"EVERYBODY'S QUAKER"

The senior class has adopted the slogan, "Everybody's Quaker" for the 1924 Annual. In order to make it "Everybody's Quaker" we are asking for the support of the students, faculty and alumni. The Quaker is a friend to everyone. This little "FRIEND" which has such a pleasing disposition, is worthy of your personal acquaintance. Not only will every loyal Guilfordian enjoy the companionship of this book, but it will introduce our college to everyone that comes in contact with it.

This Annual has already been introduced to the majority of the students and they were well pleased with it. But in order to make it a success the circulation must be 100% efficient among the friends of Guilford. You can make this Annual your Personal companion by sending a deposit of $1.00 to R. G. Lassiter, Circulation Mgr., Guilford College, N. C.

SOCIETY NOTES

Clays Debate Merits of U. S. Electoral College
 The Henry Clay Literary Society in its regular meeting in the Clay hall, Friday night, November 30th, featured a debate.

The first number on the program was a debate Resolved: that the Electoral College should be abolished and the presidents of the United States be elected by popular vote. The affirmative was defended by Friddle and McCollum while the negative argument was presented by Holt and Boose. The affirmative carried off the laurels in the form of the judges' decision.

The second number on the program was a reading by Earl Cummings.

The following officers were installed at this meeting: pres., William Blair of Greensboro; v. pres., Edward Holder of Tobaccoville; sec., John Reynolds of South Greensboro; assistant sec., James Barbee of Lexington; chaplain, Earl Cummings of Stokesdale; Censor, Glenn Lassiter of Mechanic; sgt. at arms, Max Kendall of Guilford College.

Thanksgiving Program Given By Philomatheans

The Philomatheans gave a Thanksgiving program on last Friday evening.

A paper by Ruth Ragsdale describing her first Thanksgiving Day at Guilford three years ago, was quite interesting and a similar one by Lucille Purdie describing Thanksgiving at the College in 1923 proved that the observance of the day is an important occasion from the standpoint of the student. Appropriate Thanksgiving poems from Edgar A. Guest and James Whitcomb Riley read by Viola Odom were apparently much enjoyed as was also Edith Hollowell's reading of the humorous selection "Teddy's Thanksgiving."

An interesting feature of the program was the debate; "Resolved that the wholesale slaughter of turkeys at Thanksgiving should be prohibited." In this the negative speaker Deborah Mendenhall won over the affirmative upheld by Alice Thompson. The musical number of the evening was contributed by Sara Southland with the violin solo "A Pleasant Evening." The Society was glad to have as a visitor Helen Robertson, a former Philomathean.

Zatasians Discuss Advanced

Position of Modern Women
 The program of the Zatasian Society, Friday evening, dealt with the advanced position of woman in the world.

In a paper on "Women's Changed Morals," Sarah Pinette traced the development of women's social privileges for the past few centuries, and likewise noted the world's modern conception of women's sphere. An article entitled "The Woman Voter in Germany," read by Edith Hedgecock, made an interesting number on the program as a parallel to that immediately following, concerning "The Woman Voter in America" which given by Ailene Beeson. These two papers exhibited the striking contrast both between the attitudes and the opportunities of the women voters of those two nations.

A piano solo by Margaret Townsend, and a vocal solo by Katie Lambeth comprised the musical part of the program.

The concluding number was a humorous reading "The Way of a Woman," given by Margaret Conrad. This was received with especial applause.

 in the Sunday School for a long time.

Lovable Personality

Mrs. Davis was a woman of rare intellect and lovable personality. It was the privilege of many people to know her intimately and all who came in contact with her loved and admired her and felt the influence of her strong character and sweet spirit.

Survivors

Besides her husband, Professor J. Franklin Davis, she is survived by three step-children; Mr. Henry Davis of High Point, Mrs. E. C. Winslow of Tarboro, Mrs. C. S. McArthur, and by one half brother Mr. E. S. Mendenhall of Long Beach, California.

 his committee will publish its report, depending on public opinion for results.

So many university heads have declined to recommend men to positions on the Tennessee Faculty that Tennessee officials are said to be eager to clear their skirts.

New England Athletics

Athletes who have transferred from one college to another will be eligible to participate in sports other than those in which they won varsity letters, under a new ruling of the New England College Conference on Intercollegiate Athletics, adopted at the annual meeting here today.

No other changes in the rules were made, and delegates declared themselves gratified over the results obtained in the first year of the existence of the conference. The delegates re-elected President R. D. Hetzel of New Hampshire University as President of the conference and Professor E. T. Huddleston of New Hampshire University as Secretary and Treasurer.
