MAY DAY FESTIVAL TO LIVEN CAMPUS WITH CORONATION

All Women Students Participate in This Annual Dance Fete.

MARTHA LANE IS QUEEN

Fairy Story and Mother Goose Children Will Appear, Also Fairies and Elves.

The annual May Day Festival will be held at 6:30 o'clock on the afternoon of May 1, on the campus in front of Founders Hall. The festival is sponsored by the Woman's Athletic Association and each member of the Association will participate in the festival.

The queen who will be crowned at the festival is Martha Lane. The maid of honor is Margaret Perkins. The queen's attendants are Rose Askev, Clara Belle Welch, Mildred Burton, Nell Ellington, Priscilla White, and Julia Blair Hodgkin.

The members of the Woman's Athletic Association will furnish entertainment for the queen, consisting of the winding of the May Pole and aesthetic dancing. Clowns will romp, fairies trip daintily about bearing flower garlands, Mother Goose and fairy story people will appear. Little Red Riding Hood, Jack and Jill, Mary, Mary Quite Contrary, and others will enchant the audience.

After the entertainment there will be a reception for the queen. All the spectators are invited to meet her.

DOUBLE DUET FEATURE OF FINE ARTS MEET

Work From the Expression Department and Symphony Records High Lights of Evening.

NEXT PROGRAM IN AUDITORIUM

The Fine Arts Club met last Monday night in Mr. Noah's studio for a most enjoyable program rendered by the students of the music and expression departments.

With Jesse Bowen presiding, the program opened with a bass solo, entitled "My Star," by Beech, sung by L. T. New. This was followed by a soprano solo, "Tallyho," by Leoni, sung by Frances McIver. Schubert's "Impromptu" was next played very effectively as a piano solo by Elizabeth Adams, then two solos, "All Souls Day" by Strauss and "Lightly Dance" by Durante were sung by Martha Taylor. Dorothy Sturdivant, representing the expression department, gave a dramatic reading, "The Walker," by Giovanni. The program was concluded with the playing of records from the Symphony Fantastic by Beriot.

The next meeting will be held Monday night, April 30, at 7:30 in the auditorium. All students are cordially invited to attend, and any one who would be interested in becoming a member may do so by appearing on the program, to the committee's satisfaction.

The next program will consist of piano solos by Annie Laura Vannoy, Frances McIver, and L. T. New. Mrs. Binford will talk on Pottery, and Jewel Conrad will sing a soprano solo. The string quartet will appear for the first time and one of the most outstanding features will be Mendelssohn's "Concerto in G minor" played by Martha Taylor and accompanied by Mr. Noah at a second piano.

NATIONALLY KNOWN NOW

The College Choir has recently returned from its fourth northern trip. While away, it gave a broadcast over the National Broadcasting System.

All Juniors to See Miss Lasley

Miss Lasley wishes everyone who plans to graduate in 1935, either in June or August, and those who may come to summer school this summer, 1934, to see her between the morning of May 1 and the evening of Friday, May 4.

MONROE DOCTRINE OF EAST IMPORTANT NEWS

History 4 Class Interested in Developments Concerning Japan's Protectorate Over China.

PROTEST FROM UNITED STATES

The History 4 class, studying current events, considers the Japanese policy in China, called the Monroe Doctrine of the Far East, the most important development in the history of the past two weeks. This move on Japan's part has been interpreted as "an attempt to establish a protectorate over China."

The British and United States governments protested immediately but separately, as a combination of powers was considered inadvisable by the government authorities.

CLUB PLANS EUROPEAN TRIP AT LAST MEETING

Getting Passports and How to Take Care of Money, Main Points of Discussion.

The French Club met Wednesday night and discussed a contemplated trip to Europe.

Daryl Kent gave the imaginary side of the trip. John Macomber told how there be a common treasury and that he be the treasurer.

After much discussion and planning just what we would have to do to get to Paris, refreshments were served by Ruth Fuquay and Julia Blair Hodgkin. The next meeting will be Thursday, May 10.

College Party Tonight

Another college party is to take place tonight at 6:30. The new social committee under George Parker will have charge. There will be dancing and games, and whatever innovations the committee may bring.

CRITIC COMMENDS LEADS AND FOWLER

"Don't Mumble Your Words" is Most Appreciated Expression of Evening.

COMEDY BRINGS LAUGHS

The Dramatic Council scored one of its biggest successes with the production of Booth Tarkington's play, "The Man from Home," Saturday night, April 21. This refreshing comedy was staged with an able cast of players before an appreciative audience. Prof. Philip Furnas coached and rounded the material into shape for the splendid program.

The main honors go to Virginia Levering, George Silver, and Franklin Fowler, who portrayed their parts unusually well. Virginia Levering as the lovely American girl betrothed to a son of English royalty showed a keen understanding of her part. She held her audience from the time she entered as a piquant, young girl and left as a sensible, sane young woman who had been made to realize the folly of her engagement by the Kokomo, Indiana, lawyer, George Silver. Silver played naturally, assisted by that "million dollar smile," Franklin Fowler as the silly, spoiled youth who had only his family's reputation to live on, is to be commended on his consistent acting.

John Macomber in the role of a smart inn-keeper deserves especial merit for his Italian pronunciation.

Frances Alexander looked her part to perfection, and her dramatization of the French madame whose love has been stolen by the Englishman, Warren Bezonson, helped to prove to Miss Levering the imprudence of her engagement. Bezonson acted the part of a two-faced "gentleman" to whom Robert was blind, and the audience felt sorry for Poole's inexperience despite his nonchalant, self-confident air as Miss Levering's brother.

Dorothy Sturdivant came up to all expectations as the deaf, aristocratic English woman whose pet expression was "don't mumble your words," and felt insulted at any prefix other than "lady."

GUILFORD COLLEGE SCENE OF GREAT MUSIC FESTIVAL

University of North Carolina Orchestra Under Earl Slocum to Play.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS TO SING

Many Surrounding Communities Offer Singers and Musicians for This Undertaking Under Max Noah.

The first Guilford College Music Festival under the direction of Max Noah, which will include five concerts and over 4,000 performers, will be held at the college Thursday, May 3, to Sunday, May 6, four days.

The festival is believed to be the first undertaking of its type ever attempted in the South. It will comprise performances by the University of North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, the Greensboro Male Chorus, Mrs. Laura Howell Norden, violinist of Wilmington, a chorus of 4,600 children from the 30 consolidated schools of Guilford county; and a mass chorus made up of church choirs from Greensboro, High Point and Winston-Salem, along with the Guilford College choir.

A violin recital in Memorial Hall by Mrs. Norden, assisted by Miss Mary Eunice Wells, pianist and accompanist, will open the festival Thursday evening, May 3.

A program of operatic, oratorical, and semi-classical selections by the Greensboro Male Chorus, under Max Noah's direction, will be given Friday evening, May 4. The chorus, made up of approximately 40 voices, will be assisted by L. T. New, second bass; Charles McNeil, violinist, of Greensboro; and Mrs.
