Teams Work Out for Carolina Games

If you've seen some girls out on the hockey field who look as though they're playing for blood, it's the girls' hockey teams practicing up for their game with Carolina, November 8.

From the twenty-five girls who have been working out, fifteen will be chosen to journey to Carolina and uphold Guilford tradition:

If you remember, last year the Guilford girls tied the Carolina girls in Kenan Stadium, 1-1. This year we hope to win.

The girls from Guilford are working to build up endurance as the field at Carolina is about four times the size of Hobbs field. Also the girls need practice in teamwork and strategy.

Later on in the season, the girls will play at Woman's College. Let's hope they win!

Last Saturday night a small band of Quakers went Bear-hunting around Hickory. They were armed with Split-T guns and were dressed in resplendent red and white uniforms topped off by brand new matching stockings. Things backfired, however, and the Quaker muskets failed to go off with their usual fire power. When the skirmish was over, the Bears had scratched and chewed their way to a 20 to 0 victory.

Fans Shivered

While soft arctic breezes blew straight down from the North Pole, the small band of faithful Guilford followers shivered and shook as their favorites were smothered under by Lenoir Rhyne's powerful single-wing attack. Knowing the potential power of Coach Eddie Teague's charges, we find it difficult to believe that they could be as Lenoir Rhyne and E.C.T.C. Two weeks of strenuous and concentrated practice were put in preparation for last week's game. The Bears had been very well scouted and their strong points had been constantly emphasized; yet there same points were used very effectively against us. No blame whatsoever can be placed upon the coaching staff and their preparation for the game. It was certainly not due to a lack of a will to win on the part of the players; because they really wanted that game. I will not attempt to explain our defeat, but would like to point to a few of the things that hurt us quite a bit.

For instance, a large amount of the Bear's gaining on the ground was due to the fact that our tackle was being trapped over and over again. It was also strange to see our very fine pass receivers unable to hold on to the ball, when that is, quarterback Al Johns was able to get it to them. Our defensive secondary was perhaps the weakest feature in our whole set-up. As for some of the brighter spots in our last two outings, an excellent defensive end has been discovered in tall, rangy Bob Gordon. He has the size, the will, and lacks only experience. Other excellent prospects are G. F. Seymour, Lawton Gresham, and Billy Yates.

School spirit this year is certainly to be commended. The team really feels that the students are behind them, win or lose. Cheerleader Charles Neeley is to be congratulated for his excellent efforts in putting together the weekly pep rallies which have done much to further the improved school spirit.

In closing we'd like to comment, as little Jim Robinson always does after we lose a game, "I still think we've got a good team."

Quakers Bow to Bears; Play Indians Sat. Night

By Willis Fussell, Jr.

Last Saturday the Guilford Quakers ran into the Lenoir Rhyne Bears and came out on the short end of a 20-0 score.

The Bears' scores came on long runs by Gene Robinson, Steve Trudnack, and Don Kirkpatrick. Robinson's long run came on his specialty, running back punts. This time it was one of Bob Yarborough's kicks which Robinson took all the way for the Bears' first score.

The Quaker offense was ineffective against the Bears, the worst it has been this season. Johns could not hit with his passes, throwing twenty and connecting on only six. Walt Moon was the biggest ground gainer for the Quakers, gaining 42 yards in six tries for a seven-yard average. Other than that, not much can be said about the offensive power of the Quakers.

Defensive Play

The defensive team played a fine ball game, holding the Bears several times when it appeared they would score. Topping, Spencer, and Attayek were standouts on defense.

Tomorrow night the Quakers face a strong Catawba eleven. The Indians, always a tough opponent for the Quakers, are remembered for their win over V.M.I. this year, but the Quakers will be remembered for their win over unbeaten Emory and Henry. The Quakers are capable of playing top-notch football and with the spirit the team has and their will to win, tomorrow night's game should be one of the best of the season. They aren't forgetting their loss last year to the same club by a 19-12 score, and the Red and Gray will be going all out for revenge.

Let's everyone get behind them and be out there rooting for them.
