

QUAKES

With the football season just about half past, at this writing, we find the score three-love. But, today it probably is a lot different story with the count three to ONE, and that ONE meaning everything in the world to our coach and boys. However, if it is not, you and I know doggone well our team did their very darndest . . .

Here's a toast to Captains Knobby Blair and Tuscon Maynard who have been setting some darn good examples by their fine playing and spirit . . . and to "Mole" Newell, a pretty sharp hipper dipper, who can toss the skin as good as those pros we saw the other day . . . not forgetting the Joe's, "Big and Little," King Johns, "Mighty" Snipes, "Butch" Wilson and others who have been doing a swell job.

Remember Emory and Henry . . . it's a well known fact that three or more of their small, gentle fellows played a couple of years at King college when King college beat Catawba . . . and we're sure Catawba's no cinch.

The Carolina Pre-Flights, who, with their hard but clean playing, really out-classed us, are considered by our team as one of the best all-around bunch of fellows we've played. The height of their courtesy was shown by the presentation of the winning football to our captain, Knobby Blair, by their captain.

I hear that the battle of the century took place the other night in King I. If you don't get it . . . just ask Generalissimo Snipes.

Many fellow citizens around campus were very, very disappointed that there wasn't even a sniff of a pep rally before the Homecoming game. It adds quite a lot to have a bon fire and a rousing pep rally, and all know that this campus is not over-running with the old college spirit . . . so whatta you say . . . let's liven up a bit!!!!

Somebody asked one afternoon as the cross-country team was practicing if they had been swallowed up in the burial ground. 'Tis true . . . we've not been seeing much of them here-of-late.

Did you hear about a certain "vick-eld," big guard from Bawston, who remarked late in last week's freshman game, "Cheez, we shoulda scored in the first inning."

High Point is still the big game of the season, Coach still says that if he couldn't block any better than that, "I'd go stick my head in a bucket of . . ." Catawba is the power in the conference, the draft hangs over every head like the proverbial sword—even Coach is subject to call at almost any time, Coach is married, Elon and Lenoir Rhyme have dropped out of the conference, and Coach Lentz isn't back.

It was a great day when Coach Lentz visited the campus. He is still the same "Killer," no uniform or any amount of stripes could change this swell guy. Hats off to a real leather-neck.

late yourself under your own power, and start pacing the floor just to prove it.

Ah-ha, and now in true Napoleonic fashion you watch your friend upon the cot. She, being a biology major, is intensely interested in each movement. The needle is in, and the blood spurts forth like a high-powered faucet—up to a third of a pint now, then drip! The steady stream has run dry. The doctor probes the vein, while the "scientist" unflinchingly observes. A few more drops, then utter dryness! Your healthy looking friend doesn't have your large veins, and then you begin to realize that the doctor's compliment to you, "You're an ideal donor," was not addressed to all the girls. Your disappointed friend looks disgustedly at her small veins, while you console her with the remark, "We can't all be donors."

But she will try again; two more thirds make a pint. And with whole-hearted resolutions to submit to the " ordeal" again in three months, it's off to the Lotus we go for a chow mein pickup!

Faculty Chooses Six Seniors For '42-'43 Issue Of 'Who's Who'

Roy Leake is president of the Scholarship Society. In his junior year he was head marshal and reporter on the Guilfordian. He also writes for the Greensboro Daily News.

Daniel Young is head marshal and has been president of the sophomore and junior classes. He is also an honor roll student.

The students are chosen conscientiously and impartially by a committee working under a college executive. The purpose of the Who's Who Among Students publication is two-fold: first, to serve as an outstanding honor in which a student showing merit in college is given recognition; second, to establish a reference volume of authoritative information on leading college students of the United States.

University Of Texas Offers New Course

Austin, Texas (ACP) A commando-like course in physical training for women at the University of Texas has been set up and new equipment installed to furnish an "obstacle course."

The women's war-conditioning course is designed to build up physical strength so that women students will be prepared for whatever war jobs lie ahead, Miss Leah Gregg, associate professor of physical training, explained.

The obstacle course includes a window climbing ladder, two balance beams, a series of parallel bars, and a high fence climb. In addition to this, students in the war conditioning classes are required to do regular track work and calisthenics.

Coach Parsons Organizes Men's Tennis Tournament

Coach Parsons and Captain Ben Brown have arranged a tennis tournament for all interested enthusiasts among the men's student body. The tournament is still in its earlier stages. Dan Young became the first entrant to reach the third round when he defeated Ben Brown by a score of 6-4, 6-2. Brown, Herb Pearson and Ernest Ferris are among the few returning mainstays from last year. There is a good chance for freshmen who make a good showing to make the varsity team.

Enlisted Reserve Corps Prepares Boys For Service

he must be capable of calculating certain mathematical problems, have a basic familiarity with some exact science, and finally, he must be able to care for himself under all conditions.

Although no academic training has been specified, the Army and Navy have prescribed certain physical education requirements. A minimum of four or five hours a week of physical training is necessary in order to keep fit. The men are also required to run an obstacle course and drill at any unannounced moment.

The Reserve program, unlike the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, does not necessarily prepare a man for an officer's rating, although a standard consistently above average may enable him to secure a commission upon graduation. An enlistment in the Reserve Corps immediately removes a man from the jurisdiction of his local draft board. The corps reserves the right to put any man on active duty on 24 hours notice.

This calling to duty can be the result of several conditions. Should the student fail any subject, leave school, or should the war situation become more serious, the reservist will immediately see action as an enlisted man. A competitive examination is given to each corps member during his second school year. The requirements of this test must be met if the student wishes to remain at school.

At Guilford college, this program plays a major part. Twenty-five per cent of the male student body is enlisted in some branch of the reserve service; Bill Byatt, George Bunce, Sam Price, Stuart Maynard, Knobby Blair, Kingston Johns, Herb Schoellkopf, Marion Ralls, Purnell Kennedy, Rudy Davis, Ben Brown, John Downing, Robert Rohr, Don Pringle, Joe Leake, Joe Ray, Phil Hurwitz, Clifford Weston, Elihu Lloane, Robert McNeely, Lonnie Albright, Carl Mackie.

The V-1 plan of the Navy probably appeals to most boys. Under V-1, the government provides that 80,000 boys between 17 and 20 in their freshman and sophomore years at an accredited college, pass a physical examination. These men are guaranteed two more years of college education after being sworn into V-1. The young reservist is then eligible to become an officer candidate in V-7. Besides V-1 and V-7, there are numerous other branches and departments from which one can make his choice.

Dr. Purdom, of the Science department, is commandant of the Reserve Service Corps at Guilford college. Coach Smith is in charge of the physical de-

ATHLETES

By PETER and TOMMIE

On the first feature of the Homecoming Day program last Saturday, the varsity hockey team came out in full swing to defeat the Alumnae 10-0. Due to the fact that there were only six alumnae hockey players back, some of the athletes helped them out.

After three weeks of practice the class teams have begun their annual clash on the hockey field! The seniors and juniors met yesterday afternoon at 4:45 in a close contest. Every team will play every other team, and the one with the most points will win the tournament. A win yields 2 points, and a tie gives each side 1 point.

The W. A. A. met Monday to complete plans for a skating party to be held at the Greensboro Skating rink tonight, October 24. Transportation will be furnished and tickets may be purchased at the door. Remember the date—come out and skate!!!!

Heigh-ho, Silver!! Horses are popular with the Guilford girls this season. The riding class of 15 is the largest to date.

Anyone aspiring to be a second Robin Hood can learn archery on Tuesday afternoons at 4 and Thursdays at 3. Equipment can be used only under the supervision of the manager, Mildred Ragan, or her assistants.

Freshman Crashes Line For Season's First Touchdown

Guilford's Freshman Team Defeated 12-7 By Greensboro High

The freshman team suffered its second defeat at the hands of Greensboro high, Thursday afternoon, 12 to 7.

The highlight of the game came in the second quarter when the Quakers held the Whirlwind Reserves for three downs and they elected to kick on fourth down. The entire Guilford forward wall crashed through the Greensboro line and blocked the punt. Lockwood Emmert scooped up the ball on the Greensboro 35 and raced down the field for the first Quaker score of the season. His kick for extra point was good.

But the visitors had already broken the scoring ice in the first period. Catching the freshmen off guard, the full-back raced around his own right end a full 80 yards for the opening score of the game. The try for extra point was wild.

After Emmert's score early in the second period the Quakers held the upper hand until the last four minutes of the game. Guilford's strong forward line had the Whirlies on their own 10-yard line where they had been pushed by Emmert's fine coffin-corner kick.

The visitors punted out to the Quakers 35 where Lonnie Albright tried to get the ball, touched it but failed to get his hands on it, and Greensboro downed the ball on the Quaker 30. In six plays the Whirlies pushed across another score but the try for extra point was blocked. As the game ended another of Emmert's well-placed punts had the Greensboro eleven backed up on their own three-yard line.

In their opening game the freshman team was defeated 6-0 by the same Greensboro High reserves.
