A. W. Blair, '90, has continued his work along the line of Agricultural chemistry.. He has a successful and interesting career as is shown by the following extract from a letter received from him by the Alumni reporter in answer to a re- J. W. Davis. quest for alumni news.

"Last summer, 1922, I completed twenty-five years of experiment station work,-two years in North Carolina, twelve in Florida and eleven in New Jersey.

"My special field of work has been agricultural chemistry, especially the chemistry of soils and fertilizers, and the influence of fertilizers on the composition of soil and on the growth of crops. In addition to station work I am a member of the agricultural faculty of Rutgers College and the State University of New Jersey.

"I am interested in church and Sunday school work, having been for several years superintendent of the Highland Park Reformed Sunday school."

Samuel S. Smith, '18, who will, in a few weeks receive his Ph. D. in Chemistry at the University of North Carolina read a paper on some phase of his work at the Academy of Science held in Greensboro, May 4th and 5th.

David Jackson, '18, whose present address is Ridgeway Ave., Greensburg, Pa., is a chemist for the Elliott Chemical Co.

Mary Fox, '14, (Mrs. John S. Downing) continued her studies in chemistry for one year at Rice Institute, Texas. After teaching a Wilmington College one year and a' Guilford College one year she was married to Mr. John S. Downing who is also a former teacher at Guilford. She is now living in Buford, Ga. and is applying her knowledge of Chemistry to her household duties and to the proper rearing of John S. Downing, Jr., who is a husky "youth" of three years.

Joseph D. White, '19, received his M. A. degree from Haverford college in the spring of 1921. During the year 1921-1922 he was a gradutea student in chemistry Harvard university. It will be remembered that he received a scholarship from Guilford to Haverford on account of his high average grade and he maintained this high average at both the institutions mentioned above. He is now doing excellent work as professor of chemistry at Guilford Col-

J. Passmore Elkinton of Philadelphia in his chapel talk Thursday, May 17, spoke on "Pathways of Life." He mentioned that some of these ways lead to successful medical or law practice, and devoted housekeeping, to capable farming, and to successful commercial careers.

"There are two ways of traveling, the Christian way, and the heathen," said the speaker. "The heathen manner of traveling is marked by ruthless progress toward the goal, and an utter disregard of what should be done along the way. Christ, all trough the years of his earthly life, found time to raise the fallen and to succor the distressed.

"Let us learn," said Mr. Elkinton, "to live listening to the voice of God, for while the monetary reward of those who travel the is not primarily an organization, not an economic work, but a great work of friendship."

Miss Annie Petty, of the State library, made a brief talk, followed by several others. Dr. Perisho, who was in Raleigh the 25th and 26th, explained the situation at Guilford. The Raleigh members are planning to solicit pledges from friends of Guilford, besides making liberal pledges personally. Prof. A. A. Dixon of N. C. State, is particularly active in the work of organizing there.

The Contentnea Aeeting at Oakland, Wayne county, requested Dr. Perisho to present Guilford's need to the meeting, April 28, and to state the work already done toward securing the $500,000 endowment.

The Guilford college club of Wayne county met at the Friends' meeting-house at Goldsboro, April 29. Though the weather was bad, the meeting was well attended. It differed from the majority of meetings, in that refreshments were served after, not before, the real business. The organization of Wayne county was completed and the captains of the soliciting teams of the various meetings were chosen.

Mable Edgerton Barden, Mrs. Williams Andrews, and L. A. Pearson were a special committee selected to receive pledges from the people of Goldsboro. For the other sections of the county the following leaders were selected: Bethesda, Virgil Pike, Mrs. Warren; Hood Swamp, Lesley Pierson and Thomas Smith; Neuse, Miss Beatrice Cox, New Hope, W. M. Moore, Mrs. Daniels, Miss Mary Daniels; Nahunta, Professor Earl Pearson. Mrs. Ivey Edgerton; Oakland, Addison Branson; Rhodes, John S. Moore; Woodland, Miss Frances Moore.

FROM THE PRESIDENT'S OFFICE

Guilford's greatest asset is her alumni and former students. Their interest and loyalty is a great source of gratification to those who carry on the work of the College.

Guilford's future depends very largely upon the quality of the incoming students. Now is the time for every friend of the College to present the splendid advantage of the small college, and especially the meritsof Guilford to the high school

Let us bring some splendid young men and weomen to Guilford next
