$50,000 Is Goal Set For Christmas Seal Sale In N. C.

No less than $50,000 is to be the goal of the 1923 Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale in North Carolina. Last year the amount raised was $43,093. While the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association, under whose auspices the Tuberculosis Christmas Seals are sold in the State, feels that an increase of only $7,000 is too small an amount to work for, in view of the urgent needs that Christmas Seals money can be used to relieve, it urges every seal selling organization to increase its budget several thousand dollars and to work to double its sale if possible.

There are 150 Seal selling organizations in the State. These are composed of well trained women and men, leaders in their communities, who are responsible for the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals in their town and community between Thanksgiving and Christmas. In many places the Seal selling organization is the Health Department of the Woman's Club. In Raleigh the Seal Sale is conducted by the Health Department of the Woman's Club of which Miss Rose M. Ehrenfeld is Chairman. Mrs. C. A. Shore will have direct charge of the sale this year. In Durham the Seal Sale will also be under the auspices of the Woman's Club with Mrs. J. H. Epperson as Chairman. In Asheville, Mrs. J. M. Gudger, Jr., with a strong committee of business men and women will conduct the sale.

Last year Winston-Salem led not only the cities of the State in selling $7,000 worth of Seals but won National honors in making the largest per capita sale of any city in the United States having a population of 50,000. She proposes to increase her sale this year to $10,000.

THE NATIONAL CITIZENSHIP CONFERENCE

It was a big conference, that National Citizenship Conference held in Washington, October 13-15, 1923,—big in the way it faced the lawless drift of the day; big in the facts produced, and supremely big in the personnel of platform and audience.

Under leadership of such a man as Fred B. Smith and the committees associated with him—every one a name of national standing—and with all the religious, moral and educational force of the country represented and fitting so aptly into the public feeling of the moment, it could not be otherwise. It has given the whole nation a program big enough and broad enough to unite all who stand for law enforcement.

Not in all the years, it is my impression, has there been a conference connected with prohibition in which the university and college interests of the nation—president, professor, undergraduate and graduate—were more effectively represented.

The action of the student section was especially significant. The effect of the resolution undoubtedly will be to arouse the students in the colleges to take similar action through student bodies and other student groups. Especially may this be expected in those parts of the country where prohibition has been longer in operation, for the students of the Atlantic seaboard, as those in European countries, have little conception of the strength of student opinion in this respect in Central and Western States.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"The Student Section of the Citizenship Conference held at Washington, October 13-15, 1923, submits for the consideration of the student bodies of America the following proposition:

"That all student bodies throughout the nation be urged at this time to express their positive stand the question whether good citizenship does not require the unqualified observation of all law in letter and spirit, as such observance relates particularly to the question of enforcement of the Federal prohibition law.

"This conference is persuaded of the desirability of such action, our purpose being to enlist the support of this group of citizens."

Wants a Positive Cure for Tuberculosis

To search for a positive cure for tuberculosis must be the next step taken in the campaign against tuberculosis, declares Dr. Lawrason Brown, President of the National Tuberculosis Association. Dr. Brown urges more extensive research work on the part of tuberculosis workers and deplores the fact that the long search and the scantiness of financial reward has discouraged many brilliant scientists from entering the tuberculosis field.

Much valuable research work has been done by the medical staff of the North Carolina Sanatorium during the last three years. There were no funds available for this work except an appropriation of $1,000 annually by the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association, as the most of it necessarily had to be done by putting additional burdens on the medical staff. Every sanatorium for the treatment of tuberculosis owes it to the tuberculosis cause and to the people who have tuberculosis to conduct research activities.

Dr. Brown says further: "A complete eradication of tuberculosis must follow along one of two lines. First, by vaccination, or some other method of treatment which is as successful as the administering of quinine in malaria must be discovered. Another possibility is that pulmonary tuberculosis, like leprosy and typhus, will gradually recede until in countries with a high hygienic civilization it will be of slight importance."

But till such a cure is found, emphasizes Dr. Brown, the methods of cure and prevention that have already been found successful must be faithfully adhered to. He says, "At the present time public education in disease prevention, increased sanatorium facilities, and adequate after care in order to prevent a relapse are the best available means of still further reducing the mortality and case rates."
