NUMBER 5

ASSOCIATIONS OF ALUMNI VISITED BY DR. MILNER

College Officials Spend Christmas Holidays at Work; Continue This Spring.

MR. TOBIAS ALSO ATTENDS

Organized Alumni Associations of Guilford College Are in Many States, Even in Far West.

Guilford College has perhaps the best organized alumni chapters of any Quaker college. Dr. Milner and Mr. Tobias are making a special effort to attend the chapters in the different parts of the country.

Those chapters which have been attended are: Philadelphia, Pa., and New York City with two meetings; Washington, D. C., Baltimore, Md., Franklin, Va., Hartford, Conn., Goldsboro, Wilson, Raleigh, Rockingham, Winston-Salem, Guilford College, Greensboro, Mt. Airy, Charlotte, and High Point, in North Carolina.

Those that are scheduled to be visited in the next month or two are: Roanoke Rapids, Greenville, Fayetteville, Star, Asheboro, Oak Ridge, Yadkinville, all on November 22, 23, 24. Durham, New Bern, and Wilmington, respectively, are to have alumni meetings. The others that are being scheduled are: Lumberton, Southern Pines, Sanford, North Wilkesboro, Albemarle, Norfolk, Va., Roanoke, Va., Pittsburgh, Pa., Providence, R. I., and Boston, Mass.

During the Christmas holidays Dr. Milner will attend chapters in Columbia, Ohio. In February Dr. Milner and Mr. Tobias expect to visit Florence, Columbus, and Greenville, S. C., Atlanta, Ga., Birmingham, Ala., Jacksonville, Fla., Miami and St. Petersburg, Fla.

In the spring it is expected that they will attend alumni organizations in Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee, and Kentucky. Mr. Tobias hopes to go to California later on in the spring, visiting alumni groups en route.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER DISCUSSED BY SENIORS

Sophomores Are Entertained by Mary Evans; Freshmen Practice Songs and Yells.

MARLETTE CONDUCTS PROGRAM

Most of the class meetings of November 8 and 15 were taken up by business matters.

The senior class, at the meeting of November 8, discussed a commencement speaker. On November 15 the president appointed George Parker and Mamie Rose McGinnis as a committee on the inter-class debates.

The juniors, on November 8, made plans for a barbecue at Pleasants pond, but it was cancelled because of lack of interest.

The sophomore class was entertained on November 8 by Mary Evans, who gave two readings. The following week Mildred Marlette gave a humorous talk consisting of jokes and puns.

The freshmen, on November 8, spent the period in practicing songs and yells.

Guilford Grad Succeeds

Margaret Pegram, who graduated from Guilford College in 1934, a psychology major, has been elected to an honor social science fraternity, Pi Gamma Mu, at Duke, where she is working for her master's degree. She is teaching two quiz sections in psychology.

MEN PUT ON PROBATION FOR HALLOWE'EN PRANKS

As a further result of the Halloween night pranks indulged in by some of the men of the student body, 13 men, among them three varsity football players and one substitute, were placed on probation by unanimous action of the faculty.

The student council met in a special session Thursday night and recommended that the penalty be reconsidered by the faculty on the grounds that the punishment was thought too drastic.

Asked to comment, President Milner said, "The faculty took the matter over only after the student council had declined to act. The faculty considers that the punishment is not too drastic for the offense, involving as it does the violation of property rights."

Coach Anderson declined to comment.

Indications Thursday were that the student body would express its opinion in some forcible manner if the football players were not reinstated for the Elon game.

BLAIR PRESIDES AT MEETING OF CLUB

New Constitution Accepted; Dr. Elihu Grant Is Present and Speaks Informally.

HISTORY MAJORS MEET

The Historical Club met at Founders' Hall November 7 with 31 present. The president, Charles Blair, presided, and a study of parliamentary law was suggested by Mr. Newlin as a project to be worked upon during the coming year. The members discussed and adopted the constitution which was drawn up by a constitutional committee of five persons. The requirements for membership in the club were also discussed. In order to become a member one must be either a graduate major in history or a major in history.

The Historical Club met at Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Newlin's house Saturday night, November 10. Dr. and Mrs. Elihu Grant were honor guests. Dr. Grant gave an informal discussion on his work in Palestine. Questions were asked Dr. Grant which were interestingly answered, clearing up a great many puzzles. Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Binford were also guests of the club. Hot chocolate and cookies were served by the social committee of the club.

COLLEGE HOLDS FIRST BOX PARTY IN YEARS

Original Type of Entertainment Afforded by Christian Endeavor Group Last Saturday Night.

Gertha Farlow won the prize given for the most attractive box at the box party sponsored by the Christian Endeavor and held in the college gymnasium last Saturday night.

The boxes prepared by the girls were sold at auction to the boys, each boy eating with the girl whose box he had bought. Candy was sold also.

The group enjoyed a number of games and contests led by members of the social committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Suiter and the Rev. Mr. Hoffman, the pastor, were there as chaperones.

Hosiery Mills Visited

The senior home economics class visited the hosiery mills at Kernersville last week, with Miss Bruce, Mrs. Perlisho, and Mrs. Stonewall Anderson.

TALK ON PALESTINE BY DR. E. GRANT GIVEN AT COLLEGE

Visitor Is Archaeologist of Note and Professor at Haverford College, Pa.

OLD VASE FOUND IN TOMB

He Shows Many Interesting Relics Secured in Palestine and Egypt by Excavation.

"Evacuations Made in Palestine of Old Canaanite Civilization" was the subject of the illustrated lecture given by Dr. Elihu Grant, visitor from Haverford College and Archaeologist from Palestine, at Memorial Hall, Friday night, November 8.

The headquarters of the excavators, shown by slides, were in the country of Sampson, of old Beth Shan.

The Archaeologist followed the courses of the old city walls, where ruins were uncovered layer by layer. The change of period was told by the pottery, because its designs and styles change regularly with each period.

A Mycenaean vase 3,400 years old, a vase made before the time of David and Solomon, and a Philistine vessel made in David's time, were among the interesting things shown.

The excavators dug up an old tomb which was used 500 years before the Christian Era. A type of grain, somewhat like Cream of Wheat, which is 5,000 years old, was found in the form of charcoal. Ten Egyptian lions bearing the announcement of the wedding of Amenhatpe III in 1400 B.C. were shown on the screen.

Probably the most interesting thing shown was a bit of Canaanite ink writing which was found in the ruins.

Several kinds of pottery and implements have been found, showing the development of skill through the ages.

In examining these possessions of people who lived ages before us, one gains an insight into the customs and ways of the early age which is invaluable in the study of early man.

"TONS OF MONEY" AS THE AUDIENCE SAW IT

Dramatic Council's Annual Fall Play Is a Success; Affords Many Good Laughs.

Virginia Levering, as the wife with never-ending "new ideas," and Roberts Poole, with a triple role to perform, along with the other characters, were well liked by the audience in the production of "Tons of Money" by Evans and Valentine, given at Memorial Hall, November 3, as culmination of events planned for Home-Coming Day.

Roberts Poole, as Aubrey Allington, the eccentric optimist, did not let bills worry him; as George Maitland he was a smooth impersonator; in the person of the Reverend Ebenezer Brown, he viewed the world with righteous prudence and indignation.

Virginia Levering gave a delightful interpretation of the young wife who wondered why the bills couldn't be paid.

Louise Ward, the old maid aunt, supplied plenty of humor by her constant "You needn't shout; I'm not deaf."

Simpson Garner, as Sprules, the butler, and Ruth Anderson, the maid—both servants in that unusual household—gave their contribution to the comedy.

Special credit goes to the orchestra for the music, and to Bill Wooters for reworking the scenery.

Campus to Have Flagstone Walks

Flagstone walks are to be had on campus, as announced by Mr. Tobias. This is part of the master plan for the campus sponsored by the centennial program committee.

The stone is a gift to the campus. The arrangements have not been completed, but students may look forward to "drier and better walks."

PIANIST TO GIVE CONCERT FOR CLUB

Talk on Hymnology Main Feature of Last Meeting of Fine Arts Club.

MR. HOFFMAN WILL PLAY

Mr. Hoffman, head director of music at Greensboro College, will give a piano concert for the Fine Arts Club, next Monday night, November 26. This will be open to the students, much like a lecture course, only with free admission.

At the club's last meeting Mrs. Pfohl talked on the origin of hymns. Bishop Pfohl sang songs to illustrate the difference between chorales and hymns. Jewell Conrad sang "The Lord Shall Wipe Away My Tears."

The Madrigal group sang "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," by Martin Luther, and "O Sacred Head, Now Wounded," by Bernard of Clairvaux. Members of this group are: Frances McIver and Betsy Lucke, sopranos; Lib Adams and Martha Taylor, altos; Phillip Kelsey, Jesse Bowen, tenors; L. T. New and Herman Trivette, bass.

DR. CAMPBELL ANNOUNCES TUBERCULOSIS CLINIC

Biology Professor Speaks on the Whys, Wherefores, and Cures of Tuberculosis.

MR. SUITOR ENTERTAINS CHAPEL

November 2—The student body had a pep meeting in preparation for the Lenoir-Rhyne game.

November 5—Mr. Suitor spoke, offering much humor.

November 6—The pastor of Saint Benedict church of Greensboro discussed the religion embodied in the NRA.

November 9—Mr. Noah read some facts about well known hymns and their authors.

November 12—Dr. Elihu Grant, of Haverford College, spoke on the luxuries of studying.

November 13—Dr. Campbell spoke about Tuberculosis and the manner in which it is caught. She announced a tuberculosis clinic to be held.

NOVEL COLLEGE SOCIAL PLANNED FOR TONIGHT

Everyone Who Comes to Tonight's Party Must Be Dressed as a Kid.

Tonight will see the members of the student body of Guilford, instead of being dignified ladies and gentlemen, actually like a bunch of kids, for the social committee has arranged to have a "kid party."

All persons attending the social are requested to come in costume, in order to carry out the idea of the "kid party."

All students and faculty members are cordially invited to attend this party, which will be held in Founders Hall at 8 o'clock tonight.

FACULTY TAKES PART IN CONFERENCES AND COMMISSIONS

Committee Pays Tribute to Former College Presidents; Memorial Offered Dr. F. Davis.

DR. MILNER GIVES TALK

Interstate Commission Meets to Discuss Education Questions Concerning Negroes and Whites.

Various conferences have claimed the attention of the faculty, Dr. Milner and Miss Lasley having attended the North Carolina College Conference held November 8th and 9th, and Professor Newlin and Professor Shepard having attended the Interstate Commission held November 8th.

At the College conference, the resolution committee, of which Dr. Milner is chairman, put the conference on record as joining with the state of North Carolina in their duty toward supporting the state public school system with a hope of strengthening this support.

This committee also paid tribute to college presidents now retired, among whom is Dr. Raymond Binford. A memorial was offered Dr. J. Franklin Davis, a former professor of Guilford College.

In connection with the conference was a luncheon meeting of the N. C. Registrars Association at the Woman's College. Dr. Milner gave a talk on "The Duties of a Registrar in a Small College." Miss Era Lasley is secretary of this association and chairman of the program committee.

At the Interstate Commission, attended by Professors Shepard and Newlin, problems of the school were mainly discussed, especially in relation to negro education.

Governor Ehringhaus delivered the main speech at this commission.

Tax, public support, and the constitution were among the problems discussed.

DR. CLYDE MILNER OPENS GREENSBORO CONFERENCE

Mrs. Milner and Mr. Haworth Hold Discussion Groups at Social Standards Conference.

HIGH SCHOOL DISCUSSES HOME

Dr. Clyde A. Milner gave the keynote address opening the social standards conference held at the Senior high school in Greensboro, Friday, November 9.

The theme of the conference was Home Relationships. Dr. Milner, presented by Jack Cheek, president of the student body, told the students that "the whole of life depends upon the home and the family." He said that tendency toward emotional disturbances over small things was one of the greatest problems in family life.

The conference was brought to a close with a talk by Charles W. Phillips, former principal of the school. Group meetings were held during the day with Dr. Ruth Collins, physician of Woman's College, speaking to the girls, and Dr. Samuel Ravenel, local physician, speaking to the boys. At 6:30 a banquet was held in the school cafeteria.

Mr. Haworth held a discussion group on the subject of "Parents." Mrs. Milner held one on the brother and sister relationship.
