

ALUMNI NEWS

NOTE: All Old Students and Alumni who are planning to come to the College for the big homecoming at commencement will do the Guilfordian a special favor if they will send a card to the Registrar, Guilford College, stating their intention. A list of those planning to be here will be published in this column each week.

The following Alumni have said that they are hoping to be present at the home coming next commencement:

- Clare Davis, '13.
- Mrs. C. S. McArthur (Anna Davis '13).
- Hugh Stewart, '13.
- Mrs. Russell Wood (Ella Young '13).
- Alva E. Lindley, '08.
- Mrs. R. B. Wilson (Mabelle Raiford, '08).

1904.

D. Ralph Parker, '04, is a resident salesman in the Southern Furniture Exposition Building, High Point, representing ten of the larger High Point furniture factories. He is a member of the executive committee of the district council of Boy Scouts, and president of the Kiwanis Club. He is an active member of the Friends Church and teacher of a class of young men in the Friends Sunday school.

Mr. Parker is a member of the Board of Trustees of Guilford College and has the welfare of the college very much at heart. He has made a rather large contribution to the endowment fund and was one of the most active workers in the Guilford endowment campaign in his home town.

The city of High Point likes Guilford men, or, perhaps, Guilford men like High Point. Any way, Mr. Parker says:

"At least fifty per cent of the business concerns in High Point are headed by Guilfordians or have Guilfordians in responsible positions."

1908.

A few days ago Dr. Binford received a letter from Mrs. R. B. Wilson (Mabelle Raiford, '03) which she inclosed a pledge of $125.00 to the endowment fund. She stated her intention of being present at the home coming at commencement.

1911.

Jennie and Lillie Bulla have for the past three years been living in Florida. They have an apartment at 115 Euclid Ave., Leesburg, Fla. Jennie takes care of the domestic side of the firm while Lillie teaches history in the high school. Lillie attended the University of Florida during the summer of 1923. For a year before going to Florida she did welfare work in connection with clerical work at Badin, N. C.

Both Jennie and Lillie are members of the class of 1911. Both were good students while at Guilford, Lillie having won the Marvin Hardin and the Bryn Mawr scholarships. Both were good workers in the various college activities, especially in the Y. W. C. A., and as members of the Quaker Staff and Collegian Staff.

Kinnie T. Futrell, '13, is superintendent of the Department of Public Welfare of Pitt County. His address is Greenville, N. C. He has recently made a pledge of $150.00 to the endowment fund of Guilford.

GUILFORD BIDS YOU—COME ONE, COME ALL.

DEAR FRIEND:

What a wonderful day it will be when we gather on the old Campus. June 2, the Big Home Coming Day and Jubilee to celebrate the completion of the Half Million Dollar Endowment Campaign will draw more people to the College than have ever been there before. Everybody will come to see everybody else. Dr. L. L. Hobbs, Miss Louise, Prof. Davis, Miss Benbow, President Binford and Dr. Perisho, besides all the graduates and old students, will welcome you.

You drank at the fountain of knowledge, you became a part of Guilford College, a part of each teacher, a part of each college mate and as a result you have a keener intellect, better poise, and a broader vision.

I want you to come to Guilford College June 2, for the Big Home Coming. This is the biggest thing Guilford College has ever accomplished. Let's "Rejoice and Be Glad," together and show the world that we are proud of dear old Guilford.

A letter just received from Colonel W. A. Blair, reads as follows: "Dear Smithdeal: It is a fine thing for you to send out letters and to take such an interest in the Big Home Coming at Guilford. It will be a fine thing, too, for every person who has ever been in school there to be present upon this interesting occasion. It is a great idea. I expect to be on hand and enjoy every minute of the day. I am going to write to some of those who were in college with me to come also. Let us all mark down this day, as a reserved date, and urge all the old students we know to meet us upon this interesting occasion. It is a great idea, a great day, a great college, and a great body of graduates and old students.

Get ready now to rub shoulders with your old school mates, to be boys and girls together, just for a day. It will give you a new inspiration in your life's work to meet with your old friends.

"With best wishes, Wm. A. Blair."

Come one, Come all.

C. C. Smithdeal,
President of Guilford College, Alumni Asso.,
P. O. Box 1695, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Mr. Futrell is a member of the class of 1913. While at Guilford he was a member of the Collegian Staff, of the Biblical Seminar, and of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet. He was president of his class and of the Websterian Literary Society. He was also Track Manager and a member of the champion class tennis team.

1920.

Frances Moore, '20, is teaching Junior High School work in the Selma High School. She attended the summer session at the University of North Carolina during the summer of 1923. Miss Moore writes thus:

"I can only say that I appreciate more each day the training and ideals I received at Guilford. I don't think that in any college in the State is there so much stress laid upon character building. Of course, I appreciate the academic training I received there also but I appreciate far more the ideals of character and a truly worthwhile life. The influences received there have been a great help to me and I am anxious to see Guilford grow and have a bigger opportunity to be of service to the youths of the State."

While at Guilford Miss Moore took much interest in college activities, especially in the Y. W. C. A. She was president of the Association in her senior year and was at another time a member of the cabinet. She was also president of the Philomathean Society and the winner in a Philomathean oratorical contest.

Ruth Outland, '22, is teaching Social Studies in the Junior and Senior at Roanoke Rapids, N. C. She is also club director of scout work for Halifax County. During the past summer she attended Harvard University. While at Harvard, she visited many historical places in and around Boston and made a tour to western Massachusetts over the Mohawk Trail.

1923.

Zola McCracken, '23, is teacher of Home Economics in the Catawba County Farm Life School at Newton, N. C.

society. And, too, there was music, furnished by several vocally inclined musicians, girls from the college, accompanied by twanging ukeleles. The waitresses were also college girls, dressed attractively in white Hoover costumes trimmed with green ribbon and green shamrocks.

The wailing charm of the ukeleles, and the soft greenish glow of the shaded lights—all this was overpowered by some mysterious unknown outside attraction, and the couples, after they had finished their suppers, spent elsewhere the remainder of the precious time allowed them.

It is necessary to say only one thing more to prove that the affair was a complete success. Fifty dollars was the sum taken in by the Christian Endeavor society. This is almost twice as much as they had hoped to receive. Miss Maude Simpson, the president of the society, was hostess for the evening.

Hoffmann in the French department. Miss Elliott has studied at the University of Toronto and at McGill University.

Samuel P. Haworth, for four years Pastor of the Friends Church, High Point, N. C., who is at present traveling in Europe, has also been secured for the Guilford faculty. Owing to his studies abroad, both at Oxford University and in Egypt, he will probably not arrive until the spring of 1925 to begin his work here in the Religious Education Department.

Algie I. Newlin, an alumnus of the college, who is now teaching at Pacific College will teach in the history department, taking the place of Mr. Ancombe, who is planning to study at the University of North Carolina next year. Mr. Newlin was graduated from Guilford in the class of 1921 and has since done graduate work at Haverford College and at Columbia University.

Miss Marie Beaman spent Sunday in Burlington.
