'G' Club To Present 'Klub Kampus Kuties'

Dramatic Council Will Present 'Arsenic and Old Lace'

Beth Frederick Announces Cast To Play Leading Roles in Humorous Production

Joseph Kesselring's hilarious comedy, "Arsenic and Old Lace," will be presented by the Guilford College Dramatic Council in Memorial Hall on the evening of May 16. Beth Frederick, president of the council, will co-direct with Jerry Allen.

The two main roles of the "charitable" old maids, who sprinkle Arsenic and Victorian humor in equal amounts, will be portrayed by Eleanor Cornelson and Marjorie Benbow. Their naive and amusingly diabolical schemes drive their nephew, Mortimer Brewster, into a state of nervous prostration. Bill McCracken, a newcomer to the Guilford stage, plays this role and will serve as the love interest of Elaine Harper, a cute Brooklyn bombshell portrayed by Charlotte Flanders. The immortal charges of Teddy Brewster (alias Teddy Roosevelt) fall into the hands of the rotund and robust Jerry Ducker. His crazy safaris into Panama and up San Juan Hill upset the plans of the sadistic Jonathan a Karloff-like role that Jack White will re-enact. Jonathan's partner in crime, and surgeon general of the underworld, Dr. Einstein, a role that Peter Lorre made famous, will be acted by Alfred Cappelletto.

While the sisters are dispensing joy and Arsenic, two Brooklyn flatfoots meander around, happy in their ignorance. These two cops are played by Mo Campbell and Hank Harvey. Their stupid activities anger the detective of their precinct, a detective of the Lloyd Nolan type. Bill Kerr will portray this part. The other minor roles are taken by Bill Danenburg, Howard Coble, Don Troxler and Jerry Allen.

This play was chosen in the hope of stirring up interest in Guilford dramas. The members of the Dramatic Council admit quite frankly that some of the more recent plays haven't been up to the standards of previous Guilford presentations, and they felt that in putting on a play that appeared before 'standing room only' audiences, they'll be able to get dramatics back on its feet.

The cast and directors are working under pressure, as they have only one month in which to produce a play that requires months of practice. The two main roles alone, have almost ninety pages of lines to master! Alan Hamilton stage manager, has promised better than average sets.

Interracial Committee Holds Meet in Hul

Guilford College played host to the Inter-racial Committee, when on Thursday April 17 a meeting was held in the Hul. At about 8 p.m., Chairman Mary Ella Harrell of Woman's College called the meeting to order. On hand were representatives from Greensboro College, Guilford, and Woman's College. The students from Bennett, A & T College, and Emmanuel Lutheran were unable to attend.

After the customary introductions were made, the business of the committee was taken care of. Then, Dacia Lewis, a student at Woman's College, presented basic subject matter for discussion on the current problem of a loan to Greece and Turkey. The entire group took an active part in this and it wasn't until refreshments were served that they could be persuaded to put aside world problems.

Plans were made for a nominating committee as officers for the coming school year are to be appointed. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, May 15 at the Student Baptist House on the Woman's College campus.

New Biology Teacher

MR. ZOLLIE REED

Biology Teacher Is Added to Faculty

Mr. Zollie Reed, most recent addition to the faculty of Guilford, described the large required class, Biology 12, a lesson in mutual toleration for both him and the student. He added that he enjoyed lecturing and lab work, but the required subject necessitate more exertion from the students than they like to put out.

Mr. Reed's many versatile interests include swimming, tennis, and other athletics. He also has a large and growing assortment of classical records.

Before coming here, he taught at Birmingham Southern College in Birmingham, Alabama, his home state. Dr. J. Paul Reynolds, a Guilford graduate and disciple of Dr. Campbell told him about this school. Although Dr. Reynolds painted an attractive picture of the school, Mr. Reed was pleasantly surprised to find how attractive it really is.

A graduate of Florence State Teacher's College in Alabama, he went to work on his Master's Degree at the Peabody Institute in Nashville, Tennessee. He spent two and one half of his three and one half years of Army service overseas in England. He was connected with the weather station of the Air Force.

SCA Gives One-Act Play For Vespers Meeting

The Student Christian presented "A Man's Monument," a one act play for Vespers, Monday, March 24. The play was under the direction of Eleanor Cornelson and the cast included Inge Longrich, Brad Snipes, Jim Williams, Charlotte Flanders, Mary Gardner Pate, Ann Raiford, David Hadley, and Carl Erickson.

Heading the list of behind the scene crew was Don Troxler, stage manager and Julia White chairman of make-up. Miss Audrey Richards was faculty advisor. An appreciative audience enjoyed the presentation as noted by the applause that the cast received.

NOTICE

A new form has been issued by the Veterans Administration Office to be filled out by all veterans who plan to attend school this summer or next fall. This form is to facilitate payment of subsistence with the minimum of delay between the summer session and the regular semester next fall. Get these forms from the Treasurer's Office and fill out in duplicate. Send one copy to the VA office in Winston Salem and leave one copy in the Treasurer's Office.

A. F. S. C. Holds Convention Here

By DAVID HADLEY

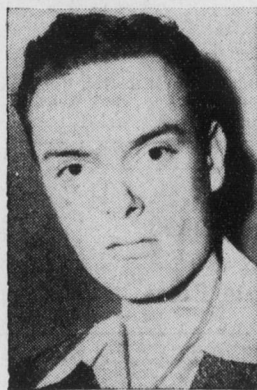

Friday and Saturday, April 18 and 19, the American Friends Service Committee held its quarterly national convention at the New Garden Meeting house. As a prelude to the conference, Louis Schneider, personnel secretary of the AFSC, spoke in chapel Thursday giving an account of the work of the AFSC through the eyes of the man behind the desk, and outlining the various needs for personnel both here and abroad.

The conference officially opened Friday morning with an open forum discussion by representatives of the North Carolina Yearly Meeting, AFSC members and those appointed by the North Carolina Yearly Meeting on the AFSC. Presiding over the meeting was Dr. Henry J. Cadbury, chairman of the AFSC and Mrs. Eleanor Stabler Clarke, associate secretary of the committee. The purpose of this meeting was to familiarize North Carolina Friends with the program and the policies of the AFSC and to inform them of the current developments of the committee's social, racial, relief, and religious activities in the United States and abroad.

Then that afternoon Social Industrial Section reports were presented by David Henley, secretary of the Social-Industrial Section; Dr. D. D. Carroll, dean of the School of Commerce at UNC; and Arle Brooks, member of the Friends Prison Service Committee. It was stated that

Guilford Student Is Winner in Contest

In the recent short-story contest sponsored by the New Republic Magazine, J. Wm. "Bill" McCracken, a freshman pre-med student, won second prize of $250. Bill sent in two manuscripts and is still uncertain which brought him the honors.

The contest was limited to students in colleges and universities under the GI Bill of Rights. Over 2000 entries were submitted and the magazine has announced that it will publish all prize-winning stories in early issue of the New Republic.

First place went to a student at Columbia University and the five awards of $50 and the thirty honorable mentions went to students scattered in various parts of the country. Many of the entries attend the large universities and colleges of the country; this tends to place Guilford in national prominence. Judges were Marshall Best, editor of Viking Press; Frank Taylor, until recently editor for Reynal and Hitchcock; and Otis Wiese, editor of McCall's Magazine.

McCracken, a native of Pelham, N. C., was pleased and surprised when the notice of award was received. When asked what he planned to do with his prize money, he replied that he was going to save it, 'naturally.' He hopes to go into the field of medicine and become a brain surgeon. His award didn't particularly surprise his English professor, for recently he turned in a 33 page term paper—all written in poetry. However, he prefers short stories to poetry writing.

Both of his stories were on the war; one of which was entitled, "No Change in the Weather," and

Night Club To Have Opening This Week End in Gymnasium

By CARLYLE MCKAUGHAN

The construction of the new night club, the first of its kind on campus, is being rushed to completion for its opening tomorrow night. Herf Schoellkopf, the manager of the Klub Kampus Kuties, announces that he has engaged the famous and popular night club entertainer Bill Byatt to act as master of ceremonies for the premiere. Dancing and dining will be on tap, with music being furnished by the reliable band of the year led by Juke Box.

The floor show will feature the widely known and much talked about Kampus Kuties, probably the most eye-opening chorus ever to perform in this part of the country. Excellent service is promised by the manager who has an especially well-trained staff of waiters and cigarette girls, to serve the patrons with a wide choice of the best in food, drink and niceties. The menu has a rather long list of delicate dishes for your appetite and the drinks are said to be the finest anywhere.

The furnishings of the Klub Kampus are especially to be commended as the mural to the viewed are of the imported variety, painted especially for the decoration of this exquisite outlay. The bar, a circular affair, was designed by Ralph Billingsly, the proprietor of the famous Stork Club in New York City. The bandstand was originally planned to be of the revolving type but due to the request for additional table space, it was changed to the more conventional "box" type.

Assisting the master-of-ceremonies and the gay chorus will be an especially picked quartet who will give renditions that will be a treasure in your chest of memories for years to come.

The Klub Kampus Kuties will present one of the most fashionable shows of its kind and the

Schedule of Social Activities Planned

The new Social Committee consisting of Ed Alexander, Al Amatruda, Frisco Bray, Hank Harvey, Hoyt Hinshaw, Wes Inman, Bill Stamey, and Jack White, under the direction of Betty Nunn, has made plans for better and more frequent entertainment on campus.

They got off to a good start on Saturday night, April 12, when the motion picture "Beyond Tomorrow" was shown in Memorial Hall. On Saturday, April 19, the committee sponsored a hayride. Three wagons took the group of more than 30 to a farm not far from Guilford. The amount of weenies consumed bears mute witness to the hearty appetite of the crowd.

The Social Committee has a wide variety of activities planned for every Saturday night until examination start. All of these however will not be sponsored solely by them as several other campus organizations have programs scheduled. The Monogram Club's "Night Club" and the May Day Dance arranged by the Women's Athletic Association are two outstanding examples of Guilford's revised social life.

The blank spots in the school calendar have all been provided for and there is to be no lack of campus entertainment for the rest of the academic year. The new Social Committee is looking ahead and Chairman Betty Nunn will welcome any suggestions for next year.

Campus Briefs

Hooked . . .

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Margaret Short and Ralph Gray Zimmerman, both of High Point. The wedding is planned for June. Ralph, who is better known around campus as "Zim," is a sophomore pre-dental student.

Scouting . . .

Joe Leak, Billy Powell and John Holland returned Sunday from a week's stay at Camp Echokotee in Orange Park, Florida. They attended the National Camping School for Boy Scout Camp Directors to prepare themselves for camp director's work this summer.

Archdale Social . . .

The boys of Archdale sponsored softball game in the pasture last Saturday afternoon, followed by a Weiner roast. That night the group of 30 enjoyed a dance in the social room of Archdale Hall.

New Chapel . . .

Beginning with the chapel last Tuesday, a series of religious programs have been planned. The programs will be held on Tuesday in place of the regular chapel and will continue for at least 3 more Tuesdays.

Alumni Meets . . .

The High Point Chapter of the Guilford College Alumni Association is meeting in the Sheraton Hotel in High Point today. The speaker is to be Miss Gilbert of the faculty at Guilford.

The Washington (D. C.) Area Chapter plans a meeting for May 1 at the Wesley Heights Community Club.

Operating . . .

James Paton recently underwent an operation to remove an internal goiter. He entered the hospital in February and is reported to be progressing nicely but will not return to school this semester.

Breakfast . . .

Sunday morning, April 20, at 7:45, the annual SCA installation breakfast was held in the college pasture. Joe Lasley led a devotional period, then turned over the reins to Brad Snipes and the new cabinet.
