Religious Emphasis Week begins Sunday night, February 6, with the motion picture, "I'd Climb the Highest Mountain," starring Susan Hayward and William Lundigan. The picture will be shown in Memorial Hall at 7:30 p. m. After the performance, the audience is invited to the Hut for refreshments.

Valentine Dance Here February 12

From 8:30 to 11:30 Saturday night, February 12, the students of Guilford College will have a chance to swing and sway to the music of Clyde Watson and his orchestra. The event will be the annual Valentine Dance sponsored by the Social Committee. The Social Committee budget comes from the Student Activities Fee, and is especially for this purpose, so admission to the Dance will be free.

This is another in the long line of ardent efforts being made by individuals and campus organizations to stimulate the social life on the campus. Here is a chance to get your money's worth out of your Student Activities Fee.

Much work has gone into the planning, decorating, refreshments, music, and general arrangements for this dance, and it promises to be up to the usual high standard of the Social Committee.

Take advantage of this opportunity for a semi-formal, free, no-follower dance, and plan to attend.

Ministers' Short Course Begins Monday

Monday, February 7, will mark the beginning of the annual Short Course for the Ministers of the Society of Friends. Each year they have a week-long leadership training course here at the College.

The program will begin Monday morning with registration under the direction of Robert O. Crow. During the course of the week there will be a series of talks by Leonard Wines, a returned missionary from Kiamosi, Kenya Colony, BEA. Also included on the program will be a talk by Dr. Frederic R. Crownfield, a Chapel talk by Dr. Gordon W. Lovejoy, and a Panel Discussion on "Ministerial Ethics" by Seth Hinshaw, Isaac Harris, and Frederic E. Carter.

Alumnus Named Pittsburg's "Man Of The Year"

Dr. Rufus H. Fitzgerald, retiring Chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, has been named Pittsburg's "Man of the Year" for 1954.

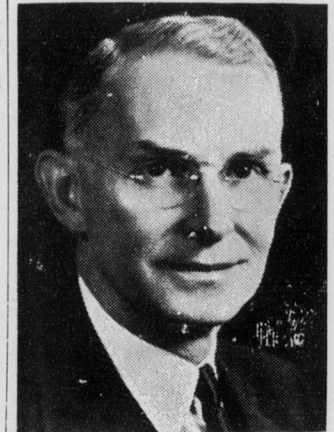

Dr. Fitzgerald received his A. B. from Guilford College in 1911. He was here recently as the 1951 Commencement speaker, and at that time was honored at a dinner by his graduating class.

Joining the University of Pittsburgh as Provost in 1938, he previously had been Director of Student Service and Professor of the Fine Arts Department of the State University of Iowa. He was named Vice-Chancellor of Pitt in 1952 and in 1945 became Chancellor. During his administration the University's enrollment doubled to more than twenty-thousand students, and five major buildings were completed. Plans have been completed for five others.

Guilford extended its congratulations to Dr. Fitzgerald in a telegram to the Jaycees, who sponsored the dinner in his honor, which read:

"Rufus Fitzgerald's Alma Mater, Guilford College, joins you in congratulating him for the inspiring leadership he has given to so many worthy civic, educational, and
