NUMBER 1

Pat Crawford Begins His Duties as Coach

GOOD PROSPECTS

Is Rapidly Whipping Team Into Shape for First Game With Roanoke on Saturday

TWO WORKOUTS EACH DAY

Many New Men Ready to Fill Vacated Positions—Circumstances Indicate Training Rules Will Be Kept

Coach "Pat" Crawford arrived on the Guilford campus on September 7 and immediately went to work with the material present.

Among those on hand were Captain Robertson, Hoyle, Moon Marshall, Parrish and Trivette, last year letter men. Coach Crawford began the preliminary season with two practices a day, consisting of calisthenics, blocking, charging and tackling, along with two blackboard drills each day. Daily workouts have gone on with a great deal of pep and enthusiasm.

The fundamentals were stressed the first week, but during the last week signal drills and scrimmages have taken place of fundamentals. A great deal of place kicking and drop-kicking has been practiced. This part of the game has been stressed more than heretofore. Punting and passing have been in order also for the past few days.

Coach Crawford will have the task of replacing three letter men in the backfield and four letter men in the line. Lindley, left tackle, did not return to school, as did not Turner, White and Beatty, center, fullback and halfback, respectively. Tew, Ebert and Kimrey were lost through graduation.

To fill in these positions Coach Crawford has Stanley Moore, halfback of last year's team, although not a regular, who is very fast; Wooten, freshman with four years' high school experience at half; Parrish, who has been shifted from end to fullback. Ragan and Francis look good at tackle and guard. Trivette has been shifted to

MRS. EDITH WARRICK GETS B. A. DEGREE

Completed the Requirements for the Degree of Bachelor of Arts in the Summer Session

A college commencement in September is a rare thing, but Friday morning's chapel exercises was the scene of such an occasion. The degree of bachelor of arts was conferred upon Edith Hedgecock Warrick, who completed her work for a degree by doing summer school work. Students finishing their required work for a degree in summer school are usually awarded diplomas at the educational session of the Yearly Meeting. Since the summer school was not completed by Yearly Meeting time, it was necessary to devote a chapel period to the conferring of this degree.

The commencement address for the occasion was delivered by Elton Trueblood, professor of philosophy and psychology, and dean of men. To disprove the idea that a person could not be a specialist in more than one field, Professor Trueblood told the story of the life of Albert Schweitzer, who first became noted as a musician. Later he became a philosopher and famous writer and thinker. After he reached middle age he was called to the mission field and began the study of medicine in order that he might go to Africa as a medical missionary.

HOWARD TRIVETTE SENIOR PRESIDENT

Worth Mackie Is Elected Vice-President and Ruby Hall Secretary

COMMITTEES APPOINTED

At the first regular meeting of the Senior class on Tuesday evening, September 20, new officers for the coming semester were elected. Howard Trivette, of Winston-Salem, was elected president. Those to serve with him are: Vice-president, Worth Mackie, of Yadkinville; secretary, Ruby Hall, of Roseboro; assistant secretary, Lois Atkinson of Guilford College; treasurer, Mary Hodgkin, of Guilford College, and marshals, Laura Ida Ballinger, of Greensboro, and Joseph John Cox of High Point. There were three committees appointed to help carry on the work of the class.

INNOCENT EMBEZZLEMENT INJURES GUILFORDIAN

Two Literary Societies Fail to Pay Up Subscription Amount Collected and Paper Can't Finance Last Edition

JUST A MATTER OF LAX BUSINESS

Some of our readers no doubt noticed that there was no thirtieth number of the Guilfordian last Spring. This edition usually carries the news of commencement and is probably the most important one of the year. We see no reason for not stating why we did not publish the final paper since the circumstances were beyond our control.

The treasurer of each literary society collects with the annual dues of the organization the sum of $1.00 per year per member for subscription to the Guilfordian. Each member on the society roll then receives the Guilfordian for the year. All that sounds soft and easy but here comes the rub. Two out of the four societies paid only part, and a small part at that, during the past year of the total amount due the college paper. Something is wrong somewhere. Without this money which had been counted on in the makeup of the annual budget, those in charge deemed it unwise to do something which could not be paid for. In fact, the 29 published editions are not entirely paid for.

We publish this as an explanation rather than a criticism, with the hope that the money collected for the Guilfordian will be paid to the Business Manager of this paper as soon as it is collected from the members. We are starting off in debt and need all we can get.

NEW POWER HOUSE, RENOVATED HALLS, IMPROVES COLLEGE

Old and Unsightly Structure to Be Torn Down—Archdale Is Completely Remodelled

BUILDING A CLUB ROOM

Third Floor of Founders is Refloored and Painted and Memorial Hall is Improved—Guilfordian Moved

Students enrolled at Guilford for the summer session were witnesses of the progress of various drastic changes and improvements which were made on the campus and in the college buildings during the summer; but to other returning students the completed renovation and innovations were a most pleasant surprise.

The improvements made in the dormitories are particularly welcome. In Founders Hall complete new hard-wood flooring was put in for the third floor, two new modern white tile showers were installed on each floor, and new paintings and varnishing has renewed the freshness of wall and woodwork.

The Guilfordian office has been moved to Memorial Hall, and the old office, refinished and furnished with a new glass door, is to serve as the private office for the dean of women.

Archdale Hall has been entirely reconditioned, and the first floor is to be used as a general club room for the men of the college.

Students and faculty members unanimously welcome the changes in the dining room arrangements. The room itself has been refinished and the old awkward tables for twelve have given place to small tables for six, which are proving far more efficient and attractive. Whether it is the new system, or whether the weather has been conducive to irresistible appetites, certainly more students have been coming to breakfasts than ever before.

The kitchen has kept in stride with the dining room in improvements. It has been entirely refinished and re-equipped, and rearranged for greater efficiency. A frigidaire has been installed. Besides furnishing an excellent refrigeration system, the ice water with which it provides us is not only a luxury, but a comfort.

Perhaps the largest improvement in point of size and value is the new power plant which is being erected directly back of Founders. It will undoubtedly replace the old one with an immense increase of satisfaction and efficiency.

The first floor of Memorial Hall has been refloored. Students need never refrain from attending classes these days out of consideration for the wear

NEW COACH

PAT CRAWFORD

NOAH NEW HEAD OF MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Comes With High Recommendations in Piano, Voice, and Glee Club Work

GIRLS' CLUB ORGANIZED

Among the changes and improvements in the college this year, the music department realizes one of the greatest. There will be no more lack of interest and enthusiasm in music lines as heretofore. Every organization connected with the department is starting out with a pep that has not characterized any such organizations in the past.

Mr. Max Noah, of Waterloo, Iowa, comes to Guilford with high recommendations in piano, voice, and in Glee Club work. He has already proved his efficiency in all these lines. His directing of group singing in chapel, his enthusiasm in getting the men's glee club under way and the organization of a girls' glee club is beginning to have great weight in making music even more popular than ever before.

Before the first week of school had passed the men's glee club was selected and the second week saw the fellows beginning the regular weekly rehearsals. The management hopes to arrange for some concerts in December and to make preparations for a good trip in the spring.

MRS. ANDREWS HEAD OF GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Girls' athletics here this year will be more strongly emphasized than in previous years, under the capable directorship of Mrs. Andrews, the new head of the Department of Physical Education for Girls. A successful season throughout the range of local sports is anticipated and, if interest continues to grow, there will be much inter-class competition in evidence.

Mrs. Andrews expects to follow the seasonal schedule for sports, beginning with hockey this fall, continuing with basketball during the winter and ending with baseball next spring. For those girls who are unable to participate in the more strenuous sports there will be tennis and hiking. Volley ball and other sports may be introduced.

All girls have undergone complete physical examinations during the past week, and will be given proper exercises to fit their physical abilities. "No girl will be excused from all forms of physical education," said Mrs. Andrews. "There will be something provided for the needs of each individual."

One Hundred and Ten Matriculate, Making Record Class. Guilford County Leads

54 BOYS AND 56 GIRLS

Type of Student is Noticeably Higher Than in Past Years, Especially Among the Men Students

The total enrollment of the Freshman class this fall is 110, the largest enrollment in the history of Guilford. The entire student body, numbering 285, also marks a record for the past few years. These facts point conclusively to the fact that Guilford is gaining in popularity, due partly, no doubt, to the fact that Guilford has become a full-fledged member of the Southern Association of Colleges.

Guilford county, as is fitting, ranks first in furnishing students to both the freshman and upper classes. Yadkin, true to her past, comes next in order. Wayne is third, while Surry, showing an increased popularity of Guilford there, sends more students than at any time during the recent years. Alamance, Yadkin, Stokes, Forsyth, Wilkes and several other counties are represented in varying proportions, ranking from 1 to 15. Several students come from distant states. The ratio of boys and girls is about equal, the freshman class being an example with 54 boys and 56 girls.

Last year the freshman class totaled 109, one less than the present enrollment. The year of 1925 also broke all previous records. From these statistics it is evident that Guilford is gradually expanding year by year. This year sets the record over all the past years. It marks the beginning of a new era of growth and progress for Guilford College.

TAYLOR IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF RATS

Other Officers Are Elected by Class of '31 in Its First Meeting—Election is Reputed to Be "Fiery"

September 10 the freshman class met for an election of officers. After a series of nominations and polling of votes, Howard Taylor was selected as president, Mary Reynolds as vice-president, Gertrude Hinshaw as secretary and treasurer, Mabel Ingold, assistant secretary and treasurer, and Calvin Wray as marshal.

The nominees for president were Sinclair Williams, Scarborough, Robinson and Taylor. Robinson carried a heavy vote, but, although evidently very much of a class favorite, he and Williams were eliminated from the race and votes cast again. Scarborough, coming from Greensboro high school, where he was a class leader and one of the most popular boys in school, carried the support of Greensboro and Guilford county. His friends rallied to his support with fiery speeches. Taylor, coming from Copeland high school, in Surry county, was supported by Surry and Yadkin from the first; and, as the fight progressed, the uncertain counties swung to his support. The final vote resulted in 47 votes for Taylor and 40 for Scarborough.

The other offices were filled with less enthusiasm, but, nevertheless, were very closely contested.
