

SOCIETY NOTES

Zatasians Give Very Interesting Program

An interesting and entertaining program was given by the Zatasians at their regular meeting held January 12. The first number on the program was a splendid interpretation of Malloy's "Love's Old Sweet Song" by Mildred Townsend and Mable McBane.

Following this Jennie Howard told a story from Harper's Weekly and gave a brief review of the current number. Pherlie Mae Siske read a paper entitled, "The Magazine Shelf vs. The Society Column". Minnie Kallam ended the literary exercises with a short resume of recent current events.

Cancellation of War Debt Debated by Clays.

The Clays enjoyed an extemporaneous debate in their first meeting of the new year. Everett Hollady, a former Clay, was present and added much to the meeting by his words of commendation and encouragement.

At the second meeting, Friday Jan. 12, a debate on cancellation of war loans, and a violin solo, filled the program. In the debate Dinkins and Wilhelm defended the affirmative on the ground that America is morally obligated to cancel; that she is financially able; and that the future of Europe depends on cancellation.

Although Taylor and Cannon were extemporaneous speakers they broke down the argument of the affirmative and won the decision of the judges.

Benbow Merrimon won the approval of his audience by his excellent playing of a violin solo.

Philomatheans Give New Year Program

Taking New Year as a theme the Philomatheans gave a helpful program on Friday evening, January 12.

A paper, "What 1923 means to a Senior" by Ruth Finch brought to light the attitude of seniors toward their closing year. "What 1923 means to a Freshman" by Lalah Hassel, proved to be mostly aspirations with resolutions to realize their fulfillment. "New Year Festivities" by Margaret Smith recalled many familiar customs of welcoming in the New Year and brought to light ways of celebrating in other lands.

The musical number was an instrumental solo, Paderewski's Paraphrase of "Minuet in G" played by Lloyd Merrimon.

Webs. Argue Questions of National Interest

The Websterian Literary Society met Friday evening, January 5th, and started off the New Year with an interesting debate on the question, "Resolved, that the United States senators should take their seats in January following their election, in November. Wendell Cude and Joe Welborn representing the affirmative, defeated Eiton Warrick and Raymond Ebert, the defenders of the negative.

Following the debate was a reading by George Martin and a musical number presented by Ernest Macon and Sparger Robertson.

The program for the last meeting held January 12, was as follows:

I. Debate: Resolved, That the president of the United States should be elected by direct vote of the people.

Affirmative: Ernest Macon, Lee Cude, Raymond Ebert.

Negative: Kenneth Neese, Thomas Hadley and Lee Richardson.

II. Life of Abraham Lincoln, John Cude.

Winn.

III. Humorous reading Fred

A lengthy discussion of unusual interest was presented on each side of the debate. The affirmative won the decision of the judges. The original essay on the life and works of Lincoln was of more than passing interest.

COLLEGE GLEE CLUB ENTERTAINS STUDENTS

The College Glee Club entertained the faculty and students with a short concert, at chapel on Tuesday morning, Dec. 19.

Ralph K. Farlow, '23, president of the club, made a few introductory remarks, after which the following program was rendered by the club:

"Love Song"
"College Medley"
"Tosti's Good-bye"
"Guilford Alma Mater"

The selections were rendered with finesse, each number commanding a timely encore.

The club is anticipating a successful season this year, and is rehearsing twice a week preparatory for its first engagement at Pleasant Garden High School, Feb. 28.

A pending schedule for the season follows:

Feb. 28—Pleasant Garden
Mar. 3—Asheboro.
Mar. 7—Jamestown
Mar. 10—Reidsville
Mar. 14—Kernersville
Mar. 16—Burlington
Mar. 17—Graham
Mar. 20—High Point.
Mar. 24—Home Concert

ISAAC FIKE PASSES Former Guilford Student

At Troy, December 29th, Isaac Fike, present welfare officer for Montgomery county, ex-mayor, and commissioner, present master of the Masonic lodge, died at his home with influenza.

Mr. Fike was born and raised in Chatham county, near Pittsboro. He was educated at Guilford College, and while in college he took part in baseball and was known all over the state as a college player. October 15, 1915, he married Ethel Nance, daughter of I. C. Nance. Miss Nance also was educated at Guilford. Since the time of his marriage he made his home in Troy, where he was engaged in the lumber business.

Mr. Fike is survived by his wife and two children, Horace and Rankin Fike; his mother Mrs. Dela Fike, of Pittsboro, and one sister, Mrs. Chapin of Pittsboro.

Gertrude Bundy spent the week end at her home at Jamestown.

Lubey Casey and his mother visited Frank Casey Sunday.

Among the Sunday afternoon visitors were: Miss Clara Worth of High Point; Miss Mary Petty of Greensboro; Mr. W. W. Whaley and family; and Messrs. William Blair of Winston, Ernest Shore of East Bend, Edwin Groom of Jamestown, Clarence and Archie Johnson of Greensboro; Luther Barker of High Point; Charles Smithdeal of Winston-Salem and S. E. Matthews of Stokesdale.

sufficed to run it previous to this time.

No sooner had the announcement of the proposed campaign been made public when Richard and Hettie Hollowell, of Columbia, S. C., contributed, unsolicited, $10,000.00 to the campaign.

Mr. Hollowell is a prominent friend, a former resident of North Carolina, having maintained his home for a time in both Greensboro and Goldsboro. He went to Columbia several years ago and is now prominently identified with the business of that city as a cotton commission merchant.

The college is rejoicing in the contribution of $110,000 toward its goal and plans are almost at completion for a general campaign for the remainder of the funds. The work is to commence among the alumni and then extend to the old students, trustees and other friends of the college.

It is hoped that $100,000 of the $275,000 to be raised, can be solicited from friends outside the state. In this event, $175,000 is to come as contributions from the Guilfordians in North Carolina.

"Sewing For The Heathen"

Given By C. E. Society

A short, one act comedy, entitled "Sewing for the Heathen", was given in Memorial Hall, Saturday evening, January 13, by the Intermediate Christian Endeavor Society of the Asheboro Street Friends Church of Greensboro. With Mrs. Jessie Hodgkin as director, the play was carried out quite successfully. The scene was laid at the meeting of a missionary society, whose chief business was to sew for the heathen. Those who took part in the play were Misses Helen Mendenhall, Margaret Mendenhall, Blanche Hodgkin, Annie Cox, Gray Shelton, Louise Craven, Catherine Hardeman, and Lois Wilson.

Before the play Miss Ruth Mendenhall entertained the audience with two vocal selections, followed by two humorous readings by Miss Sarah Mendenhall.
