

'Our Town' Play To Begin Next Thursday

Christians Nose Out Quakers By 6-0 Score

Quakers Showed Ground-Gaining Power, But Lacked Scoring Punch in Tough Tilt

BURLINGTON MEMORIAL STADIUM, NOV. 23—Although gaining tremendous yardage throughout the annual Thanksgiving Day classic, a determined group of Quakers could not muster paydirt losing to the Elon Christians 6-0 before 2,500 spectators.

Starting off like a house on fire, Elon returned Alexander's booming punt to their 30-yard line, and then picked up three first downs. However, Guilford took advantage of its first break as Watson recovered a completed pass on the Guilford eight yard line.

Yarborough Plays Great Game

Yarborough, who played a great game, then took the ball on the first play from his eight and carried for 46 yards to the Elon 46. From there the Quakers picked up two more first downs, mainly on the brilliant running of Venuto. The drive started on Elon's twenty, where with fourth down and fifteen to go, Yarborough attempted a field goal but it was low and wide.

Elon then took over and drove to the Quaker 40 where they were stalled and kicked on the Guilford seven.

Guilford's First Drive

From their own seven the Quakers drove into Elon territory picking up five first downs on a 15-yard penalty and the running of Venuto. Lady Luck then hurt, Schopp, taking a handoff from Johns, fumbled on the Elon 40 and they recovered. Elon, however, got nowhere—in fact they were gaining backwards when they kicked from their 21.

Guilford took over on their 35 but were able to gain only six yards. Yarborough kicked to Elon's 30 where the Christians took over.

Christians Strong on Offense

Using a crushing running game the Christians drove from their own 30 to the Quaker six. On second and five the Christians were driven back to the Quaker 20. Grayson stepped back and passed to Erickson over the head of Watson, who was coming up fast, for the first Christian touchdown.

Quakers received the kickoff and drove down to the Elon 20 on runs by Venuto and Yarborough and a 12-yard pass from Johns to Venuto.

The half ended with the Christians in front 6-0.

Second Half

The Christians kicked off to the Quakers at the beginning of the second half. Yarborough fumbled and Breedon picked it up on the six being downed there by a host of Christians. After a loss of two yards on the first down, Yarborough kicked from his own end zone to Elon's 38.

After a series of kicks by both teams, the Quakers took over on their own 30 and drove to the Quaker 15-yard line where the Quaker defense held and the Quakers took over on their own 20 after Elon had been pushed back.

Quakers Defense Holds

The Christians took over on their own 30 and penetrated to the Quaker 15-yard line where the Quaker defense held and the Quakers took over on their own 20 after Elon had been pushed back.

"Moon Struck"

Bob Yarborough took a pitchout from Johns and gained 34-yards on a series of plays featuring the running of Venuto, Moon and Yarborough. The Quakers drove down to scoring zone, but could not get over that final stripe. Johns tried a fourth down pass to Yarborough which was incomplete and the Christians took over.

Due to the stellar defensive play of the Quakers, the Christians got nowhere. Yarborough returned a Christian punt to the Elon 25 and the Quakers drove from there to the six-yard line again. Johns lost seven yards on an attempted pass

The Monogram Club Sweetheart To Be Crowned at Dance

This year's Monogram Club Christmas Dance on Saturday, December 9, will bring forth something new . . . a "Sweetheart of the Monogram Club." Instead of the usual Christmas Queen, the members of the club are going to elect their own sweetheart. Any girl who attends Guilford will be eligible to receive the honor.

The members will cast their ballots for their favorite girl at their next meeting (November 26), but the lucky winner will not be disclosed until the intermission of the Christmas Dance.

Harold Gale To Play

Harold Gale and his orchestra will supply the music which is on the Glen Miller style, just right for dancing. The dance, a semi-formal affair, will begin at 8:30.

Oh Boy, Vacation!

Christmas Vacation this year begins on Saturday December 16, 1950 at 1:00 P.M.

Classes will be resumed again on January 2, 1951 at 8:30 A.M.

On January 12, 1951 at 9:00 A.M. final examinations for the first semester begin.

Dr. Paul Griswold Macy Talks on Church Unity

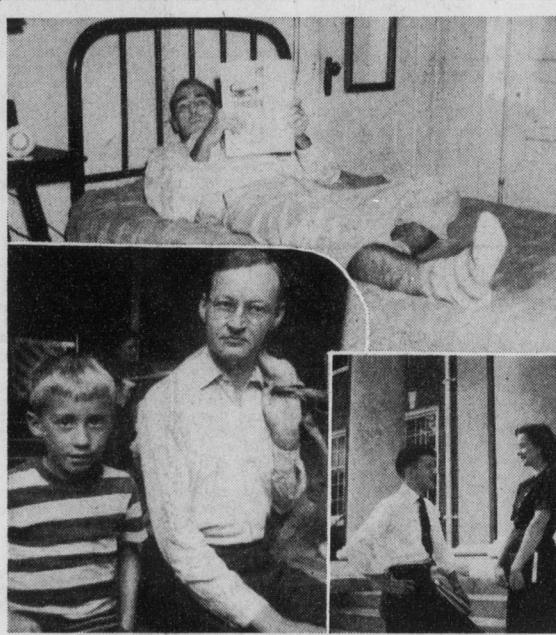

"The prospect of universal ruin is now a scientific possibility," Dr. Paul Griswold Macy, of Chicago, Charles Brent Lecturer on Church Unity, said in the first of his series of lectures at Guilford on Friday, November 17.

Speaking at a chapel program, Dr. Macy said that if certain tendencies gain the upper hand it is a probability. However, the one great hope for peace and brotherhood lies not so much in political and social movements as in the field of religion.

Discussing the development and function of the Christian Church, Dr. Macy revealed, "The Christian Church at the outset, although it had within it very diverse elements, began to hold together people across all lines of race, nations, class, and creed. By the middle of the second century it could be said that the church was like the soul in the body—it held the world together."

Choir To Present Bach's 'St. Matthew's Passion'

Music director Charles Coll Underwood announced that practice sessions for Bach's "Passion According to St. Matthew" will be held each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Guilford College auditorium. The "Passion According to St. Matthew" is the Guilford College A Cappella Choir's spring project and it replaces the annual presentation of Handel's "The Messiah." The exact date for the oratorio has not been set but will be in the early Spring.

Barter Theatre Production Enjoyed by Guilford Folk

Although the dialogue was altered from its original, the costumes more elaborate, and the antics more modern, William Shakespeare himself would have smiled a nod of approval for the Barter Theatre production of "The Comedy of Errors" on November 20.

From the opening words the Barter group forgot the strict English Elizabethan prose and added a few American expressions, still keeping Shakespeare's magic touch, however.

"The Comedy of Errors" was a merry confusion of a shipwreck and mistaken identities and was carried out in a Greek motif along lines similar to other Barter Shakespearean productions. The gay comedy blossomed a light-hearted spirit of fun with a wealth of dramatic irony.

Top Notch Performer

Most in attendance—a packed house—agreed that Mel Turner as Dromio of Syracuse gave a top-notch performance. Turner's flam-

Mrs. Milner Talks on Marriage and Family

Guilford College students were told November 12 that "seeking happiness" in marriage doesn't always work as expected. Mrs. Ernestine C. Milner, associate professor of psychology, spoke on Marriage and the Family to a large turnout at the regular weekly meeting of the Student Christian Association.

Mrs. Milner emphasized that true happiness comes to those who choose their mates wisely and then work out the plans and problems cooperatively. She said that the small co-educational college campus is an ideal environment in which to find one's partner in marriage because the combination of work and play together gives an excellent chance to see both the strong and weak qualities in each other's personalities.

Sadie Hawkins Day Dance Successful

Sadie Hawkins Day in Dogpatch had nothing for excitement on our WAA Sadie Hawkins Square Dance, held last Saturday night, November 18, in honor of that great occasion. From start to finish of this hilarious evening, it was plain to see just who had the upperhand.

Transformed right into a scene from Dogpatch, the gymnasium was humorously and artistically decorated with posters of all the Li'l Abner characters.

The music of Gurley Wyrick and his string orchestra, with Jake Welker calling, held the mob spellbound. Between square dances, the boys entertained us with more string rhythms. Popular records were also played. Some danced, while others laughed together while trying to balance themselves in precarious crowded positions on the bales of hay.

During intermission, Coach Paul Lentz presented some unique prizes. The funny door prize went to Jim Finch and his date. The best-dressed girl's prize went to Dot Demos, and the best-dressed boy's prize to Bill Bright.

Credit for this outstanding square dance goes to all the hard-working members of the Women's Athletic Association Cabinet, headed by Margie Jardine, social chairman, and Lynn Jessup, whose publicity and art work made the effect complete.

Cast of Twenty-six Players Headed by Mr. E. Daryl Kent

The cast for the play, "Our Town," to be presented by the Dramatic Council December 7 is to be headed by Mr. E. Daryl Kent, who will take the part the stage manager.

In a play of this type—no setting or props will be used—the stage manager must implant the scene in the mind of the spectator through narration, the directors say.

Most of the characters in "Our Town" are new to the Guilford College stage. Jim Williams will try out his bedside manner in the part of Dr. Gibbs. Lucy Leake will play the part of his typical, likable wife. The good doctor's two children, George and Rebecca, will be played by Bob Ertl and Betty Venable, respectively.

The Cast

The Gibbs' next-door neighbors, the Webbs, will be portrayed by the following: Mr. Webb, Josh Crane; Mrs. Webb, Geri Mays; Walley Webb, Ed Berry; and Emily Webb, which is a part of foremost importance because it is through Emily's eyes that the audience is supposed to see the little town of Grover's Corners, will be played by Jo Cameron.

Some of Guilford's already tried and proven actors such as Karl Reinhardt and Bobby Wall will hold down parts of minor importance.

Attend the Play

This play shows promise of being one of the best ever staged at Guilford. Let's all get behind it with the same kind of spirit that we have been behind the football team.

Guilfordians Attend Statewide Meeting

The annual conference of the International Relations Clubs of North Carolina was attended by the following delegates: Howard Davis, president of the Guilford College I.R.C. and of the I.R.C.N.C.; Billy Harris, treasurer of the Guilford I.R.C. and secretary of the I.R.C.N.C.; Udo Gengenbach, member of the Guilford I.R.C.; and Mr. Hiram Hiltz, faculty adviser to the Guilford I.R.C.

The conference, held at Western Carolina Teachers' College, opened about 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, November 18, with a welcoming address by Paul A. Reid, president of W. C. T. C., who stressed the importance of informed public opinion in regards to international affairs and the important part which we students had in helping to form public opinion.

The conference then proceeded into discussions, the first on "United Nations Today," and the second on "What Should Our Foreign Policy Be Toward Communist China?"

The first discussion was opened by Davis, Student Chairman, who proposed the question, "What is wrong with the U.N.?" This led to a very stimulating and fruitful discussion in which the participants, while becoming cognizant of the various weaknesses, became increasingly aware of the valuable and important contributions which the U.N. has made to the maintenance of world peace and order. Among some of the important questions considered were the following: has the U.N. been too selective in admitting members? This was in specific reference to Franco Spain and Red China. This evoked another question of the right of the U.N. had to judge the desirability of admittance under the form of government which a certain country maintained.
