent 'round the world, because he stated why America is in the war, Camp Secretary Lansdale received this letter:

On my recent visit to Madison Barracks, when I had the privilege of addressing the student officers in the Y. M. C. A. building, opportunity was not given me to express to you my admiration for the splendid work which is being done by your Association in behalf of the fine young fellows who have been training for the past four months at the camp.

It has been a wonderful opportunity for the Young Men's Christian Association—an opportunity which I rejoice was seized and turned to the best account. From many of the students I have heard words of grateful appreciation of the service which has been rendered them, and I know that the moral and religious influences which have been exerted have made the life of the camp cleaner and better.

Christian manliness, or manly Christianity (which ever you prefer) has found a full expression in your work and I am sure that it has made a deep impression on hundreds of the young officers whose spiritual as well as physical vigor will soon be put to the supreme test. A clean heart as well as strong heart is essential to the high character which ought to be the ambition of every American soldier. Loyalty to God and loyalty to country make a man.

What you have already accomplished I confidently hope is but a forerunner of what you will accomplish when hundreds of thousands of young Americans prepare to defend with their lives their country and the cause of human liberty.
