

On the Quaker Sports Scene

by CONRAD PARKER

The Quakers are on the victory trail. It seems that the better the weather the better the team play. (What will happen when some 90-degree weather rolls around?) Since the last writing of this column, the baseball team has rolled up three victories (through April 11), two in the conference, and the golf team has knocked off Lenoir-Rhyne and Elon.

Although Coach Clyde Parrish will not give his method for scoring the golf matches, every time he is seen of late he is grinning from ear to ear. His linksters are knocking the little white pellet around in good form. None of the boys have reached par level yet, but the consistency of the team has been remarkable. Coach Parrish reported earlier in the deadline week that if the boys continue improving as rapidly as they have since the season began, they will be in the thick of the race when tournament time comes around.

The track team opened its season last Saturday, the 15th, with a quadrangular meet involving East Carolina, Elon and High Point on the High Point High School cinders. After doing much of their getting in shape around the campus, the team journeyed over to the Greensboro Senior High track last Tuesday, and had an intrasquad meet. The results of the meet were not divulged, but one of the veterans of the thin-clad ranks remarked that the team this year is shaping up better than the one last season. The team's schedule calls for five meets, with the final two being the ones that count the most — the NAIA District meet and the North State Conference meet.

Coach Herb Appenzeller has tentatively set the boys up in the following divisions to begin the season: sprints (100 and 220)—Ernie Pascual, Frank Bailey, Buddy Dixon and Eddie Perkins; middle distances (440 and 880)—Buzz Fay, Howard Braxton (who will run unattached) and Eddie Williams; long distances (mile and two-mile)—Alan Toothacher and Bob Lovell; field events (javelin, shot put, discus, broad jump, pole vault and high jump)—Harold James, Frank Smith, Bob Gauldin and Bruno Frye. Bailey will probably also see action in at least one or two of these field events. Entries in the hurdles are still undecided. Good luck, boys, as you begin your season.

Lenoir-Rhyne, the University of Maine and Elon, have all bit the dust against the diamond charges of Coach Stuart Maynard. With good defense, and improving pitching, the team has bunched its offensive chances well, and is now beginning to form into a solid unit. Larry Gill is looking better each game, and is getting good support from such hurlers as Charlie Little and Mickey Herrin, who could develop either as asp of starter or an ace reliefer. The infield and outfield have both shown much improvement, and with continued work should give the Quakers one of their best defensive units in several years.

Here are several notices which have come in over the Quaker wires in the last few days:

The intramural ping pong tournament has been running for four months, and is getting somewhat tired. Get busy, and finish it up. It really isn't that bad to get beaten.

Support at the baseball games has really been good. Maybe more bleachers will be put on the field.

The tennis team's match with Elon was cancelled as the school has no tennis team. The Atlantic Christian match, however, was a complete rout: 7-0, Guilford.

Be a good sports fan. Support the Quakers.

Racketmen Victorious

—Harley Mimura

The tennis team traveled to Atlantic Christian April 13 for their first match of the season. When the day ended the Quaker racketmen had swept all matches to win by a 7-0 score.

The Quaker's number one man, Eddie Giles, started the day off right by winning his matches 6-0, 6-2. He was followed by Dave Edgerton who quickly disposed of his man by scores of 6-0, 6-2. Richard Derr and Ray Sharpe had little trouble as they breezed to victories of 6-2, 6-0 and 6-3, 6-3 respectively. Number five man Montie Milner followed the examples set by his teammates and won his match in two sets, 6-2, 6-2.

In the doubles competition, the combination of Giles and Edgerton sailed to victory by scores of 6-1, 6-3. The Quakers' number two doubles team, made up of Derr and Sharpe, won their match 6-2, 6-2 to round out the perfect day on the courts.

McDanel Is Named Athlete of the Week

—Dwight Thomas

One of the big reasons for Coach Clyde Parrish's justifiable pride in his golf team is Brinley McDanel, our Athlete of the Week. Playing in the number two position, Brinley has won his first four matches, and consistently shoots in the middle seventies.

The 6'2" 21-year-old sophomore is a native of Greensboro and a graduate of Senior High School. He is a transfer from Carolina; this is his first year at Guilford.

McDanel also represents the Quakers on the hardwood, playing center position.

Keep your eye on the golf team—all players have been doing a good job. Tom Fletcher, in the number four spot, is undefeated. But McDanel's victories and his low scores account for much of the Quakers' success.

Golfers Undefeated In Trio Of Matches

Led by the top foursome of John Wiley, Brinley McDanel, Carey Reece and Tom Fletcher, the Guilford linksters shot to wins in the first three matches of the season.

Playing on the hard Starmount Forest 18, Guilford has defeated RPI, Lenoir Rhyne and Elon.

Here are the results of the latter two matches:

Guilford 22½; Lenoir Rhyne 4½

McDanel shot a 77 to lead the Quakers to an easy victor over the Bears of Lenoir Rhyne April 4. With the exception of one man, Guilford swept all six positions.

The scores:

Maples (LR) def. Wiley (G) 2½-½; McDanel (G) def. Isenhour (LR) 3-0; team score—Guilford, 3-0.

Reece (G) def. Thomas (LR) 2½-½; Fletcher (G) def. Brewer (LR) 3-0; team score—Guilford, 3-0.

Henley (G) def. Jones (LR) 3-0; Harris (G) def. Barringer (LR) 2-1; team score—Guilford, 2½-½.

The linksters had to fall on the number three and four men to defeat Elon April 11. Reece and Fletcher came through with impressive rounds to give Guilford the edge. Wiley was the Quaker medalist with a brilliant 75.

The scores:

End Of Intramural Season Beginning

Intramural softball got underway Thursday, April 13, with the Playboys from Center Section defeating Archdale 5-0 behind the pitching of Mike "Zip" Tohn. The first two days of action were rained out.

There should be quite a battle for the crown—the time to tally up those all-important points is rapidly approaching. The defending champions, Center, are always tough and the word around campus is that the young men from English Hall may be the team to stop.

In the following schedule the first games listed begin at 3:30, the second at 4:30. Rained-out games will be played April 27th and 28th, and the play-offs begin May 1.

April 20—Center vs. Day Hops; Archdale vs. N. North.

April 21—Old N.S. vs. English; N. North vs. Center.

April 24—Day Hops vs. Archdale; Yankee S. vs. Old N.S.

April 26—English vs. Yankee S.

McDanel (G) def. Wrenn (E) 2½-½; team score—Elon, 3-0.

Reece (G) def. Lawrence (E) 2½-½; Fletcher (G) def. McLeod (E) 2-1; team score—Guilford, 3-0.
