EDITORIAL COMMENT

Blue Ridge—Let's Go

"The Southern Student Conference of the Y. M. C. A. will convene at Blue Ridge, N. C., June 15-24, 1923. Six Hundred students and professors are expected to attend this annual student conference in 1923. The gathering is one of the greatest events of the college year—the one real all-southern college tradition."

What does this conference mean to the young men of Guilford College? A few years ago when practically 100% of the men belonged to the Y. M. C. A. and when a large delegation of fellows attended these conferences and brought away from Blue Ridge, more than one athletic banner, the occasion meant much to our college boys. For the past few years it has not meant so much to us, and the results are fast telling on us, especially on our Y. M. C. A. Where once there was a 100% membership in the Association it has decreased to about 30% during the last few years. The fault belongs not to the conferences, for they have been increasing in size and importance every year. They miss us, but they can grow and keep on growing without our participation, yet, one thing is sure, we as a Christian organization cannot grow in the big sense, until we reunite ourselves with this conference.

Other colleges all over the Southern states are sending larger delegations every year. They are setting higher goals than ever before. What is going to be Guilford's goal? Let us say at least, NINE men. Come on Fellows, let's show the delegations at Blue Ridge of 1923, that, what Guilford has done, she can still do. We can take the best ball team and bring away with us athletic banners. Let us be big enough to make a temporary sacrifice in order to accept the great opportunity. We must in the future make these Conferences mean much to the Y. M. C. A. and Guilford at large. —M. H. Shore.

FACULTY GIVES DINNER PARTY

Professors Pancoast and Baker were hosts to a dinner party at the O'Henry hotel in Greensboro, Friday night. Following dinner, the party attended the theatre. The guests were: Professor and Mrs. R. H. Dann, Miss Mary Aline Polk and Miss Virginia I. Robinson.

WE BEG TO CORRECT

To correct two errors made between the point of the reporter's pencil and the release from the printing press it should be announced that the statement, made in the issue of May 2; to the effect that Henry J. Scattergood, who is to speak at the Commencement exercises, was a chief executive of the Provident Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia, was not correct. However, according to "Who's Who in America," Mr. Scattergood was president of the American Pulley company, a member of the original Red Cross commission to France, first chief of the Friends Reconstruction bureau in France and is at the present time vice-president and secretary of the American Water Softener Co., director of the American Dyewood Co., the United Dyewood Corporation, First National Bank, and the Insurance company of the State of Pennsylvania. He is also the present treasurer of Haverford College.

The other error made was a statement in a recent issue to the effect that "several hundred thousand" Friends attended the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting. According to original intention the number should have been, "several hundred."

Guilford corners Two Games

runs while Guilford registered 6 hits making out of this a score of 4. Shore twirled.

Roanoke, 5—Guilford, 8

The first game with Roanoke was a one inning affair, as far as the Quakers were concerned. Frazier went to the rubber and did the Babe Ruth stunt for 3 sacks. Ferrell in the same inning hit for four bases while Cummings and Andrews both singled. This brought the score to 4-1. The game ended with the score 8-5, with Burge on the mound for Guilford.

V. P. I., 17—G. C., 10

Three home runs in one inning was the feat of V. P. I. This offensive on the part of the techs came in the third inning and registered them twelve runs. Ferrell in the box was yanked out in favor of Cummings who in the remaining six innings held his opponents to three additional runs. Guilford's sluggers also seemed to be on the qui vive and marked up two circuit drives. At the end of the game the score board made the remark 17-10 with the Quakers holding the smaller end. The over-fencers were smashed out by Cummings and Hayworth.

Roanoke 3,—Guilford, 8.

8-3 was the final tally in the second fray with Roanoke. Guilford's scoring was done in the fifth, seventh and eighth innings. In the fifth Frazier singled, followed by a circuit drive from Burge. In the seventh Frazier singled again followed by a second home run at the hands of Hayworth. Four more jinitial sack bingles for two more counts, marked the remainder of this inning. By errors and two sacrifice hits Guilford made her final tally in the eighth. Shore pitched.

Lynchburg, 2—Guilford, 0

Outhitting Guilford 10-4, Lynchburg won her second game from the Quakers, 2-0. The feature of this last game was the pitching of Burge, who on the whole did the most effective mound work for the Crimson and Gray on the trip. He struck out nine men.

ALUMNI NEWS

Your Friends Will Be at Commencement

The Guilfordian, in so far as it is possible, is planning to publish the names of those alumni, whom it has been learned by hook or crook, are intending to attend Commencement exercises. In this way it will be possible to inform all the subscribers, which includes all the alumni, what the possibility is for you to meet your dear old friends of Guilford days on the campus of your Alma Mater. If you are intending to come up for the annual affair, drop the editor of the paper a line to the effect, and in this way it can be learned whether that distinguished member of the class of '22, who now resides in California, or some other distinguished member of the class of '17, who lives in Connecticut, will be here to ever praise Miss Louise.

As a first announcement it has been learned that the following are going to be present at the Commencement exercises:

Grace Taylor, '17, Grady McBane, '22, Murray White, '22, Marianna White, '22, Edna Raiford, '22, Isabel Pancoast, '22, Hobert Patterson, '19.

Mrs. George N. Coulter (Lillian Jinnett), a member of the class of 1907, is dietitian at the New York Nursery and Child's Hospital, 161 West 61st Street, New York, N. Y.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

What can we do to make the Y. M. C. A. more effective asked Dr. Binford in leading Y. M. C. A. last Thursday evening. "The success of this organization is necessary, for it deals with the most important problem of the college, the moral and spiritual uplift of the men."

The speaker then stressed the importance of keeping complete and exact reports, and the proper co-ordination of the work of one year with another.

As a further suggestion for improvement, Dr. Binford mentioned the need for trained Y. M. C. A. workers.

"The best place to get this training," he said, "was at the Y. M. and Y. W. conference at Blue Ridge, N. C."

He urged that a large number of Guilfordians should attend this conference in order that the Y. M. C. A. should become the biggest and most outstanding organization on the campus.

In conclusion he set this as the goal of the association for next year, "Get every man in college as a member of the Y. M. C. A."

Y. M. C. A. COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN APPOINTED

Cabinet members of the 1923-24 Y. M. C. A. were recently appointed by Marvin Shore, president, the following men will act as chairmen of the various committees; finance, B. C. Shore, '24; Bible study, Glen Lassiter, '24; mission study, Allison White, '25; religious meetings, Frank Casey, '25; new students, William Blair; socials, Russell, '25; music, John Reynolds, '25; membership, Hershel Macon, '24.
