March 2, 1927

THE GUILFORDIAN

Line up:

Guilford

SOCIETY NOTES

PHIL NOTES

President Louise White Secretary Annie Wagoner Marshal Rosa Mae Proctor

"The Year's Festivals" was the theme of the Philomathean Literary Society program last Friday night.

The society hall was lighted in a way to give a twilight effect for several of the numbers. The first number, an introduction, was given by Kathleen Reynolds. Miss Reynolds told why such a program was to be given.

"The Origin and Customs of New Year" was discussed by Myrtle Richardson. Ruby Hall represented Saint Valentine's Day in costume and recited an original poem.

All Fools' Day, Easter, Hallowe'en, Thanksgiving and Christmas were discussed and the origin of each given. Espie Neece explained the origin and customs of Thanksgiving. The fellowship between the white man and Indian was brought out by costume illustration of a Pilgrim Father-Elizabeth Braswell, and an Indian, Nellie Thomas, as they sat together in the twilight and smoked the "pipe of peace."

The last number was a representation of Christmas and the Christmas spirit. This festival was represented by Adalia Futrelle in costume, and Sallie Wilkins gave an effective explanation of its meaning.

ZAY NOTES

President Lola Beeson Vice-President .. Mary Frances Turner Secretary Berta Hollady Treasurer Sudie Cox Marshall Mary Neal

"The Living Music of American Youth" was the subject of the program of the regular meeting of the Zatasian Literary Society last Friday evening.

Carrie Teague and Isabella Jinnette, dressed as two small girls in redchecked pinafores, first entered and sang a duet, "I Don't Want to Play in Your Back Yard," accompanied by Frances Osborne. Their very clever impersonation of the song was a fitting beginning for the program. The "Life of Irving Berlin" was reviewed by Aileen Beeson. She showed in her paper the settings which caused this "Jazz King" to write a number of his songs that have taken American youth by storm. Bernice Henley, Catherine Cox, and Frances Osborne sang "If I Knew I'd Find You," by Irving Berlin. The fourth number, "At Dusk," was very successfully interpreted by Myray Gamble, who by candle-light played the guitar and sang several selections. In the same soft light, the last number, "The Dance," by Mabel Shipp, was very effective.

President Hardin Kimrey Vice-President Ira Newlin Secretary Alden Hunt Chaplain Byron Haworth Censor Paul Reynolds Sergeant-at-Arms Hale Newlin

CLAY NOTES

Miscellaneous is the word that best describes the program of the Henry Clay Literary Society for last Friday night. Theodore Daub gave a graphic and vivid account of the life of North Carolina's venerable statesman. Henry Clay. He set forth the contributions of "the great pacificator" to the Union and laid special emphasis on his devotion to this country.

A brief interesting account of the life of Washington was given by Hale New- the line-up and Elon got the tip-off conlin. He gave the important events in the life of "The Father of Our Country" and enumerated some of his contributions to the United States.

An extemporaneous debate: "Resolved, That bobbed hair is detrimental to the morals of women" caused the society much merriment. Worth Mackie presented the affirmative argument, while Waldo Williams upheld the negative.

WEB NOTES

Vice-President Robert Atkinson Secretary Warren Taylor Marshal Joseph Westmoreland The Websterian Literary Society enjoyed a brief program Friday night. February 25, 1927. The main feature of the evening was a debate, "Resolved That the inter-allied war debt should be cancelled." The affirmative side was well represented by Graham Allan and Ralph Richardson, who argued that the war was part ours from the beginning and should we now play the part of Shylock and watch the other nations Guilford go to destruction? Reuben Bundy cred- Griffin (4) Newman (17) itably upheld the negative side, propounding such strong argument that he Coltrane Sims (8) won the judges' decision. He argued that the war was not our war and Yelverton (3) Caddell (1) should we mercilessly waste our nation's wealth with petty disputes of other countries?

The second and last number was "My Autobiography," by Paul Jassimedes.

Sometimes we quite pride ourselves upon our ability to "size up" people, to distinguish skilfully and unerringly between the worthy and worthless, the genuine and the veneered. But who among us has the courage conscientiously or critically to turn the microscopic eye upon himself, or put himself in the scales balance by his own judg-ment—Shreveport Hi Life, Shreveport, Louisian Louisiana.

One dollar today is worth two to-morrow.—Benjamin Franklin.

Pamperin (11) Bock Ayers (6) Kelly (6) Sub: Elon, Gaebel for Bock, Briggs (2) for Sims. Guilford, Coble (2) for Coltrane, Marshall (2) for Ayers.

HIGH POINT WINS

Guilford ended her court season Friday night with a lose. High Point took the Quakers into camp to the tune of 30-18. The first few minutes of the game looked like a riot. The Panthers got going and couldn't stop for almost a quarter. This lead they piled up was never threatened by Guilford. Both teams played good basketball the second half, but not good enough to change the winners' end of the scoring much. The first half ended 18-5 in favor of High Point.

Thompson and Mitchell each scored 11 points for the visitors and Mulligan kept things moving with good passing and floor work. It was this rapid-fire team work that floored the Quaker quint.

In the second half, as always, Guilford came out of her stupor and began to show signs of life. They played good ball, exceptional basket ball for them, but they could not win nor even attain a threatening position. Pamperin led

29:

again. President Thomas Hadley

the Newest in SPRING DRESSES and YOUNG MEN'S CLOTHES Here Belk's Lower Prices BELK'S

(1)

Belk's Dep't Store

You Can Find

the scoring for the Quakers with six, with Ayres close to him with five points. HIGH POINT, N. C. Line up: J. ELWOOF Cox, President Guilford High Point C. M. HAUSER, Active Vice-President Griffin (2) Brasser (4) R.F. V. A. J. IDOL, Vice-President and Trust Officer Pamperin (6) Mulligan (4) C. H. MARRINER. Cashier L.F. Moore (1) Thompson (11) Capital and Surplus $1,200,000 С. Ayers (5) Mitchell (11) R.G. Coltrane (4) Hill We Handle LIME, CEMENT, PLASTER, PAINTS, ELECTRIC FIXTURES L.G. and GENERAL HARDWARE GUILFORD HARDWARE CO. Did you hear about the Scotchman who fried his bacon in Lux to keep it PHONE 275 528 South Elm Street from shrinking?-The Periscope.