

THE GUILFORDIAN

VOL. IX.

GUILFORD COLLEGE, N. C., FEBRUARY 14, 1923

No. 17

GREENSBORO GUILFORDIANS BACK UP ENDOWMENT

Campaign Receives An Upgrade Stimulous at Rousing Banquet

Greensboro and Guilford College will raise $75,000, High Point $60,000 and the Other Parts of County $15,000.

More than 100 ardent Guilfordians gathered together Friday night, February 9, at the second annual banquet of alumni, alumnae, old students and friends of the college, given in the Y. W. C. A. hut in Greensboro. It was announced that of the $150,000 which Guilford county must raise, for the endowment fund, Greensboro would attempt the raising of one-half that sum, $75,000 along with the Guilford College community; the city of High Point assumed $60,000; and that portion of Guilford County outside of these communities pledged itself to the remainder of the total—$15,000. Outside of the county, there is anticipated from the state of North Carolina, $25,000 of the grand total needed; and Friends outside the state are looked to for the remaining $100,000.

The campaign organization for Greensboro and Guilford College is headed by R. J. M. Hobbs, chairman of the campaign committee, and C. L. Shuping, chairman of the executive committee. A thorough

(Continued on page 2)

GLEE CLUB REPRESENTED AT GREENSBORO BANQUET

"True enough my brothers en-
The Glee Club was unofficially represented at the Alumni and Old Students banquet in Greensboro Friday night. The quartet, James Joyce, John Reynolds, Ralph Farlow and James Barbee with Edward Holder accompanist were invited to be present at this meeting of former students of Guilford. The following selections were enthusiastically received by the banqueters: Chant of the Wamen, Levee Song, Lullaby.

This groupe of five comprises one-fourth the entire membership of the Club, and will appear in a special skit on the regular program of the Club's spring tour.

The regular program for the Club will include numbers from Haydn, Schumann, Galloway and Bartlett, as well as several popular numbers. The Club will also repeat the arrange the scenery and costumes for well received by the student body in chapel last December. Two feature quartets will appear, and there is a possibility of adding two other features to the program. The orchestra will take care of two numbers on the program.

The department of Home Economics has very kindly offered to arrange the scenery and costumes for the feature numbers. This work is now well under way. Ralph Farlow as stage electrician is arranging picturesque and characteristic effects for these numbers.

MR. BERNARD CONE ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Carolina's Cotton King Discusses
The Growth of Proximity

Bernard, Cone, president of Proximity Mfg. Co. of Greensboro, addressed the student body last Tuesday morning on the subject of "Development of Mill Villiages." Beginning with 1895, when Messrs. Moses and Caesar Cone first organized the business at Proximity, the speaker clearly outlined each step in the progress of the mills. Only two years after the Company was organized, the mills manufactured two and a quarter millions yards of denims. Mr. Cone said the 1922 output for both mill villiages was 120,000,000 yards of denims. In order to get the mills to the present capacity the number of looms has been increased from 250 to 6,600 in 25 years.

Mr. Cone contrasted the mills of New England with the mills of the South and it could be easily seen that the two brothers, Moses and Caesar Cone had many difficulties to overcome.

In giving the reasons for success in every way, Mr. Cone said that while his brothers did want money that was not all. Above everything else they wanted "glory of achievement." Mr. Moses was the financier and Mr. Caesar was the manufacturer. Mr. Moses Cone did not draw one dollar from the pay roll or dividends for twelve years, but he put everything into the business.

Mr. Cone expressed the fact that the mill villiages were second to none in education, schools, welfare departments, Y M C. A.'s and various other organizations. In speaking of the educational progress Mr. Cone said that the mill villiages now have three schools for the white children and one for the colored.

(Continued on page 2)

CAST CHOSEN FOR THREE LIVE GHOSTS

The try-outs for the play, "Three Live Ghosts," which will be produced on March 24, under the auspices of the Men's Athletic Association, were held Monday night, February 5, in Founders Hall. There were more than twenty-five students trying out for the twelve roles. Those selected by the casting committee, which consisted of Miss Polk, Miss Smith, Miss Hoffman, Mr. J. D. White, Mr. J. W. Pancoast, Hope Motley and Spot Taylor, were:

Rose Gordon, Margaret Armfield, Peggy Woofers, Janie Mae Butler, Mrs. Gubbins (Old Sweetheart)
Eva Holder
Spooify, Jack Ragsdale
Jimmy Gubbins, Everett McBane
William Foster, alias William Jones, Robert Marshall.
Bolton, Addison Smith
Briggs, Sam Harris
Benson, Alonzo Pringle
Policemen, Elton Warrick, Kenneth Neese

Rehearsals began Monday, February 12, under the direction of Miss Polk.

CRIMSON AND GRAY TEAM CLAIM TWO VICTORIES

N. C. State and University of South Carolina Go Down In Defeat

Lose To Wake Forest By Four Points

CIVITAN CLUB ENDORSES ENDOWMENT CAMPAIGN

The Greensboro Civitan Club at its regular meeting last Thursday indorsed the Endowment Campaign of Guilford College with a unanimous vote. This action followed addresses by Dr. Perisho and Dr. Binford. The former talked along the line of the benefit that Greensboro derived from Guilford.

"Every college," he said "needs a city and every city needs a college. Is there any relation between the oldest educational institution of Guilford county and Greensboro?" Then the speaker plunged into his address and when he sat down there was no doubt in the minds of the audience that there was a very definite relationship between Guilford college and Greensboro.

Dr. Binford then gave a brief talk on how the expenses of the college, along with other business had increased, especially in the last ten years and that something definite had to be done.

GREENSBORO DOES BELIEVE THAT GUILFORD COLLEGE IS AN ASSET. SHE INCREASES CAPITAL STOCK $75,000.

ESTHER BAIRD TALKS OF INDIAN CONDITIONS

Miss Esther Baird, a Friend, who has spent 30 years in Central India as a missionary, discussed the India situation in a very interesting way at chapel Monday morning. "All schools of India," said Miss Baird, "have been established by the British government or the missionaries. Better sanitary conditions, railroads, and in general better living conditions are the result of the British rule."

Miss Baird then gave an interesting description of the character and methods of Mahatma Ghandi, the Indian revolutionary leader. "He was a recruiting officer for the British army during the World War" explained Miss Baird, "and was converted to the doctrine of non-combatance, when home rule was refused to India."

Continuing, Miss Baird stated that the common people of India in their superstition believe Ghandi to be the incarnation of their god Wishun, His policy is that of non-cooperation. Railroads and hospitals are works of the devil, doctors are his servants according to Ghandi. The work of this man and his fellow agitators in playing upon the superstitions of the natives has caused the

(Continued on page 4)

BASEBALL SCHEDULE

Mar. 30 University of N. Y. at Greensboro.
Apr. 2 Elon at Greensboro
Apr. 4 Wake Forest at Wake Forest.
Apr. 5 N. C. State at Raleigh
Apr. 7 Newark Internationals
Apr. 10 N. C. State at Greensboro at High Point (pending)
Apr. 13 Wake Forest at Guilford.
Apr. 14 University of N. C. at ford.
Apr. 19 Lynchburg at Guilford Chapel Hill.
Apr. 23 Trinity at Durham. ford.
Apr. 26 Lenoir at Guilford. (pending).
Apr. 30 Lynchburg at Lynchburg.
May 1 V. M. I. at Lexington
May 2 Roanoke at Salem.
May 3 V. P. I. at Blacksburg

Guilford has a heavy schedule of eighteen games arranged for the 1923 baseball season. She will open the season with the New Yorkers at Greensboro, and will close with a two-weeks trip into Virginia. Two games will be played on the home ground. The first of these two to take place will be the meeting of Wake Forest on April 13 and the second with Lynchburg on the 19.

With the exception of Newlin, last year's leftfielder, the entire team is back this year. Captain H. B. Shore will again head the pitching staff, while Hayworth, the state's leading college catcher, will resume his former position. N. English, H. Macon and C. Kendall members of last year's scrub team are candidates for the first team. H. Andrews, first baseman on the 1921 team, has been enrolled again as a student, and is shaping himself up for work. Two new men, Roy Burge and Wendell Cude, are considered promising material.

With this lineup there is no reason why Guilford should not put out a team that will compare favorably with the best in the state.

MISS HATTIE BURGESS HAS BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mrs. Ozella Burgess entertained Friday evening with an informal birthday dinner in honor of her daughter, Hattie May.

A two course dinner was served in a corner of the college dining room, consisting of: fried chicken, saratoga chips sandwiches, pickles, hot rolls and black coffee, salad, cake and mints.

After dinner delicious home made candy was served, while the campus gossip was discussed.

The invited guests were, Misses Ruth Ragsdale, Margaret Armfield, Ruth Stephens, Luna Taylor, Sallie Wilkins, Virginia Galloway, Janie Mae Butler and Marie Beaman.

The quint of the Crimson and Gray, one of the best basket ball teams, put out by Guilford in recent years, by defeating N. C. State, 24-21 and The University of South Carolina, 35-20 won two out of the three games played on the home floor last week. The last game which was lost to Wake Forest by a narrow margin of four points was the first game that the Quakers have taken the little end of the score out of six played. The total number of points picked up by the Guilford five about doubles those annexed by the opposing teams.

Coach Doak's basket ball machine came through a rough week with two victories out of three possible ties. Three powerful teams were pitted against Guilford on her home floor, which gave the lovers of the game a definite knowledge of the strength. N. C. State was the first of the last week's visitors to go down under the onslaught of the Guilford five, by a 24 to 21 score. Closely following State came The University of South Carolina who stopped long enough to accept a defeat, at the hands of Guilford, by the good margin of 35-20. The last game in which Wake Forest nosed out ahead was the first game that the Crimson and Gray have lost out of six played.

The most interesting game, that has been seen on the local floor for many seasons, was the one played last week against N. C. State. At no time in the fray did either team let up in their des-

(Continued on page 3)

SCHOOL OF MISSIONS BEGUN AT GUILFORD

The School of Mission Study, similar to the one held last year, has been organized by the Y. W. and Y. M. Christian Associations in conjunction with the Christian Endeavor Society. The School opened last Sunday night and will continue for six weeks at the regular Christine Endeavor hour. The classes held are as follows:

"Building with India" Mrs. Roxie D. White.

"The Line of Africa" Professor Robert H. Dann.

"Pan Americanism" Dr. and Mrs. Perisho.

"The Vanguard of the Race"—Negro Problem, Rev. Joseph Peele.

"American Missions" Mrs Robert H. Dann.

"Men and Things" Prof. Anscombe.

A class each for the Junior and Intermediate Christian Endeavor Societies has been organized and is taught by Dr. Williams and Marvin Shore respectively.