

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Belief in Christ was the subject discussed by Fred Winn, Y. M. C. A. leader, on last Tuesday evening. He used as his theme the words of Paul to the Phillippian jailor, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved."

"Simply to believe in the historical account of the life of the Redeemer is not sufficient," asserted the speaker. "One must receive him into his heart. To believe in Christ, one must trust in him and commit his life into his hands," said Mr. Winn. "God has given as means of salvation his only son Jesus, the Holy Spirit, repentance, faith, and power to confess Christ. One obtains faith by hearing the Gospel preached, by reading and studying of the Scriptures."

Irene Penland Addresses Y. W. C. A.

Miss Irene Penland, who is associated with the city Y. W. C. A. of Winston-Salem, spoke to the girls of the local Y. W., Thursday evening.

Very briefly Miss Penland discussed the work of the city Y. W., in co-operation with Salem College, for the benefit of the factory girls. "The Salem college girls," she said, "teach classes from the first grade on up into High School work, including music and Domestic Science to which these working girls attend very eagerly outside of working hours. Besides the day school, night classes are organized which do a very great deal of beneficial work for the girls who had no chance to go to school in early life."

"Each college," said Miss Penland, "that is situated near enough to a city Y. W. should send teachers there to instruct the working class. For," she continued, "I believe this is working for the Lord as much as teaching Sunday School classes would be."

The speaker concluded with her own personal story telling how and why and how she came in touch with the Y. W. at Winston-Salem.

Prior to Miss Penland's talk, Y. W. officers were voted upon for the year 1923-24. The following girls were elected; Virginia Osborne, president, Pherlie Mae Siske, secretary, Margaret Levering, undergraduate representative; Marion Ward, treasurer.

Rev. Joseph Peele Addresses Students

Do you that many people are drifting without any definite idea of life because they failed to grasp the "I can" habit? Thus it was, that Reverend Joseph Peele began his chapel talk last Wednesday morning.

He stressed the importance of acquiring right habits early in life. The speaker further emphasized the fact that the world liked to see a young man with ambitions which are destined for success in spite of difficulties.

"To do the impossible takes some thought," said Reverend Peele, "but look at the inventions and miraculous achievements which have come from those who learned the "I can" habit.

In closing, Mr. Peele gave some figures illustrating the advantages of an education. He told the students that 88 per cent of the names Who's Who appeared there as a result of education.

"If one has determination to succeed, be ready to make the difficult plays in life."

Mrs. H. M. Joyce of Danbury visited her son James Joyce last week end.

DR. PERISHO TO VISIT MANY HIGH SCHOOLS

Dr. Perisho is a traveling man. He visited the Southern Quarterly meeting last Saturday and Sunday, giving two addresses in the High School at Asheboro. Tuesday he started on a tour of Montgomery county, closing the week with an address dedicating the new Whitney Consolidated High School near Saxapahaw. He is to deliver the baccalaureate address at Springfield on Sunday, and Monday will find him in Bethania, Forsythe county, for the commencement address in the school there. Immediately afterward, he will deliver the commencement address at Vienna.

The Misses Frazier Entertain

Misses Gracette and Louise Frazier were at home to a number of friends Tuesday afternoon, March 20, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Sandwiches, tea and candy were served by the hostess.

The invited guests were Misses Ruth Ragsdale, Marie Beaman, Janie Mae Butler, Margaret Armfield, Luna Taylor, Hattie Burgess, Ruth Stephens, and Virginia Galloway.

After War Conditions Discussed In Chapel

Mme. Hoffman in her chapel talk last Tuesday morning gave a striking picture of the after war conditions of Belgium. The first took up the history of Belgium and showed that all through the ages, the people of this small country have played a very important part in the great empires that have influenced the destiny of the world. Mme. Hoffman explains that after years of freedom, suddenly and without warning, the world war enveloped Belgium and for four years cut her off from the outside world. The speaker further emphasized the fact that on account of this condition these people were confronted with two vital problems, unemployment and starvation.

After having given this survey, she told of the important changes that have come about on account of the war and stated that the women of Begium were rapidly coming to the front for the first time in history.

In closing she told of the opportunity of the Y. W. C. A. to co-operate and become an important factor in the reformation. By their efforts, she explained, the women of all classes, political and religious opinions were brought together in a spirit of Christian love and understanding.

Interest in Dante Urged

Dr. Comfort, "is that he carried out his intention, for Vita Nuovo, the introduction to the 'Divine Comedy' is the greatest poem ever written in praise of a woman."

Aside from his great masterpiece, his minor works as indicated by Dr. Comfort are well worth studying. "He was," he said, "a painter of the eternal moral order and was ethically concerned for the salvation of the world.

In conclusion Dr. Comfort pointed out that Dante, in his yearning for universal peace was striving for the same thing for which the world is striving today. For while his ideal was an association of nations under one great ruler and the present tendency is that of a democracy the same end is still in view.

Elizabeth Brookshire and Rosa Elliot spent the week end at Trinity College, Durham.

Freshman Class Holds Regular Meeting

On Wednesday evening, March 20, the freshmen held their regular meeting in student's parlor, Founders hall. There being so much business to claim the attention of the class no regular program was rendered. The matter of the freshman-sophomore debate was discussed and several members of the class volunteered to participate in the try-out, which is to be held at an early date.
