WEBSTERIANS INSTALL OFFICERS.

The Websterian Literary Society was called to order Friday evening Oct. 22nd, by President Tremain.

As this was the night for installation of officers the following men were installed in their respective offices.

President, Herman Raiford, Secretary, Sam Harris; Marshall, J. C. Penny.

On account of the Lyceum course which was to be given in Memorial Hall, by consent of the entire Society the program was moved up until the next regular meeting.

The question for discussion next Friday night will be "Resolved that the rural schools should be consolidated."

PHILOMATHEAN NOTES

On October 22nd, the Philomatheans met with sixty three members present. The society was called to order by President Stewart. On account of the second Lyceum number at 8 o'clock the Literary program was postponed for the next meeting.

Under miscellaneous business the proposed joint meeting of the four Literary Societies on Friday following was accepted. Also several other business items were discussed.

Nellie Carroll read a splendid secret critic's report and gave several good suggestions.

ZATASIANS GIVE CITIZENSHIP PROGRAM.

The Zatasian Literary Society met Friday night, October 22d, with great enthusiasm to discuss the political issues, foremost in the minds of all at the present. Due to the Lyceum numbers the program was short nevertheless it was well planned and rendered.

1. Song, "Ameican the Beautiful"—By the Society. 2. Life and Ideals of Senator Harding—Alice Chilton. 3. Life and Ideals of Governor Cox.—Nova Shore. 4. Reading, Minnie Casstephens. 5. Happening at Washington.—Myrtle Pugh. Under miscellaneous business Esther Baise was received into membership.

HENRY CLAY SOCIETY GIVES SHORT PROGRAM

On Friday night October 22, the Henry Clay Society substituted for its regular debate an extemporaneous debate. The question which claimed the attention of the society, directed the argument of the two debates for several minutes, was, Resolved, that a man with an ill-tempered wife is in a worse condition, than a dog in a mud hole with a broken leg. Murray White in defending the affirmative expressed deepest sympathy for "the sorely tried Hen pecked Husband," while Herman Edwards ably defended the position of the woman.

Mr. E. T. Hollady gave an instructive Lecture on rules for working up a debate.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB HOLDS FIRST PUBLIC MEETING

On October 20, The International Relations Club met in Memorial Hall. Regulations governing the organization were presented and accepted. Owing to other meetings held at this same hour there were only eighteen charter Members. Professor Miles lectured on "Keynes, The Economic consequence of the Peace." The char-

YOUNG WOMENS' PRAYER MEETING.

Miss Ruth Outland, Leader

To the weekly Y. W. C. A. prayer-meeting, Ruth Outland brought this message from the fifth chapter of St. Matthew's Gospel:

"How are you interpreting the Gospel? Are you applying to your life the command of Christ that you must let your light so shine before men that your good works may be seen of men, and your heavenly Father glorified?"

"God is invisible. He can be seen only through the medium of personality. The supreme revelation is through those who have seen the revelation of God in Him." When Jesus was on earth, did certain things express the Spirit of God in Him or was it expressed through the acts of His every day life?

There are two ways by which Christ may be seen through personality. One may make everything he does have a religious cast, and so create such an atmosphere of piety that people will be ill at ease in his presence. They will constantly fear lest they should lose favor in the sight of this pious person. On the other hand one may live a Christian life so unselfishly that those around him will find it easy to live at their best. You have the privilege of pursuing either way; which do you choose? Christ said that since God is a loving Father, people should not be afraid of life. All men are brothers equally beloved of God; None are to be despised. Human life is more precious than wealth or luxury. Therefore service to mankind comes first.

A friend once said about a girl who had distorted ideas about life, "Poor little girl! Her idea of God is taken from the people she has met."

Are you contributing your part of the high ideals of life? Are your friends gaining the right ideal of the Divine from you? Remember that Christ said, "Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

WAKE FOREST NEXT

Football Team Goes to Wake Forest October 29.

On October 29 the Guilford football team will play the strong Wake Forest team at Wake Forest. The Quakers did not play any team during the past week. This rest together with the steady practice of this week will put the team in excellent condition to meet the strong Baptist team. The entire squad seems to be in good condition with the exception of Cox who has been having considerable trouble with a wrenched knee.
