

YAF Has Mobilized For Nixon

Spokesmen for Young Americans for Freedom, the nation's largest conservative youth organization, announced from Washington that they have initiated a nationwide campaign to mobilize nationwide support for President Nixon's determination to effectively combat communist aggression.

National Vice-Chairman, Michael Thompson, a graduate student at the University of Missouri, said, "We support the President's attempt to disengage American ground troops in Vietnam. However, we believe that if the Vietnamese are to shoulder the major burden of the fighting, the United States should lift all military restrictions and allow the South Vietnamese to pursue a policy of victory when necessary."

"This may be the only way to bring about an honorable peace," said Thompson. "We would urge the President to set a deadline for meaningful negotiations by Hanoi. Beyond that deadline, the South Vietnamese should be allowed to use air and naval power effectively to win the war."

"To continue to permit young men to die in a war being fought with one hand behind their back and in a tactical situation in which complete military victory is an impossibility, must be regarded as the highest form of immorality."

YAF also announced a petition campaign to call upon Hanoi to renounce military victory in the South.

The petitions will be delivered to the North Vietnamese delegation in Paris.

Martha Robertson, a freshman from Petersburg, Virginia, was sentenced to disciplinary probation last Wednesday by the Judicial Board of WSC on a charge of being present in a men's dormitory suite on homecoming weekend.

The trial resulted for Miss Robertson being reported to the WSC by the MIG Judicial Board.

Miss Robertson was a witness in a previous MIG case.

The board reached the verdict of disciplinary probation after calling two witnesses and deliberating for approximately 45 minutes.

MIG CONVICTION

Involved in the same case, Moulton Avery and Evan Davis were convicted by the MIG Judicial Board on November 12, and given reprimands.

They were charged with having Martha Robertson in the parlor of their dormitory suite during homecoming weekend.

Charges against the students resulted from accusations by a Resident's Assistant who reportedly heard a girl in a suite on Saturday night of Homecoming Weekend.

According to reliable sources, the R. A. summoned an MIG member to watch the suite door while he searched for the Head Resident.

After the R.A. left, the MIG member allegedly warned the students inside the suite of the impending approach of the Head Resident.

At this time the woman student left the suite before the R. A. and Head Resident arrived.

THE TRIAL

At the beginning of the trial the defendants refused to confirm the charges.

Later in the trial they admitted their guilt.

According to reliable sources, the defendants admitted guilt in an attempt to establish a test case to determine the validity of the present rule.

SAC APPEAL

The Student Affairs Committee recently rejected Robert Wolinsky's appeal for a new trial from his MIG conviction for bringing a woman into a men's dorm suite.

MIG sentenced Wolinsky to disciplinary probation for the remainder of the semester.

Wolinsky told THE GUILFORDIAN that he had not been informed of the time of the SAC hearing and consequently was not able to attend.

The SAC decided that a similar decision would be reached in a new trial.

However, they cautioned MIG to be more careful in the future with respect to their procedures.

Cresenzo Leads Club

John Cresenzo was elected President of the Guilford College Young Republicans at a recent meeting.

Other officers elected were Karen Reehling, vice-president; Furwell Jackson, secretary; and Mike McMillan, treasurer.

The Young Republicans authorized the sending of a telegram to President Nixon, supporting his November 2 Vietnam speech.

The telegram also stated that mass public displays should be delayed to give Nixon's policies the chance to stand up to the test.

"Liliom" Plays In Winston

DIRECTOR MURRAY

The drama department of the North Carolina School of the Arts will present Ferenc Molnar's "Liliom," in the drama theater at the School of the Arts Thursday, Dec. 4, through Thursday, Dec. 11.

Performances will be at 8:15 p.m. except for Sunday, Dec. 7, when curtain time will be 7:30 p.m. Admission will be charged ($1.00 for students through college level, $2.00 for adults). Reservations should be made by calling the theater box office (784-7843), which will be open daily from 2 to 8 p.m.

The play, which has been called a legend in seven scenes and a prologue, is a combination of naturalistic drama and romantic fantasy.

It is the story of an irresistible, good-for-nothing merry-go-round barker who shows that behavior often contradicts intention.

Although Liliom fails to correct his errors, he is finally exalted through the devotion of his wife, Julie. Even though there are serious overtones, the play has much humor and many memorable characters.

It was first produced on Broadway in 1920 by the Theater Guild with Eva Le Gallienne and Joseph Schildkraut in the leading roles.

Leg. Amends Project Arts Recognition

Dale Mandel proposed that recognition be withdrawn from Project Arts at the Student Legislature meeting on November 24.

According to Mandel, each organization recognized by the Student Legislature is required in THE PATHFINDER to have a faculty advisor.

Stating that Project Arts has no such advisor, he recommended that recognition be immediately withdrawn.

Discussion led to an amendment to Mandel's proposal, whereby, "Recognition of Project Arts be removed automatically if it is found that the organization does not have a faculty advisor."

Moulton Avery, director of Project Arts at Guilford, was out of town and could not be reached by THE GUILFORDIAN for comment.

Avery is also treasurer of the city-wide Project Arts organization.

Although Avery has recently dropped out of school, he remains in these two capacities.

SMOKING

The Legislature, after discussing the no-smoking policy in the cafeteria, passed a motion asking that smoking be allowed in the left side (East end) of the cafeteria only.

The motion will be taken to the Administrative Council for final approval.
