

Newly Elected Student Legislature And WSC Officers

Pledging responsible leadership, Carolyn Kirkman won the important and demanding position of president of the Women's Student Council. The High Point native defeated Lois Chase of Lynn, Mass., in a hard-fought campaign.

Four rising seniors offered an impressive array of past experience and ran unopposed for the executive council of the Student Legislature. Campaigning before the student body, past treasurer and presidential candidate David Miller of Salem, New Jersey, cited the past achievements of the fledgling legislature. Dave then outlined the present and anticipated problems for the coming term and called on the students as a whole to support the executive council in the election and throughout the year. Others on the ticket were Sandy Brown of Burlington, Conn., vice-president; Jane Simpson of Salisbury, secretary; and Bill Seabrook of Greensboro, treasurer.

Senior delegates for next year will be Bert Bennett, Don Foltz, Sue Brown, and Linda James.

Junior delegates will be Lawrence Buffalo, Sam Scott, Katy Hudgins, and Kay Stabler.

Sophomore delegates will be Jim Williams and Mary Penn Burton.

Legislature Report

The main discussion at the April 22 meeting of the new Student Legislature concerned the recent North State Student Government Spring Conference. Several representatives from Guilford attended the proceedings which were held at Elon College a few weeks ago. The Guilford representatives joined students from nine other member colleges in a two-day conference in which they discussed some of the problems common to small college campuses. In formal workshops led by students of the sponsoring school and during informal discussions, the representatives exchanged problems and solutions of student government, social activities, and academic standards.

A proposal that the forthcoming Spring conference be held at Guilford was made at the meeting, but official action on the proposal will be taken at the next meeting of the legislature.

One of the major activities of the North State Student Government at this point is an attempt to set up a competitive academic contest among the member colleges much in the same manner of the televised College Bowl. The idea is still in the organizational stage while proposals are being made to the various colleges which would be participating, but the NSSGA is hoping to have the plan in action by next year.

Programs by College Choir

On May 12, the Guilford College A Capella Choir, directed by Mr. Jerry Smyre, will present Brahms' Requiem. The performance will take place at four o'clock in the afternoon at Dana Auditorium, and admission will be free.

This is the first time that the choir has presented the Requiem. Although they have had only a month to practice this difficult work, it is expected that the performance will be very well done.

Soloists for the work will be Jimmie Hedgecock, baritone, and Ginny White, soprano. Mr. Claude Cook will be accompanist at the organ.

The Requiem was one of Brahms' greatest compositions. It was completed in 1869, and its first performance made Brahms' work famous. The Requiem was composed in memory of Brahms' great friend, Robert Schumann, who had died in 1856. Jerry Smyre says of the work, "I think it is one of the most beautiful pieces of music that has ever been written. I have always wanted to conduct it."

On May 13, six baritones and five tenors from the choir will be participating with Woman's College and High Point College in presenting the Fauré Requiem. The North Carolina Symphony will be accompanying the concert, which will be held in Aycock Auditorium at Woman's College.

Publications Editors Elected

In the race for Guilfordian editor Ted Buddine was victorious over Karen Baldwin. A rising senior from Winston-Salem, Ted campaigned for a constructive and responsible newspaper that would give the campus as complete news coverage as possible. He emphasized the need for regular contact with the faculty and departments as well as club news and closer cooperation with the student government. Harriet Huber was elected managing editor.

Linda Byrd James of Mebane was elected on a yes-no ballot as editor of the yearbook, Quaker. As classes editor in 1962 and associate editor this year, Linda cited her experience among her qualifications in a brief but well-received speech.

Social Committee

Jane Simpson will be next year's social activities chairman. Others elected to the committee were Dwight Buffalo, Lawrence Buffalo, Eddie Gore, Walt Gramada, Bill Joyce, Pat Larracey, J. Ples McMichael, Jr., Bill Pleasants, Jim Williams, Bunny Brewer, Darlene Brigrance, Sue Brown, Sue Childress, Katy Hudgins, Pat Mallard, Lee Milner, Gloria Phillips, Kay Stabler, Jeannine Voss.

Freshman Project

The freshman class is sponsoring a car wash on Saturday, May 11, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. The price per car will be seventy-five cents. The place has not yet been determined, but it will be announced in the near future. All freshmen are urged to come out and give their support.

Krauss to Reign Over May Day '63 Festivities

This weekend the Guilford College campus will suddenly come to life in its annual eruption known as May Day. This eagerly-awaited event is the highlight of the spring social calendar, the celebration of the coming of the May.

The day begins bright and early with the jaunt of the diaper-clad freshmen. Starting in front of Cox Hall the runners are routed past the women's dorms where they receive encouragement from wide-eyed co-eds. Men's May Day then gets into full swing with the presentation of humorous skits which are written and performed by each dorm or section. The skits are then judged and awards are made for the most humorous and original presentation.

Following the completion of the men's salute to May, the proceedings are interrupted by Saturday morning classes. In the afternoon the main event of the day takes place. This is the girls' May Day pageant. The Guilford lovelies, bedecked in colorful costumes, present an afternoon of music and dance culminating in the crowning of the Queen of the May and her court. The fair Linda Krauss of Garden City, New York, is the reigning monarch of this year's May Day.

In the waning hours, couples clad in formal attire will beat a path to Guilford's Golden Ballroom to dance away the last fleeting moments of the day. As it is every year, May Day is sure to be a memorable and gay day for all from beginning to end.

Bulletin From The Registrar's Office

SUMMER SCHOOL CREDITS

Students planning to attend the Guilford College Summer School should secure an application for admission blank from the Director of Admissions office.

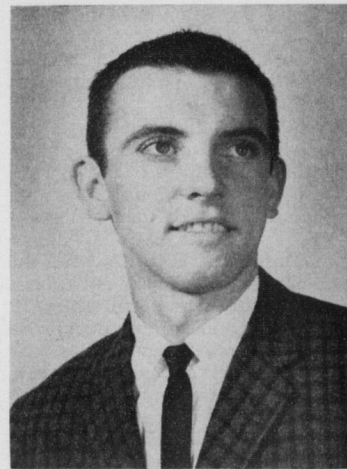

Students planning to attend other summer schools and transfer credits back to Guilford College should secure an application for permission to take such courses from the Registrar's office. The application should be taken with the catalogue of the college he plans to attend to the advisor for approval. The blank should then be returned to the Registrar's office.

Students should remember that transferable courses taken at summer school at other colleges do not carry quality point credits. The student will be credited with the appropriate number of quantity points, but grades, so long as they are "C" or better, will not affect the student's average.

COMPREHENSIVE EXAMS

The English Comprehensive Examination is scheduled for Saturday, May 25, in Memorial Hall at 1:30 p.m. This test is administered as part of the final examination for English 12. All transfer students who have not previously passed an English Comprehensive should also report for the examination, as its successful completion is a prerequisite for graduation.

Foreign Language Comprehensives will be given in King Hall on May 6, 1963. All students, including transfer students, who have not passed a Foreign Language comprehensive should appear for the appropriate examination. Room assignments for each examination will be posted before May 6.

Davidson and York Duo Win M. S. C. Positions

In Guilford College's most hotly contested race, Bob Davidson and Gary York won the election for president and vice-president of the Men's Student Council over Ray Kelsey and Larry Leighton.

For a full week the campus was covered with campaign posters urging support for each ticket. Ray and Larry urged votes for "mature and responsible" leadership. Bob and Gary's posters made frequent use of poetry to promote their ticket.

Guilford Scholars

Six new members of the Guilford Scholarship Society were installed in convocation on Friday, April 26. At a banquet held in Founders that evening the new members of Guilford's answer to Phi Beta Kappa were honored along with the honor roll students for first and second semester of this academic year. Invitations were extended to members of the faculty who are Phi Beta Kappa members, graduates who were members of the Guilford Scholarship Society while at Guilford, present undergraduates who are members of the Society, and the honor roll students for first and second semester.

The banquet was preceded by an invocation delivered by Dr. Milner. During the course of the dinner toasts were proffered to the new Scholarship Society members and the honor roll students. Penny Smith's toast to the new Society members was responded to by Elwood Parker, the new president of the Society, and Billie Adams' toast to the honor roll students was responded to by Rebecca Stout, one of the rising junior honor roll students.

The banquet was adjourned in time for the guests to proceed to the Mary Moon Meeting Room where Dr. Kruse, guest speaker for the occasion, delivered his address on "Humanity's Need for the Humanities." Dr. Kruse was professor of philosophy at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., and is presently a visiting lecturer at Woman's College.
