

SOCIETY NOTES

Philomatheans Give A Humorous Program

Humor was the predominating note of the Philomathean program on Friday evening in which both old and new members took part. Ruth Sampson and Geneva Fry contributed the first number, a vocal duet "Flow Gently Sweet Afton." This apparently is a favorite song among Guilford students and consequently was much enjoyed. Virginia Galloway then read "Girl," one of O. Henry's characteristic stories which never fail to appeal. Vida McCombs in an instrumental solo delighted her hearers with her rendition of "Polichinelle," by Serge Rachmanoff, and the reading of Riley's poem, "The Runaway," by Elmer Jones was also received with much interest.

Spirited Debate and Reading in "Web" Hall

A spirited debate and a splendid reading constituted the program of the Websterian literary Society last Friday evening.

The debate concerned a new phase of the immigration question, and was stated: "Resolved; that immigration to the United States should be further restricted by the use of a better educational test." The debate was won by the affirmative speakers, Fred Winn and Addison Smith. Wendell Cude, and Hershel Macon upheld the negative.

Gilmer Sparger read an interesting selection from Edgar A. Guest.

Several new men were present and made speeches. The society was pleased to receive Duke Morse and Fred Thomas as members.

Miss Cora Brown spent the week-end at her home in Pinnacle Mountain.

Distribution of Coal Discussed by Clays

The Henry Clay Literary society held its regular meeting in the Clay Hall, Friday night, October 5. A debate on the question: "Resolved, that the United States Government should control the coal distribution" was the first number on the program. The affirmative was upheld by Edwin Brown and French Smith who found the argument of Frank Crutchfield and John Cannon, representatives of the negative, too convincing to be defeated. The second number on the program was a Eulogy of Henry Clay by William Blair.

The society was glad to have as visitors, several new men and also was very glad to welcome into membership, Hardin Kimrey, Raymond Thomas and Clyde Rush.

Freshmen Members Give Zatasians Entertainment

The miscellaneous program of the Zatasian Literary society Friday evening, was presented entirely by Freshmen.

In, "College—from a Freshman's Viewpoint," Lola Beeson described in a forceful manner the dejected and pessimistic attitude with which a freshman first views college life. She explained with emphasis how new students gaze with admiration and longing upon the seniors and their privileges, and how insignificant they themselves seem in comparison. She compared the different feeling which one has toward college when one has remained there for only four weeks.

A violin solo "Love and Flowers," by Maie Hollady, was enjoyed to an unusual degree as a variation from the usual musical selections.

Gertrude Atkins read one of O. Henry's entertaining short stories entitled "A midsummer night's Dream." Julia Wolff gave a group of current events which were both interesting and informational. Zatasian Quips, by Elizabeth Harris, was last on the program and provided the spice of the evening.

Under miscellaneous business, the society gladly received Mary Fitzgerald into membership.

Entry in Fair

The Guilford College Poultry Department expects to enter one pen of Barred Rocks consisting of three pullets and one cockerel, and two single cockerels, in the poultry show at the Greensboro fair on October 9, 10, 11 and 12.

Frank Casey Talks to
Y. M. C. A. on Its purpose

At Y. M. C. A. last Thursday evening Frank Casey, the leader, took the local purpose of the Y. M. C. A. as his subject. He said that spiritual development is the main purpose of the local organization. He characterized the "Y" as the outstanding organization of the college.

M. H. Shore, after discussing the work of the organization in foreign countries, mentioned that the aim of Y. W. C. A. is to present a living Christianity to the world.

Prof. R. L. Newlin and Clyde Shore also made brief talks. The former said he had received great benefit from the meetings during the time he had been connected with the college. The latter affirmed that Guilford social events, and college Sunday school are the work of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. members.

Sunday Social Hour Featured with Talk by Mrs. Melton Davis

The Sunday afternoon social hour held this week by the social committee was featured by a ghost story told by Mrs. Milton Davis. Mrs. Davis entirely captivated her audience of men and women in the Zatasian society hall with a tale of Georgia negro life. She is quite skilful at imitating the negro dialect.

These Sunday afternoon hours are becoming increasingly popular, judging by the number that congregate at 5 o'clock.

In the near future the social committee, headed by Russell Branson, is planning to put on some feature programs, aside from the community singing which has been the main part of the menu in the past.
