Blue Triangle Explained

"Taking the tangle out of the blue triangle" was the subject which was discussed by Nellie Allen and other members at Y. W. C. A. Thursday evening, October 5, 1922.

This meeting was held especially for the benefit of the new girls, and the organization of the Y. M. C. A. was explained in terms of the three sides of the blue triangle. The subject was discussed from five viewpoints; Y. W. C. A. in other lands; the three purposes and the three workers; body, soul, and mind; and God, others and ourselves.

The speakers emphasized the fact that the three sides of the triangle represent the following: the base, God; the right side, others; and the left side, ourselves.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

"How Jesus met life problems" was the theme of Spot Taylor's discussion at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening, October 5.

Prefacing his remarks with the second chapter of Luke, Mr. Taylor reviewed the birth and childhood of Christ and his entrance upon the ministry, stressing particularly the temptations which he met and overcame.

Marvin Shore, H. L. Macon, Dewey Crews, Frank Casey and Russel Branson followed Mr. Taylor with brief talks on various phases of Christ's life.

Day Students Enjoy Moonlight Picnic

The moonlight nights of last week were too beautiful to be resisted by a group of Guilford students. Hence on Wednesday evening about fourteen community boys and girls under the chaperonage of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ballenger, set forth to enjoy the early hours in the moonlit grove behind Professor Davis' home.

Advance guards had been sent out in the afternoon to gather wood and locate a place for a bon-fire. Soon a raging fire was making life warm for eager hot dog roasters. However, after several burnt fingers, and lost weiners, there was a sufficient number roasted to supply the party. The frying of eggs and the boiling of coffee was a matter of a few minutes, and presently picnickers sat down to partake of hot dogs, eggs, pickles, sandwiches and cake.

After the supper had vanished, the remaining part of the evening was devoted to singing songs, playing games and walking in the moonlight.

Misses Flora Pike and Esther Rees from Snow Camp were the week-end guests of Nellie Allen.

Misses Vera Farlow, Virginia Osborne, Ruth Pearson and Lois Rabey spent the week-end at Queen's College, Charlotte, attending the Y. W. C. A. training council.

Beulah Norman spent the week-end with Joe Mock.

Which Type of Research is of Greatest Value?

A stove burns too much coal. A man familiar with the principles of combustion and heat radiation makes experiments which indicate desirable changes in design. That is research.

You want to make a ruby in a factory, a real ruby, indistinguishable by any test from the natural stone. You begin by analyzing rubies chemically and physically. Then you make rubies just as nature did. Your rubies are the result of research—another type of research.

While melting up your chemicals and experimenting with high temperatures, you begin to wonder how hot the earth must have been millions of years ago, and what were the forces at play that made this planet what it is. Your investigation leads you far from rubies and causes you to formulate theories to explain how the earth, how the whole solar system was created. That would be research of a still different type.

Research of all three types is conducted in the laboratories of the General Electric Company. But it is the third type—pioneering into the unknown—that means most in the long run, even though undertaken with no practical benefit in view.

For example, the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are exploring matter with X-rays in order to discover not only how the atoms in different substances are arranged but how the atoms themselves are built up. The more you know about a substance, the more you can do with it. This work may enable scientists to answer more definitely the question: Why is iron magnetic? Then the electrical industry will take a greater step forward than can be made in a century of experimenting with existing electrical apparatus.

You can add wings and stories to an old house. But to build a new house, you must begin with the foundation.
