Guilford downed Elon in the annual baseball scrap in Greensboro on Easter Monday by a score of 6-5. "Shirt" Smith, the Quaker pitcher, had better support than Barker, the Elon moundsman, which helped in the victory.

Guilford hopped off in the initial inning with a one run lead. Elon evened the score in the second. In the 3rd inning the Quakers pushed three markers across the plate, another in the 4th and another in the 7th which seemingly gripped the game for the Crimson and Gray, until Elon staged a strong rally in the eighth frame, sending three men across, but failing to tie the score.

Hits for the two teams were the same, but Guilford's counted for the most, Elon failing to hit at the opportune time.

April 23

The Quakers defeated Atlantic Christian College by a score of 15-1 on Hobb's Athletic field.

Coach Doak's sluggers continually showed their mettle through the entire game. They jumped on Summerell, Atlantic Christian College pitcher, in the third inning, and knocked him for a "farewell." He was called from the mound in favor of Suitt, but without avail against the Quaker batsmen.

A hit by Bernhill, a sacrifice by Summerell and a couple of Guilford errors in the third inning netted the visitors their only tally.

Brilliant field work by "Block" Smith and Frank Smithdeal was one of the features of the game. Smithdeal also had a good day at the bat. He lined out two bingles that went for three baggers.

The Christians made six errors.

HARRIET ELLIOT N. C. C. W. ADDRESSES C. E. SOCIETIES

Miss Harriet Elliot, of the North Carolina College for Women, spoke to the Junior and Senior Christian Endeavor Societies Sunday evening on "The Present Day Problems of World Peace."

Miss Elliot stated that at present the times are more favorable to the advancement of peace plans than at any time prior to the outbreak of the world war. Considering the many difficulties that have come as a result of the war, this method of settling disputes stirs up more difficulties than it settles. She also spoke of the large number of organizations for the maintenance of peace which defeat the very ends they wish to further by refusing to combine and follow a unified plan.

In discussing the possible solution for the war problems, Miss Elliot spoke of the necessity of some world organization like the League of Nations or the World Court. She appealed to those present to acquaint themselves with these organizations before allowing themselves to be pre-judged against them. She related numerous personal experiences of hearing public speakers denounce the League of Nations, the World Court and other documents before the people for consideration, who upon being questioned, confessed that they had never read these documents themselves.

Miss Elliot's speech was one of a series of special addresses that have been arranged for the Christian Endeavor meetings and which will continue during the coming few weeks.

GLEE CLUB ENTERTAINS LARGE AUDIENCE IN THE ROBERT E. LEE BALLROOM

Club Sang Its Best For Winston-Salem People; In Greensboro May 7

On last Thursday night every seat in the Robert E. Lee Hotel ballroom was occupied when the college glee club played to the most appreciative audience that it has entertained this year.

The climax of the performance came when the entire club sang "That Old Gang of Mine." Sighs could be heard throughout the audience and it seemed as though many hearts were turned back to the good old days when they were out with the gang.

Of Mr. Pamplin's violin solo the Winston-Salem Journal says: "The audience was held spell-bound by Schubert's Ave Maria and a storm of applause followed." His encore, "A Perfect Day," was interpreted with a skill in the double stop passages that only a master possesses.

Prof. —, former director of the Cornell University glee club congratulated the Quaker organization saying that "It was a club of which any college might be proud. The program was well planned for variety, and was ably executed affording entertainment of the highest type."

The club sang best in the two dramatic numbers, "Invictus" and "Song of the Volga Boatmen." The Serenade by Schubert, was also given with poise, demonstrating the ability of the club to maintain perfect control.

The oddity of the Wooden Soldiers' Parade attracted the audience, and critics pronounced it a faithful reproduction of parts of the original.

The club closes its schedule with the home concert Saturday night and the appearance at the "Grand Theatre" in Greensboro next Wednesday night.

CHARLOTTE WINS FIELD HONORS IN ANNUAL HIGH SCHOOL MEET

Edith McFarnahan, of Durham, And Allen Boren of Pomona Win Declamation Contests

Allen Boren, of Pomona, won the declaimer's medal in the finals of the state high school day contest. Miss Edith McFarnahan, of Durham, won the prize given for the best recitation. The contest took place before a packed house, the aisles and back part of the room being filled with standers.

There were 55 speakers from high schools of North Carolina who registered to try out in the preliminaries. Of these, the eight selected who spoke in the public program follow: Mary Morris, of Walkertown; Joe Carlton, of Winston-Salem; Mildred Poe, of Winston-Salem; Allen Boren, of Pomona; Edith McFarnahan, of Durham; Arthur Thompson, of Vass; Ruth Lowdermilk, of Thomasville orphanage; William Farthing, of Durham.

PROF. MOWRY TALKS ON FOREST CONSERVATION

Prof. Mowry gave a very interesting talk in chapel Friday morning on forest protection. He showed that the wonderful forest resources of America have, through inexcusable prodigality, been largely exhausted. Twenty-five billion feet of timber is used yearly, while an amount almost equally large is wasted.

"In America," asserted Prof. Mowry, "fifty-six million acres of forest land are devastated by forest fires each year, while to meet the use and waste of fifty million billion board feet of lumber each year there is a natural growth of six billion feet. Twenty-five per cent of the yellow pine cut yearly is wasted. In North Carolina, according to State Forester, J. S. Holmes, five hundred thousand acres annually are burned over."

"The forest resources are more valuable than the tobacco or cotton crop of North Carolina. Twenty million board feet are sawed annually. In number of species of native trees, North Carolina takes a very rank, twenty-three species of oak alone being found within her borders."

As the three chief causes of forest fires Mr. Mowry named sparks from railroad engines, bonfires of rubbish, and the carelessness of many smokers. He stated that trees on burnt-over land, if not actually killed by fire, are rendered very susceptible to disease.

"Wood is truly an indispensable material," asserted the speaker, "in all industries it is necessary. New England which in 1800 furnished the greater part of the timber of the country is treeless now, while the South, the supply center for lumber now, if the present consumption and waste continues, can supply no more in fifteen years."

Charlotte High Makes Final Capture of Silver Loving Cup

SCORES 33½ POINTS

Greensboro Second With 20 Points; Chapel Hill 18

For a second time the Charlotte high school carried away the laurels in the field and track events at Guilford's annual high school day held here Saturday. Charlotte scored 33 1-2 points against the 20 points of Greensboro and the 18 points of Chapel Hill, her two most successful rivals. The events were staged before the largest crowd of people and carried out by the largest number of contestants that has ever participated in a contest of its kind held at Guilford. Two hundred high school representatives were registered.

The preliminary contests were held in a cold drizzling rain. The field during the forenoon was slippery and for this reason none of the events showed a great deal of spirit. However, as the weather brightened up the field dried off and in the afternoon the track was in fairly good shape.

The first event of the day, the discus throw, was won by McPherson, of Burlington, whose distance was 94 feet. His next best rivals were Newman, of Winston-Salem, and Sellars, of Greensboro, with a record of 82 feet, 10 inches and 80 feet, 4 inches, respectively.

McIver, of Chapel Hill, won the shot put with a record of an even 40 feet. Woodward of Statesville and Daniels of High Point followed with scores of 35 feet, 4 inches, and 33 feet, 9 inches, respectively.

In the javelin throw, McIver, of Chapel Hill, also headed the list, throwing the spear 146 feet, 9 inches. McPherson, of Burlington, made a record of 121 feet, 4 inches, followed closely by Harris, of Thomasville orphanage, whose record was 119 feet.

In the broad jump contest, McDaniel, of Rockingham high school covered 19 feet, one inch, winning over Hutchens, of Winston-Salem, and Rowe, of Charlotte, whose records were 18 feet, 8 1-2 inches, and 17 feet, 7 inches, respectively.

Smith of Charlotte took first place in the hundred yard dash. His time was 10 4-5 seconds. Wilkins of Greensboro and Hutchens of Winston-Salem took close second and third places, respectively.
