The Guilford students chosen are John Haworth, Clark Wilson, Elizabeth Hare, Edward Hirabayashi, Roxie Roberson, Jack Bilyeu, Jean Lindley, Paul Jernigan, and Shirley Williams. Choir Holds Picnic On Edwards' Farm

The Choir picnic was held at Ethel Edwards farm, about six miles from the college, last Sunday afternoon. It was organized by members of the Choir who wanted a picnic in place of the annual fall outing which was postponed this year due to bad weather. The regular Choir picnic will be held this coming spring.

Bob Collins, Ethel Edwards, and Dick Spencer had charge of the program, refreshments and transportation. Members of the Choir were free to bring guests which accounted for a fair percentage of those present. Winners of games and contests were Cassie Williams, Ethel Edwards, Gerry Garris, and Marie Kemp. A wienner roast was held and singing was conducted around the bonfire. Mr. Woodhouse recited "Casey at the Bat."

President of the group is Gerry Garris, while Henry Lane and Jim Williams have been chosen for the business and stage managers, respectively. Ethel Edwards has the duties of librarian with Barbara Watson as her assistant. The freshman class representative is Jim Boyles, the Sophomore representative is Mary Dettor, and Virginia Hauser and Mary Frances Chilton representing the Junior and Senior classes.

Inter-Racial Club Meets; Plans Lecture Exchange

A regular monthly meeting of the inter-racial meeting was held on the Guilford College campus November 7 in the Hut. Representatives from Bennett, A. and T., Woman's College, Greensboro College, and Guilford were present.

The Inter-Collegiate Committee and the playground committee of the workshop gave reports on their activities. The Inter-Collegiate Committee is attempting to arrange an exchange of professors from the various colleges for such programs as lectures similar to those held here on Friday nights.

The next meeting of the commission will be held at A. and T. College December 5.

Quakers Drop Second To Give Conference Honors to Catawba

By beating down a fighting Quaker eleven the Indians from Catawba showed their worth as conference champs. The powerhouse gave out with everything it had to plow through, around and over the Guilford team to the tune of four tallies plus the extra points. And by doing so, not only knocked the Quakers from any conference aspirations they had, but also from any possible chances of a bowl bid.

The Crimson and Grey team went into the game greatly weakened by the injuries of some of its star players. The absence of Bill Feeny at tackle was severely felt throughout most of the game. And the fancy flinging of Art Faircloth was conspicuous by its absence until the final frame when he made good four out of eight attempts. This brings Art's record up to 35 connections of 48 of his heaves.

Kept on the defense most of the time, the Quakers could sustain effective offenses only twice. One was in the opening minutes of play when Powell, Gordon, and Maultsby consistently clipped off short gains to move the ball down the Indians' 17-yard line. And the other drive came late in the contest when Faircloth took over with his sharp passing to Riddle, moving down to the Catawba 31.

It was up to the big boys to try to stop the hard running of Bowen, Speacht, Spears and Georgianna—

Roy Cole and Band To Play for Dance

The Annual Fall Dance to be given by the Monogram Club November 30 will be the most elaborate and extensive dance in the history of the school. Music will be provided by Roy Cole and his well known band from the University of North Carolina. They will be familiar to many as the band was engaged at Carolina Beach for the summer season.

The dance will be a semi-formal card dance with the girls expected to be in formal dress, the men having it optional as to their dress. The dance cards will be put on sale early enough for everyone to have ample time to get them filled out. This is done on a reciprocal basis with the exchanging of sets marked on the cards before the dance. There will be sixteen sets with two dance numbers making up each set. It is customary for the escort to reserve the first and last sets of each half of the dance with his own partner. In consideration of any stags or late comers cutting will be permitted in the second number of each set.

The price of the cards which are to be considered also as the tickets will be sold for $1.50. All profits made are to be used toward the purchase of the scoreboard.

At intermission there will be a presentation of gold footballs made to the two members of the team who will have been voted as the best blocker and tackler by their teammates. If the new scoreboard is procured by then it will be presented to the school at that time. Refreshments will be served during the intermission after the presentations.

The cards will be put on sale starting Tuesday, November 19, and will be available from any member of the Monogram Club. Day hops can purchase their cards from the bookstore or from Jack Bilyeu.

Noted British Leader Speaks for Peace

The Honorable Rhys J. Davies, N. P., was presented to Guilford College under the auspices of the American Friends Service Committee, at a recent chapel program.

Mr. Davies, seven times a member of the House of Commons, spoke in the cause of peace. He said that he had spoken against war, even at the height of the conflict. "It is up to the statesmen of the world to find the causes of war, such as population pressure, high tariffs and remove them," the Britisher suggested.

Emphasizing the futility of war, he pointed out that the world has seen 500 wars which have settled nothing.

More homes were damaged and more people made homeless in Manchester than the total population of North Carolina.

Mr. Davies pointed out that mankind is the same wherever one goes, every nation having its share of good, bad and indifferent.

"History is written to make every nation happy; it is a high type of patriotism, every nation interpreting the facts of a battle to its own advantage, minimizing its defects and making much of victories," he declared.

"Churchill was defeated because as a good war leader he would not have made a good peace. He loves war too much," insisted the English spokesman. "Today the people must accept the responsibilities of a good peace; they must know what they want and be willing to work for it."

He concluded by saying that the political power of the world was now in the United States, and expressed the hope that Americans would make better use of it than London had.
