

College Finishes Plans for Construction of Six-Acre Lake

Dr. K. W. Clark Gives Mt. Sinai Program Friday, March 2

Dr. Kenneth W. Clark of Duke University will describe and show colored pictures of his famous literary, scientific and photographic expedition to Mt. Sinai in three programs at Guilford College on Friday, March 2. The expedition was sponsored by the Library of Congress.

This program will be sponsored by the college and the Student Christian Association for the benefit of all interested persons in Guilford County. As reported it is an exciting and dramatic story of the difficult journey last year to the famous mountain to investigate 3300 volumes which are usually not available for scientific study.

It is expected that ministers, college and high school pupils and a large general gathering will find the program a rich supplement to much of their study. The program for high school students and public school teachers will begin in Memorial Hall at 4 p.m. The evening program for adults will begin at 8 p.m. Tickets can be obtained from Pete Moore, assistant professor of Religion.

Dr. Clark and his assistants photographed 1,500,000 pages which will be made available to scholars on microfilm at a rate of about $2.50 per 500 pages.

The documents cover a wide range of knowledge, including history, art, medicine, music, mathematics and religion.

Correction

In the last issue of the Guilfordian a few names of the 1951 May Court were unintentionally omitted. Besides Queen Edgerton and Maid of Honor Smith, it includes: Ann Stabler, Sally Goodrich, Rodney Schellenger, Shiny Williams, Gene Peace, Marjorie Jardine, Patti Simpson and Dorothy Kiser.

Miss Mildred Marlette Has More Jobs Than Actual Time

By Darrell Peeler

Miss Mildred Marlette is one woman who has more jobs than time in which to perform them. Officially, she is Dean of Women, Assistant Professor of English, and a member of Historical Committee, the group which cares for Guilford's priceless Quaker records. In addition to these duties, however, she serves as part-time infirmary nurse, mender of broken hearts, Mother Confessor, adviser to budding authors, arbiter of thousands of minor squabbles, and champion of law and order.

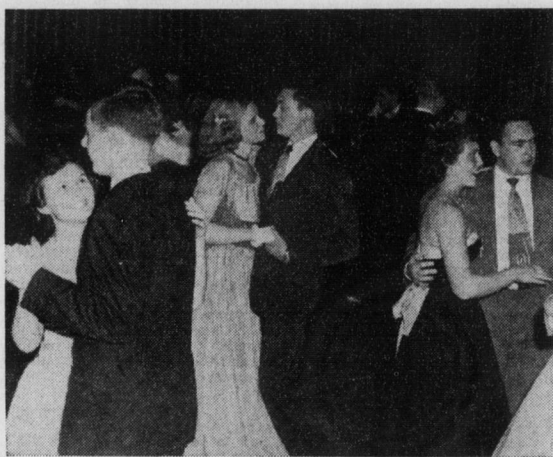

Varied Background

Young and energetic, as indeed she must be to cope with 144 young women, Miss Marlette has an excellent background for the tough job she holds. Born near Graham, N. C., she graduated from Guilford in 1935, and taught eight years in North Carolina secondary schools, taking time out to serve three years as a Link Trainer Instructor (with a rating equivalent to that of a Chief Petty Officer) in the WAVES. In 1946 she went to Carolina, where she did graduate work in English and served as Instructor in the English Department, taking her Master's degree in 1947. After a year's work toward the doctorate, she came to Guilford in 1948 as Dean of Women, and has served continuously in that capacity since.

A Few Questions

In connection with her military service, the writer felt compelled to put forth these questions.

Guilfordian To Sponsor Beard-Growing Contest

Beginning today when this issue reaches Guilford students, the GUILFORDIAN is sponsoring the first annual Guilford College "Razor Holiday," or better known as Beard Week. The contest will last until 1 p.m. Saturday, February 24.

Results Will Be Kept Secret

All Guilford students are eligible, including both males and females. The contest will be under the leadership of Guilfordian columnist, Ed Berey, and five of the campus beauties will select "Guilford's Most Appealing Beard." Final results will be kept secret and published in the next issue of the paper.

During this contest it is expected that not one steel blade will scrape a tender face, not a brush will be lathered, nor an electric razor plugged in. Over 200 males are expected to participate. The number of girls is questionable.

Columnists Viewpoint

In an interview yesterday columnist Berey said:

"From time to time in the past, individual girls have been able to demonstrate the strength of their wills over their boyfriends, and these unfortunate males have to expose their shame with whiskerless chins for all eyes to see. So it is an open question as to whether or not the "weaker" sex will be able to squelch this masculine show of independence to once-and-for-all demonstrate who really wears the pants in the family. Good luck men, you are on your own."

Guilford Accelerates With Summer Work

Guilford College officials announced an accelerated summer school program to aid students expecting to be inducted into service.

The 34th annual summer school session will be held from June 4 through August 6.

The summer term was first offered in 1917 and has continued without interruption since that time.

Courses for freshmen will include general chemistry, English composition, mathematical analysis, hygiene, shorthand, and typing. Advanced students will be offered psychology, economics, education, religion, Spanish, French, and English.

The freshman summer term is designed for students who have just completed high school work.

Guilford College I. R. C. Plays Host to W. C. I. R. C.

Last evening, February 15, the Guilford College I. R. C. played host to the I. R. C. from Woman's College. The question discussed was, "Shall we pull out of the United Nations?" Dr. Algie Newlin, professor of history, gave the introductory address, citing both sides of the question, and pointing out certain historical precedents. Howard Davis, the I. R. C.'s president, then opened the discussion, and active parts were taken by Fred Katz, Karl Reinhardt, Billy Harris, and Morton Salkind, as well as many of the W. C. girls who were unusually well-informed.

Construction To Begin in Near Future; Lake Expected To Be Ready in May

College officials announced plans today for the construction of a six-acre fishing and boating lake to be located in the pasture area behind the college gymnasium.

David Parsons, college business manager, said that the lake has already been staked out and that the actual breaking of ground and clearing of shrubbery would begin early next week or whenever the climate is warm enough. If the weather permits, the digging should be finished by April 1, and water in it by May 1, providing it rains considerably.

Dam Will Be Built

Plans call for the building of a dam 17½ feet high and 15 feet wide at the top. It will be 105 feet thick at the bottom and 325 feet long. A roadway will be constructed at the top of the dam. Mr. Parsons said that the spillway material, pipes valves, fittings, and other parts have been ordered and should be ready for installation very soon.

To Be Well Stocked

When the lake is completed it will be used exclusively for fishing and boating. It will be stocked with various types of fish. The United States Soil Conservation Service aided in the designing of the lake and dam. The actual depth of the lake will range from 18 inches to 13½ feet and in the channels five feet deeper.

The building of the lake is part of the "Guilford for a Better Tomorrow." The lake is a separate program to improve the pasture area.

Good Time Had at Successful Guilford Valentine Dance

The Social Committee-sponsored Annual Valentine Dance was another success to add to the long line of Social Committee highlights in the last two years.

Many thanks are due to Lucy Leake, chairman of the committee; Harry Roeske, head of the Decorations Committee; and Polly Edgerton, head of the Refreshment Committee.

The music furnished by Frank Justice's—old Johnny Satterfield's band—was of excellent variety. He mixed just enough jitterbug numbers and rhumbas with straight dance numbers to make it interesting. He even played one very enjoyable Mexican Hat dance on request.

Martha Warren's Russian tea and the rest of the refreshments drew many compliments as did Ed Berey's girl and her bare midriff evening gown.

By consensus of opinion all the girls were raving beauties and all the men were most handsome gentlemen.

Guilfordians Attend National Assembly

(Special to The Guilfordian)

Three leading Guilford College delegates represented Guilford at the National Student Assembly which met from December 27 through January 2 at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio.

Ruth Beeson and Hardy Carroll, students, and Edward Burrows, a Guilford faculty member now studying at the University of Wisconsin, were the delegates representing Guilford.

This assembly, meeting quadrennially, is a convention of Student Christian leaders of the nation and sets the policy of the Student Christian Association and Y's. Some of the major issues discussed were academic freedom, the place of religion in higher education, the draft, pacifism, the relation of the "Y" to the newly created National Council of Churches.

Six Guilfordians Make Straight 'A' Records

Five of the forty Guilford College honor students are members of the 1951 May Court. They are May Queen Margery Edgerton, Maid of Honor Audrey Smith, Dorothy Kiser, Marjorie Jardine, and Sally Goodrich.

The Senior Class has the largest representation of honor students, 13 of the 40 Honor Roll members being seniors. There are 9 juniors, 11 sophomores, and 7 freshmen.

Six students made all A's. May Queen Margery Edgerton was the only senior to do so. Elsa Neitzke, June Smith, and Richard Staley of the Sophomore Class made perfect records, as did Gary Hildebrand and Wilbur Marshburn of the Freshman Class. A record of all A's but one was by nine students. They are seniors Marjorie Jardine, Dorothy Kiser and Fred Lovin, Juniors Edward Blue, Emil Katz and Lucy Leake, sophomores Zoe Ann Campbell, Glenna Fulk, Carolyn Jessup, Morton Salkind and Elizabeth White, and freshmen Ann Bailey and Mabel Benedict.

Dr. Purdom Believes Russia Has 'A' Bomb

"I think that we of the Greensboro area have nothing to worry about," said Dr. E. Garness Purdom in his address to the Guilford College student body in chapel last Friday morning. Dr. Purdom was talking about the danger of our being an atom bomb target.

"I have no doubt whatever that Russia has an atom bomb," he added. "But Greensboro will be more important as a center of evacuation for casualties than anything else."

Next Issue

The next Guilfordian will be published in two weeks on March 9. Due to a cut in the budget, one issue was eliminated.
