GUILFORD LOSES SEASON'S LAST GAME TO ELON

Lone Touchdown Gives Elon Her First Football Victory Over Guilford

Guilford tasted the dregs of defeat in the final game of the season played at Elon on Thanksgiving day.

It was the first time in the history of football between the two institutions that Elon has been able to cross the Quaker goal line. A lone tally in the first minute of the second quarter was sufficient to give the Maroon and Gold a 7 to 0 victory.

The game was slow and devoid of spectacular plays of any kind. Although whatever advantage there was to the game lay with Elon, their touchdown came, not through any superior show of football, but as the result of a break of the game which chance cast against the Quakers. Late in the first quarter, G. McBane attempted a long pass, to Newlin, which carried beyond his reach and into the hands of an Elon man, who was off down an open field for 25 yards, before he was finally downed under the shadow of Guilford's goal line. Starting the second quarter from this position Elon easily carried the ball across the final distance.

Aside from this fluke of the game, the battle resolved itself into a punting contest, with the advantage in this department going to Lassiter, of Guilford, who out-kicked his opponent by 15 yards. Late in the fourth quarter, however, Elon displayed a consistency of attacks which was far more deserving of the victory than the play which netted the touchdown. The final whistle found the ball on Guilford's 8-yard line with the Quakers fighting desperately to repel a drive which was slowly but surely eating away the few precious yards that lay between them and their final ditch.

Throughout the entire game, Guilford was lacking in the aggressiveness which distinctly outclassed the Elon team in the Armistice day game at Greensboro. On the other hand the Maroon and Gold in addition to playing a tight defensive game seemed to catch some inspiration from their home surroundings, which greatly increased their offensive power and enabled them to keep the ball in Guilford's territory during the greater part of the time.

Two salient weaknesses were evident in the Quaker's game. The team failed to provide any interference, and the back-field was unable to get together a successful passing game to relieve the strain of an offensive through the line. As has been the case throughout the season Babe Shore and Everett McBane were practically the whole front line defense as well as the aggressive in the attack. G. McBane and White in the back field showed the necessary plunging power to advance the ball but at no time were they given consistent support.

In the third quarter White twisted through a broken field for twenty-five yards and for a moment the Quaker hopes soared as it seemed that the big fellow was likely to skirt the safety man and have a clear chance for the goal. But only for a moment was there a chance for in attempting to side-strip the last man, the turn made was fatal and Guilford's only opportunity to score went down. G. McBane was probably the most dependable man in the back field for short gains through the line.

GRAYS DEFEAT CRIMSONS IN INTERESTING GAME

The Gray baseball team won a victory over the Crimson team in a very interesting game played Tuesday, Nov. 15. The final score being 24 to 16.

The first two innings were very exciting, since both teams seemed to be about equally matched and little scoring was done by either. But the Grays soon took the lead and proved to be the better team in the last few innings.

Nell Carroll, pitcher for the Gray team was in good form and was able to pitch the entire game without walking a "man." Bertha Zachary, pitcher for the Crimson team began with great force and speed, but after pitching five innings lost control and Patsy Lowe was substituted. Sarah Hodges was the star performer for the Crimson team. She knocked two home runs during the game and also did some good field work. Ione Lowe, third baseman for the Grays, deserves special mention for her excellent batting and field work.

There were many errors made by both teams, practically due to the fact that this was the first public game played this year, and the first time many of the girls had ever played in a public game. The errors did not detract so much from the game for it was very interesting and exciting from beginning to end. Much joy was manifested by the players also the spectators.

SENIORS ENJOY TRIP TO PILOT MOUNTAIN

Rain and Blow-Outs Fail to Dampen Class Spirit.

To most people Nov. 11 is the one date in this month to be remembered but to the class of '22 of Guilford College, Nov. 19, the day of the Senior picnic to Pilot Mountain, looms quite as large.

The picnic really began before sun-up on that day when a number of the party, regardless of the threatening clouds outside, gathered in the kitchen to make sandwiches. By eight o'clock everything was ready and the entire class, with Miss Louise, Miss Roberts and Miss Robertson as chaperones, set out.

The trip to the foot of the slope was uneventful except for a puncture now and then, but by the time all the cars had reached their destination every one was ready for dinner. However dinner was not served until the weary climbers reached the spring which is about half way up the mountain. But then how those sandwiches, deviled eggs and pickles did disappear for they were devoured in real mountaineer style.

Such steep climbing was a new experience to most of the party so immediately after dinner couple by couple began to ascend and within half an hour the peak was in sight. It was when this point was reached that all were rewarded for their efforts, for the view from the top was wonderful. Even though the day was cloudy one could see the Blue Ridge in the distance and between, in the lowlands, forests, farms, towns and river.

After an hour or so spent with the field glass the downward journey was commenced, and proved even more fun than the ascent, provided one's brakes were in good condition.

The homeward trip that evening can hardly be called a sad one, for the rain, blowouts, mud and strange roads only added to the excitement of the affair. Another advantage was that every car had its box of eats so that no one had any desire to patronize Mr. Peacock's one on the way home.

Thus, Nov. 19 taken as a whole was one of the jolliest ever spent at or around Guilford and one that the class of '22 will always remember in years to come.

STUDENTS ENJOY VARIETY OF THANKSGIVING EVENTS

Thanksgiving Day at Guilford is always one which the students enjoy, not only because it is a national holiday, but because it is in itself an enjoyable occasion.

This year it was observed in the usual manner with services at the church in the morning and a general social the rest of the day. At the church the neighborhood people and students met together for the common purpose of giving thanks to our Father for the many blessings bestowed upon us.

After lunch some of the boys and girls played tennis, others went on hikes or hunting expeditions, while many motored to Elon to see the game.

However the chief feature of the day, which was dinner, was postponed until 7 o'clock. At this hour all the hungry players, spectators, hikers and hunters came trooping in the diningroom to a real Thanksgiving dinner of turkey, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, dressing, gravy, hot rolls, celery, fruit salad, jello and coconut cake.

It was then, as well as at the social which followed, that each one realized that he had much for which to be thankful.

E. MCBANE ELECTED FOOTBALL CAP'T FOR 1922

Grid Warriors Meet and Talk Over Season's Record.

Friday afternoon, the football squad met in the Y. M. C. A. to elect a captain for 1922 and to discuss other matters concerning football.

At the beginning of the meeting the letter men retired and elected Everette McBane captain for the coming year. "Big Mac" as he is better known on the gridiron has played on the varsity for two years, and has always proved himself a valuable man. Playing tackle for the past two years, he has been the mainstay of Guilford's defense and has always carried his part of the offensive. With his three year's experience, "Mac" knows the game and this experience coupled with his fighting qualities should do much in leading the team to victory.

After talks by captain Newlin of this year's team and captain-elect McBane, every member of the squad was given an opportunity to express himself in regard to the showing of the team the past season and offer suggestions for next year.

After these informal talks, Coach Doak expressed a feeling of encouragement for the past season's record and spoke enthusiastically in regard to next year's outlook.

Plans were made at this time for two or three weeks of post-season football for men who were anxious to gain experience for next year.

GUILFORD SCRUBS GO DOWN IN DEFEAT

Score 7 to 0

Guilford's second team lost a hard fought and interesting game to Oak Ridge on the latter's field Friday, November 18, by a score of 7 to 0.

The only outstanding advantage that Oak Ridge had over the Scrubs was the ability to complete forward passes. This type of offense was largely responsible for the only touchdown of the game. In all other points of the game Guilford was decidedly as effective as her opponents.

The touchdown for Oak Ridge was made by Clayton who received a forward pass from Guilford's 25-yard line to her 5-yard line and then carried the ball across the goal line. Turner kicked goal.

Both teams played a clean game. Only a few penalties were imposed.

The team appreciated the hospitality which it received while on Oak Ridge campus.
