GUILFORD COLLEGE, N. C., APRIL 21, 1920

NUMBER 25

Guilford Bested By Wake Forest By Score of 9-6

On Tuesday afternoon, April 15th, Hobbs field was the scene of one of the fastest baseball games played here this year. The game was interesting from the time Umpire McBane called "Play Ball," until the last man was out in spite of the number of runs made. Practically the entire student body and the faculty were present and were a source of inspiration to the players. There was a number of past timers from the community present and their influence was certainly no handicap to the teams.

Twice during the game the score was tied. A hit batsman, a wild throw and a couple of errors helped to build up the tally sheet for the Baptists.

In the second frame Guilford took the lead, scoring five runs and driving young Griffin from the box. He was succeeded by Austin, a portsider, who was able to hold the Quakers scoreless for a while.

The first run for Wake Forest came in the sixth frame, Jeannette walked, went to second on what would have been an easy double had it not been for a wild throw by the pitcher to second base. Ragsdale bunted and was safe at first, Shore failing in the attempt to get Jeannette at third. Dunan came up with the bases filled and smashed out a two bagger to extreme left center and three men tallied. He scored a moment later on Johnson's single.

In the seventh Guilford staged a rally and scored two runs, Marlette bringing them in with a long drive over the left fielder's head.

Wake Forest came back in the eighth with the aid of a trio of passes an infield hit and an error at first, scored four runs, a lead which the Quakers could not overcome.

The batteries for Guilford: H. Shore, B. Shore, C. Shore and Stanfield. For Wake Forest: Griffin, Austin and Boylan.

HIGH SCHOOL DECLAMATION CONTEST

Eleven favorable responses have been received to the invitations sent out by the four literary societies to high schools in this state to take part in the ninth declamation contest to be held in Memorial hall on the evening of the 24th of April, the preliminary contest being conducted at nine o'clock in the morning, the final one at seven thirty. Following the exercises in the evening, a reception will be given in Founders hall to all representatives present.

GREENSBORO HIGHS TAKE TRACK-MEET FROM HIGH POINT ON COLLEGE TRACKS

On Saturday President Cameron of the College A. A. staged a dual track meet in Hobbs field between the High schools of Guilford county's rival cities. High Point has several individual stars but Greensboro's well balanced team easily won the meet.

Students' Recital

On Tuesday evening, April 13, a recital was given in Memorial hall by the music students. Misses Annie Marshal, Hazel Richardson and Ruth Pearson first gave a trio, "Barcarolle," which was very much enjoyed. This was followed by a very charming little piece, "The Butterfly," by Eva Lewallen, after which Miss Grace Stone, in the manner to which she is accustomed, and which all enjoy, played "The Fountain." Worthy of special mention was "Grande Valse Caprice," by Miss Mildred Patterson, also "Told at Twilight," by Miss Naomi Tomlinson. Both numbers were very well rendered and told of careful preparation as well as musical ability on the part of those giving them. Miss Ruth Reynolds in the solo "To Spring," impressed the audience by her smoothness of touch, while Miss Kathryn Harmon played "Impromptu" with a grace that all admired. The duet "Prelude, C sharp minor" by Misses Ruth Reynolds and Hattie Lambeth was one of merit, and Miss Lloyd Merrimon in "Poupee Valisante" showed a grace and skill that merited the applause received. An especially interesting feature was the vocal solos by Miss Byrd, assistant in music here. The audience was particularly impressed with her singing as was testified by the applause given.

HVERFORD AND BRYN MAWR SCHOLARSHIP AWARDED

At a recent chapel exercise announcements were made that scholarships had been awarded to the senior class as follows: Haverford, Luby Casey; Bryn Mawr, Genevieve Lindley.

Zatasian-Clay

On April 16th, the Zatasian Literary Society were the genial hostesses of the Henry Clay Literary Society in one of the biennial receptions that form a notable part of Guilford's social life.

The Clays have a genuine appreciation of their inability to express, but in small part, the eagerness with which they have anticipated this event and the joys which accompanied the occasion itself.

The literary program given in Memorial hall is one which will always be remembered for its sterling qualities, and excellency of rendition.

A beautiful presentation of the life and art of "The Blind Poet" Milton.

The first number, a tribute to the fame of Milton—his place in literature, and the unsurpassed qualities of his work, was given by Mabel Ward.

The second number, Milton's "Comus," was so skillfully presented that the entire audience was held in wrapped attention. The Zatasians are to be congratulated upon the exceptional ability shown by the actresses. Following this Mildred Patterson displayed some of the musical talent of the society in a well rendered instrumental solo.

"Blind Milton," a poem tribute to the heroism which Milton showed in his great affliction, was read by Margaret Levering. Nina Robertson then delighted the audience with a charming vocal solo.

In the last number, a Sibylline Consultation, Clara Farlow opened for a spell the mystic veil which conceals the future and one after another of those present joyfully faced the future or bent a cringing head

Lecture By Booth Lowrey Closes Lyceum Course

Guilford Audience Characterized By Much Laughter

The lecture Saturday evening, April 17, was of a two fold interest to Guilford students, first because of the splendid lessons which were so clearly set forth and second because of the humorous and characteristic style in which it was presented.

The audience was held in constant suspense throughout the lecture as to what Mr. Lowrey would say next. The unusual subject: "Simon Says Wig-Wag," was very amusing as no one was able to say just how this subject would be treated.

In introducing the theme Mr. Lowrey tells a story of Simon sitting at a banquet, and as it happened Simon says wig-wag and in response all the others present reply with the same words—so the people everywhere are playing this same little game—that of doing the very same thing which others are doing, just merely for the sake of appearance. Few people ever see anything but what is on the surface. They never stop to think of the real value of life.

Mr. Lowrey stated that the whole world has been stabbed in the heart by three great tyrants, that of existing customs, current fashions and public opinion. He says the greatest one of these three tyrants is that of public opinion, or what do people think of us?

Practically, the principles of every individual are determined by public opinion. We spend much of our time wondering what people think of us when really they are not thinking of us at all. We are spending more time, energy and brains on this than any other one thing, and public opinion has squandered more lives than anything else. The world loves only the genuine, so if we spend all our time trying to please everybody we will please nobody. No fine cul-

DEMOCRATS ORGANIZE "PAGE FOR GOVERNOR" CLUB

The Democratic portion of the student body assembled in King hall last Wednesday afternoon, threw aside all particular leanings for other candidates, and organized a "Page for Governor club." The club was organized, however, not with the sole purpose of working for Page, but for Democracy in general.

The temporary chairman called the meeting to order and then made a short speech outlining the work of Democracy during the last seven years, and said a few words in regard to their present platform. The ranks of Democracy here seemed to be solid as not a single discordant note was struck during the whole meeting.

The meeting then went about the business of organization in true Democratic style, suffrage being granted to all. Shields Cameron was elected chairman, Madge Coble, secretary and Hugh Moore, treasurer.
