

ALUMNI.

T. Gilbert Pearson, '97, secretary of the National Association of Audubon Societies, is chairman of the National Committee on the Roosevelt Memorial Fountain, a committee which has been formed to aid in the collection of funds and in the erection ultimately of a fountain in some appropriate spot in New York City to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt. This is a fitting tribute to a great lover of nature and any who wish to have a part in it may send contributions to Dr. Jonathan Dwight, Treasurer, 1974 Broadway, New York City, or to T. Gilbert Pearson, same address.

Joe Blair, '97, of Albany, Alabama, recently paid a short visit to his sister, Catharine Campbell, who is a student in the college.

Miss Agnes King, '09, of Glen Flora, Texas, was married in December at her home at Wharton, Texas to Rev. W. E. Hassler, who is pastor of a church in China, Texas. The Guilfordian extends congratulations.

Ira Hinshaw, '18, has his discharge from Camp Sevier and has accepted a position with the Bureau of War Insurance Risk, Department of the Treasury, Washington, D. C. He spent this week end at the college.

THE WORK OF FRIENDS

AT VERDUN

Secondly the Friends have upheld a great ideal. Had Quakers surrendered because of the pressure of public opinion, the outlook would indeed be dark. As the cause of slavery and prohibition would never have triumphed unless an unpopular minority had held to the ideal when the world was "not ready for it," so faith that life be swayed by love and generosity will never sway the masses, unless the Quaker minority hold fast to their ideals.

Having emphasized the fact that loyalty to our spiritual ideals is the greatest service Friends can render, William Harvey spoke briefly of the new opportunities for work in France.

During their stay in France our Quaker boys have worked with the civilian population. Hundreds of families were assisted during the periods of evacuation. Household furniture, cripples, and babies were saved at such times.

Much has been done in medical work. Maternity hospitals have been maintained. Six hundred little children are cared for in one place alone. In one hospital are five hundred insane and crippled. Dr. Babbit has performed one thousand surgical operations.

In building and in agriculture the unit has done much. Two hundred portable houses have been built. One thousand tons of grain have been threshed. Machines have been reclaimed from junk heaps, 180 mowing machines, as well as many ploughs, have been used much by our boys.

In the future greater opportunities will be ours. To reclaim the land near Verdun, to rebuild 41 villages, and to care for 2,500 families for whose maintenance $750,000 will be needed—these are some of our opportunities.

For these calls we must dedicate anew our young men and our financial resources. Now when sacrifice is commonplace, we would be failures indeed if our religious principles do not drive us to this material expression of good will.
