

MILNER ANNOUNCES CENTENNIAL YEAR SCHEDULE CHANGE

Alteration in Schedule Made Necessary by Plans for Anniversary Celebration.

VACATIONS CUT SHORTER

Summer Session to Conform to Usual Schedule—Other Changes Effective Only Next Year.

The activities connected with the Centennial will necessitate changes in next year's schedule, announced President Clyde A. Milner. The schedule will be moved up one week and the two vacations will be shortened in order to make it possible for other college officials to visit the campus during the commencement and centennial celebrations.

School will open September 7; upperclassmen register September 10 and class work begins September 11, 1936. Christmas vacation starts December 23 and ends January 4, 1937; spring vacation dates are March 26-31. The Centennial and commencement celebration dates are May 22-24, inclusive. The 1937 summer school will be scheduled as formerly opening June 1, closing August 2. These changes are made for this year only.

Guilford college is the oldest co-educational college in the south and has been a member of the Southern Association of Colleges for the past seven years. The faculty is composed of 25 members, eight of whom have their Doctor's degree.

N. C. STUDENTS CONVENE; CHAS. BLAIR TREASURER

Annual N. C. Federation Held Seventh Congress—Special Discussion on Women's and Men's Rules.

CONVENTION GUESTS OF E. C. T. C.

Charles Blair was elected treasurer of the North Carolina Federation of Students at its seventh annual congress held March 26 to 30 at Eastern Carolina Teachers College. Other officers elected were: President, Bill Aycock, of North Carolina State; vice-president, Al Martin, of Wake Forest college, and secretary, Ruth Kiker, of Eastern Carolina.

The delegates from Guilford, Margaret Barnes, Stafford Tonge, and Charles Blair, attended numerous lectures. Among the speakers heard were Dr. Leon Meadows, who talked on Student Government; Miss Roberts, assistant dean of William and Mary, who gave her impressions of Student Government, and Dr. Benja Holtzyclaw, of Richmond College, Richmond, Va., who also talked on Student Government.

An extensive discussion was held on the matter of campus interest in public affairs, and a resolution was passed to stress student interest on the campus.

One discussion group was taken up with special problems to men and women college students, including house rules, drinking, smoking, privileges to girls, considering that it will probably be done anyway if prohibited.

The delegates were royally entertained by the Eastern Carolina students, a formal dinner, banquet, two theater parties, and a dance.

The congress, which is an annual affair, will be held next year in Greensboro, with the Woman's College of the U. N. C. at hostesses.

DR. CLYDE A. MILNER

GREETINGS FROM THE PRESIDENT

To the Seniors of the class of 1936: Greetings and best wishes for your continued success.

Many of you, no doubt, are making plans for college and are confronted with the problems of selecting an institution of higher learning suitable for your needs. There are several definite questions that one must answer:

(1) Shall I attend a large or a small college. (Both have their decided advantages and limitations).

(2) Shall I attend a co-educational college or a college for men or for women?

(3) Shall I begin a specialized training at once or continue in building a broad cultural background for my further development and professional activity?

Obviously, no one institution can meet all of these demands. If you are interested in a small, liberal arts, co-educational college, may we invite your careful consideration of Guilford college?

In choosing your college, you should be certain of its academic rating. This is of the utmost importance to you, for it assures you of a four-year college course of high quality and of credits acceptable for graduate work.

Very sincerely yours,

CLYDE A. MILNER.

College Changes Ineligibility Rules

Eligibility for major activities will be governed by stiffer rules next year, according to recent announcement by Miss Era Lasley, registrar of the college.

Under the new ruling a C instead of a D average will be required.

Another rule to become effective next year will concern applicants for the Bachelor's degree. Comprehensives must be passed on or before January 15 of the year of graduation and accounts must be settled by May 1 of the same year.

Blair, who is a native of Archdale, N. C., has been a prominent member of the student affairs board during the past year, and Miss Barnes has taken an active part in campus activities over the same period.

The coveted position of May Queen fell to Emily Ragsdale; her maid of honor will be Colum Schenck, retiring chairman of the social committee. Clara Robertson and Irene Mabe are to be the house presidents of Founders' and Mary Hobbs halls, respectively.

Elinor Webster and Marguerite Neave, in their respective capacities as editors-in-chief of the Quaker and the Guilfordian, will head the activities of the campus' major publications. Y. W. C. Subordinate positions on the publications have been filled as follows: Quaker, managing editor, Earle Maloney; business manager, Winston Davis; Guilfordian, managing editor, Charlotte Parker; business manager, James Lovings. Lack of full information regarding appointments made by the heads of these organizations prevent our making them public at present.

Elected to the women's student council are the following: from Founders', Ruth Payne, Rebecca Weant, Cora Worth Parker; from Mary Hobbs, Gladys Cushman and Adelaide Fideley. Owing to a mistake in balloting, a re-election will be necessary for the office of senior representative from Mary Hobbs.
