

FIRST FRESHMAN GRADES SHOW BUDDING GENIUSES

Average Standing of Freshman Ratings Is Higher This Year Than in Former Years.

DEANS EXPRESS SATISFACTION

Reports of the freshman grades of this school year show the girls of the freshman class to be slightly above average. Out of 51 girls, 28 have average grades or better, six have B average, two have all B's, four made all A's and B's, and one made honor roll grades. There were very few failures.

Very little information could be obtained concerning the boys. Only one boy made all A's.

According to Mrs. Milner, there is a smaller group in both the extremes, A and F rating, this year than last, but the general average is higher this year. Both Dean Beittel and Mrs. Milner expressed satisfaction with this preliminary showing.

Raleigh Reviews Kaleidoscope Of Twenty Years on Campus

Wes came to Guilford in 1919 when Dr. Hobbs was president. The only members of the present faculty who were around then are Dr. Binford, who was to become president soon afterwards, and professor Pancoast, who arrived that year and immediately become popular at Founders'. Wes holds that the student body, especially that upper-class clique that hangs out at Cox Hall, has become more and more "civilized" since his arrival. No longer do the boys pitch beds from third story windows; they now demolish them in their rooms.

What with this religious dissection and fixing stuff, a fellow must have some relaxation; so Wes Raleigh bets a little on the side. As has been mentioned, Wes won a Coca-Cola on the world series by picking the Yanks, but humanitarian that he is, he pulled for the Cubs even at the risk (he emphasizes this) of losing the Coca-Cola. Wes says he used to bet on our football team, but since the depression he has felt that charity is a worthier cause.

Even a sympathetic inquiry, however, could not long detain Wes; but before he hurried off to "prop up a wobbly wash tub" he attempted to define his official position. "Well," he said, "I'm the man who does the work for the man who takes care of the place."

Oh, yes, Wes Raleigh is soliciting contributions for a new boiler, (he says). Your pittance will be most welcome.

SEVEN STUDENTS SELECTED FOR A. C. U. WHO'S WHO

member of the "Y" cabinet. She is also an honor roll student.

Cora Worth Parker is editor of the Quaker, secretary of the Student Affairs Board and a member of the Women's Student Government. Last year she was prominent in the Dramatic council.

Tom Taylor is president of the Dramatic council, vice-president of the Student Affairs board and a member of the Men's Student Government. He also serves on the Committee on Convocation. His dramatic ability has been of importance on the campus, and is a contributor to the GUILFORDIAN.

Wilbert Edgerton is an Honor Roll student and a prominent member of the "Y" cabinet.

Alvin Meibohm is captain of both the cross-country and track teams of the Quakers. He was president of the Junior class for the second semester and is an honor roll student.

This Who's Who, which is published with the cooperation of the National Student Federation of America and various important collegiate organizations, serves as a reference for business houses and will be of great importance to the selected students in securing employment. Many business firms consider the Who's Who the best reference which a college graduate can have when applying for a position.

HOME-COMING PLANS ARE NEAR COMPLETION

Immediately, after the convocation service Coach Carlyle Shepard's Harriers will face the State College team in the annual Homecoming cross country run starting in front of the Music building and ending in Hobbs field.

Another annual affair, the hockey game between alumnae and present students, will be played beginning at 11:15.

Dr. Clyde A. Milner will lead a business session in the Student Hut at 1:15. This meeting will include Alumni Council members, representatives of various classes and of Alumni chapters.

A special feature of the afternoon session will be the clash of "football power between Coach Block Smith's much improved Quaker eleven and the Pirates of the Eastern Carolina Teachers College when the aggregations meet on Hobbs Field at 2:30 p. m."

Of particular interest and significance will be the Alumni-Student Barbecue on Hobbs Field at 6:00 p. m. Tickets for this occasion are 50c for alumni and other visitors and 25c for all present-day students.

THIS COLLEGIATE WORLD

Collegians have always been quick to grasp new social and political movements (in a left-handed way) ever since the days of soldiers' bonus, and now come the collegiate Californians with a new youth bonus movement.

To point the finger of ridicule at the "$30 Every Thursday" plan being promoted as a bonus for those over 50, University of California at Los Angeles students have organized a new club to give $50 every Friday to folks under 50. Here are the two more-than-logical campaign arguments for the new movement:

1. Younger people (0 to 50) have occasion to spend more money than older people.
2. The pension would give those waiting to become 50 something to do.
3. To give pensions to everybody is more democratic.

Yes, this collegiate world always keeps up with the times—in fact, is way ahead of it.

To further prove the ingenuity of those who inhabit this collegiate world, we give you the up-and-coming University of Rochester freshmen who have a new method of breaking-in smoking pipes.

Here's the new idea: Fill and light your pipe in the usual manner, put stem of lighted pipe on a suction tube—and presto, your pipe is broken in. But be careful, for the plan's originators warn that too steady application of the suction tube will rapidly burn out the pipe altogether.

be unable to cope with this sudden onslaught of personality and beauty? Or is the Dean of Women afraid that this day student privilege would upset the social equilibrium of the campus? What say! How about giving us a break?

CANADA SPEAKS

Editor of the Guilfordian, Dear Sir:

Once when Americans thought of Canada it brought to mind thoughts of snow and mountains, fishing, hunting and vacationing. In these modern days it seems as though they always think immediately of quintuplets and baby marathons. (I hope to see the day when I will deserve the title of "only Canadian never to have seen the brats.") Although I don't wish to disparage the achievement of Papa Dionne, there are other things in Canada besides quintuplets and baby marathons, and furthermore, all male Canadians are not papas. (Y.V.C.A. script writer please take note.)

I couldn't help feeling sorry for the poor Canadians in chapel last week—imagine not having any free speech because of a horrid padlock law. The fact is, if the young lady had only known, that is a local law his cast in a constant state of uneasiness lest he should prove temperamental a second time and sleep through rehearsal, or forget to appear at chapel in time to get in his original Knock! Knock! without which Mrs. Corky Beittel could not go into action.

The robust cast paled considerably one afternoon while rehearsal was in full swing when Mr. Haworth hurried down the aisle to the stage with a typical, "I'm late to rehearsal" expression on his face, and with what appeared to be a script clutched with determination in his right hand; but it developed that he was only hunting his double, young Hampton Price Haworth.

Mary Laura McArthur's was the hand behind the scene, which created Miss Gainey, Der Beittel, and Dr. Widgery's chair, which were supposed to be signs of familiar landmarks, but were evidently unsuccessful in this capacity, since even Mrs. Beittel did not recognize her own front room until the play was nearly over. Maybe it was the beer bottles that reminded her, huh?

The Admiral Fightin' may not have had a Lady Betty Locke Mary to give its audience, but perhaps it can console itself with the thought that the Admirable Crighton will not have a Hope Leslie Huth.
