

THE GUILFORDIAN

VOL. XII.

GUILFORD COLLEGE, N. C., DECEMBER 2, 1925

NO. 10.

GUILFORD PRE-SEASON CAGERS WIN ANOTHER FROM DRAPER Y. M. C. A.

New Members Of Squad Doing Splendid Work

Saturday night the Quaker pre-season basketball team forecasted a favorable season by piling up a score of 54 to 21 on the Draper Y. M. C. A. aggregation. The whole contest smacked of good, cool, scientific, basketball on the part of the local team. The quint went into the game, evidently with the aim of chalking up twelve points to the quarter. At any rate, when the half was up, the score indicated an even two dozen. Their rate of scoring in the third was increased by two points; in the fourth they "made assurance doubly sure" by salting away an extra half dozen points besides their scheduled dozen.

At the end of the first half, the visitors had only found the hoop with three field goals and a foul shot. But with opening of the second act their defense stiffened and they became more active on the offense. A number of times their right forward worked his way under the goal for a crisp shot and was successful in making the affair

(Continued on page 3.)

"STEW" ON THANKSGIVING NIGHT A BIG SUCCESS

Developments since Thanksgiving night, which have mainly resulted in a consensus of opinion being arrived at, point to the fact that of all the programs staged at Guilford Thursday, the Stew was the biggest success. And this success was achieved too, in spite of the fact that the last ladle of the splendid Brunswick concoction had hardly been baled out when a pelting rain began to drive the constituents of the festive party to shelter.

Someone has lately remarked that there is "a great deal in a stew." It is generally agreed that there must have been a great deal in this particular stew. Through the long dark hours Wednesday night the wild revels of the chefs could be heard as they plucked the fowl "furnished" by the day students for the coming feast. From the reports of those who roomed nearest to the abodes of the culinary artists, the capped and aproned masters of the pot spent a night of wassail as well as labor.

A recent attempt to find out the names of all those who deserve credit for the excellent "feed" revealed the names of a large number. It seems that Prof. "Chem" Smith was Chef-in-chief of the affair, and that he was assisted by Rufus "Shad" Smith who served as chief Chef-de-camp. Other lesser dignitaries who were none the less concerned in the excellent work were: Perry Bryant, Chief-Ladler; Earl Henley, Cracker-Dispenser; Patrick Stuart, Fire-Chunker; Waldo Williams, Master of China and Silverware; Sydney Winslow, Auditor-of-Com-

(Continued on page 2.)

GUILFORD STUDENTS VOTE TO ENTER THE WORLD COURT OF INTERNATIONAL JUSTICE

"ADAM AND EAV" TO BE AN INTERESTING DRAMA

Strong Cast Will Soon Be Staging Final Rehearsals

With final rehearsals only two weeks away, "Adam and Eva," the fall play of mishaps and clever dialogue, is fast being rounded into presentable form, and is shaping itself into the proper number of acts, love scenes and comedy hits.

The main problem about which this mirth-provoking farce revolves, is how to make a wealthy man's family see that there is something else in life other than bills, dresses, and teas. Moore Rabb, as Adam, a young home-loving man, who is put in charge of the King family in the father's absence promptly decides to take them out to an old farm, far away from city distractions and there bring to a more rational state of mind. However as he reckons without Eva the youngest daughter of his adopted family—with whom he soon falls hopelessly in love—

(Continued on page 4.)

THANKSGIVING SERVICE HELD AT MEETINGHOUSE

A thanksgiving Service was held at the Church on Thanksgiving morning for the public and the college students. The service was conducted by Joseph Peele. Samuel Haworth taking charge of a Thanksgiving response, in which the whole congregation took part. Two selections were sung by the new choir. Which is under the direction of Samuel Keen.

In his sermon Joseph Peele said that Thanksgiving Day was one of our best holidays. The idea originated in this country, with the Week of Thanksgiving, which was held by the Pilgrims after their first successful year, and when their harvest proved good. Their idea may have come from the Week of Thanks observed in the Bible. Later, this week was made into one national holiday.

"It is necessary that we have three things in order to be thankful; appreciation of values, sharing with someone and friends and especially a friendship with God. We also desire to have three things in our lives; joy, friendship and eternal life. No life would be complete without its periods of joy, sorrow and friendships. Each perfect life is crowned with eternal life and to gain this we must have a friendship with Jesus Christ. By living in his ways and following his precepts we receive our three great desires. It is for our possession of so many material and spiritual things and for our great friendships and our Great Friend Jesus Christ that we are thankful."

Discussion Of Permanent Court Terminates With Ballot Which Proves Favorable To Adhesion Of U. S. To Court

VOTE WAS 227-30

Professor Newlin, Doctor Hobbs, John Webb Cannon, Doctor Perisho And Professor Davis Speak

In the beginning of each of the past four centuries the world has been involved in great armed conflict. In the beginning of the sixteenth century, after the War of the Spanish Succession and after the Napoleonic wars, there was much discussion of plans for international peace. Now, after the loss of the great war of worlds history the discussion of means settling international disputes has become more general. For several years the United States has taken an active part in trying to organize a World Court for peace. But after the Court has been organized and is now meeting success the United States hesitates in giving her support.

Personnel Of Court

"The permanent Court of International Justice is provided for in article 14 of the Covenant of the League of Nations. The personnel of the court is composed of eleven justices and four deputy justices. Each judge serves nine years and may be re-elected. These judges are nominated by the permanent Court of Arbitration, and elected by the Council and the Assembly of the League of Nations, voting, separately." Mr. Newlin said that of the eleven judges that now compose the court seven of them have been Professors of International law in one of the leading universities of their own country. Four of them have sat on the bench of the highest court of their land.

Fearing lest his audience should confuse the International Court of Arbitration with the International Court of Justice. Mr. Newlin explained that the two organizations were entirely different. The International Court of Arbitration, he explained is a court where disputes are settled by a compromise. Neither side, in many cases receives justice. On the other hand the International Court of Justice is a court where the disputes are settled by eleven unbiased judges, skilled in international law, who hear the evidence on both sides and give their decision just as the Supreme Court of the United States.

Hobbs and Cannon Speak

On Tuesday morning an open forum was held in which Mr. J. W. Cannon and Dr. L. L. Hobbs gave the principle objections to and arguments in favor of the court of International Justice.

Doctor Hobbs, elected to point out the favorable points for the Court. He stated at the outset that he would quote freely from recognized authorities on the subject. "Civilization," he said, "now has at its service a Permanent Court of International Justice, established by the ratification of 48 nations, available all the time for the settlement of disputes between nations on the basis of justice. "Could you settle disputes on any other than a basis of justice?" Again he said, "after he had mentioned the weaknesses of the Hague Court, 'the League's Court of Justice on the other hand, has its fixed personnel, elected for the term of nine years with salaries ranging from $6,000 to $24,000 a year, depending upon the days of actual service. The system thus affords an opportunity for growth in judicial experience and

(Continued on page 3.)

FRIENDS OF GUILFORD'S ATHLETICS WILL HOLD A MEETING HERE DEC. 12

To Discuss Future Athletic Policy

December 12, a group of former Guilford athletes will assemble here to discuss Guilford's athletic policy for the future. The rather distasteful football season is bringing to a head sentiment which should have been working more forcefully for the past few years, namely; a means of getting suggestions and co-operation from men who have played on the various athletic teams, and from those who are loyal supporters of the college physical training department.

The Guilford Letter Men's Club has been functioning for the past few years and has done some valuable work. This club is, this year, promoting a campaign to enable a few students who have made good scholastic records to secure needed loans which will aid them in defraying college expenses. The meeting on December 12, which is not called by the Letter Men's Club, will likely take up a discussion of ways and means of rehabilitating football at this institution. The men who have been invited to attend this meeting are representatives of the different teams and different classes and are from various sections of North Carolina.

HOPI INDIANS PERFORM SACRED DANCES HERE

Ancient Religious Rites Arouse Interest Of Student Body

Last Tuesday afternoon Guilford students enjoyed one of the most unique entertainments given here this year. A band of Hopi Indians gave some of their tribal dances and songs. This was followed by a display of various articles made by them.

The first part of the program was a traditional play skit given in the native Indian tongue. Two heroes contested for the daughter of the chief by shooting arrows at a target. The winner got the girl for his wife but the Indian race lost some of the admiration of the small boys on the front row when one of the arrows missed the target entirely. Indians, in their estimation, should be able to shoot a bow today as well as in the olden times. The bride walked nonchalantly in and was 'drup' off.

The second part was an exhibition of war dances and songs. To the beating of a large tom-tom, which was made by skins stretched over the end of a hollow log, the Indians gave their tribal snake dance and war dances. Several "real live" snakes were used in the snake dance. The dancers put them in their mouths to signify their friendship with the reptiles. This of course was highly entertaining to the girls, as was shown by the many little screeches of delight followed by stock feminine remarks used sometimes in connection with a mouse. Following this was an interpretation of jazz. Needless to say, this was rather awe-provoking to say the least. The main instrument used was a turtle shell rubbed with a notched stick.

At the conclusion of the regular program, everyone passed across the stage and looked at the exhibition of beadwork, leatherwork and weaving. One of the Indians was weaving a blanket on loom that had been in the tribe for generations.

This band of Indians has come from its reserve 150 miles north of Phoenix Arizona, and is on its way to Washington to petition the President to remove

(Continued on page 3.)

LENOIR-RHYNE DEFEATS GUILFORD IN THE FINAL GRID CONTEST OF YEAR

Heavy Mountain Team Have Little Trouble With Light Quaker Warriors

The Guilford Football season came to a close Thursday afternoon when the Quakers were swamped by the Lenoir-Rhyne College team with a score of 41 to 0.

The holiday game marked the worst defeat of the year for the Quakers. The Lutherans did not fail to realize from the very start of the game that it was a day for celebration and from the first sound of the whistle the outcome was never in doubt.

Lenoir did their scoring the first and fourth quarters, registering three touchdowns and a placekick in the first period. However, the Quaker defense stiffened in the second and third quarter, but their offensive failed to get them further than the 20-yard line. The feature of the game was the strong running attack of the Lenoir backfield. Cox, Baldwin and Owl played sensationally, Cox making a run of 90 yards from the kick-off for a touchdown in the first quarter.

For Guilford, Elbert at left tackle, stood out on the defense. He was the outstanding player in the Guilford Line. Hendrickson and Robertson played consistently and gave good account of themselves behind the line.

The Quakers were badly handicapped by the absence of Reece, Parrish, Holt and Lindley, varsity linesmen, and White and Kimrey, the two star back-field men.

Line up:
Lenoir-Rhyne	Pos.	Guilford
Moretz	R. E.	Edwards
Beam	R. T.	Tew
Hoover	R. G.	Harrell
Overcash	C.	Warrick
Steelman	L. G.	Hoyle
Hook	L. T.	Ebert
Paysour	L. E.	Trivette
Owl	I. H. B.	McBane
Whilsenhunt	R. H. B.	Robertson
Cox		Taylor

(Continued on page 3.)

DOCTOR BINFORD GOES TO CHARLESTON S. C.

Dr. Raymond Binford, president of Guilford College left last Monday morning to spend the major part of this week at the meeting of the association of Southern Colleges. This meeting is held in Charleston South Carolina from December first to fourth inclusive. Dr. Binford carried with him a complete report covering the financial and literary standing of the college. He will return to the college on Thursday night or Friday morning.

MRS. W. C. BLAIR DIES AT HER HOME HERE

Mrs. W. C. Blair, sister of Miss Sallie Benbow matron of Founders Hall, died at her at Guilford College Wednesday afternoon, November 25, at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Blair had been in declining health for several months and her death was expected.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Joseph H. Peele at the Blair home on Thursday afternoon, interment following in the New Garden Cemetery.

Mrs. Blair is the daughter of the late Jesse and Anna Clark Benbow of Oak Ridge.

The Dramatic Council Presents
"Adam and Eva"
DEC. 12 - SATURDAY NIGHT - DEC. 12
Admission $1.00 -- All Seats Reserved

Write H. O. Smith.