

AFSC Scholarships To Be Awarded

The Financial Aid office recently announced the availability of four scholarships for work and study outside of the college. Three of the scholarships are sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee, the fourth by the Motion Picture and TV Engineers Society.

The four are:

1. Mary R.G. Williams Award for teaching at Friends school in Ramallah, Jordan: Free room and board plus stipend of $1,500 plus travel and study opportunities — apply by February 15, 1972.

2. Charlotte Chapman Turner Award for married persons who are rearing a family with vocational goals aimed at alleviation of social or medical problems thru social work or medicine. Amount is variable up to $1,000 renewable — apply by February 15, 1972.

3. Mary Campbell Memorial Fellowship for graduate study for American students preparing themselves as emissaries of international and interracial peace and goodwill. Award factors include academic qualifications and evidence of aptitude to pursue graduate studies. They will consider mature applicants who plan independent study not necessarily related to former graduate work. Amount is up to $1,000 for foreign study and for U.S. study commensurate with student needs. Apply by February 15, 1972.

4. Society of Motion Pictures and Television Engineers Award for undergraduate (Juniors and Seniors) or graduate work in Business, management, chemistry, acoustics, optics, photo-instrumentation. Amount is up to $5,000.

Young World Development, division of the American Freedom from Hunger Foundation, will sponsor a 20-mile Walk for Development in Greensboro, according to Nancy Thomas, walk coordinator. The march will be held in April.

Participants recruit one or more sponsors to pay them for each mile that they walk. The purpose of the student-organized project is to raise funds for, and promote the issue of international development "the new word for peace."

Millions of dollars have been raised internationally since the unique fund-raising project was originally proposed to British, Dutch and Scandinavian students by the UN Food and Agriculture Association in 1963.

FAC Is Selected

The Freshman Advisory Council for 1972 has been elected. Last year's FAC chairman Esther Hall will serve as chairman for 1972.

The FAC board consists of 12 people who will assist in the planning and organization of the summer, fall, and continuing orientation programs for 1972.

Members of the new board are: Harlan Strader, Barb Leland, Bill Fleming, Lee Hogan, Donna Muth, Cheryl Butler, Yolande Long, Tricia Gamble, Amy Wallach, Leslie Lightbourne, Janet Boyles, and David Green.

The committee was reduced in size this year because of "the need for a core group of people to plan and coordinate" according to FAC spokesman.

Other students will be called upon and given responsibilities involving leading discussion groups in the summer orientation, collect materials and information, serving as hosts, leading groups for faculty home visits, and serving as Big Brothers and Big Sisters.

Acute Nasopharyngitis?

Of all the myriad number of visitors to Guilford College each year, a large percentage are colds, sore throats, and sports injuries.

This year, there were two measles visiting here. The persons visited were sent home.

Just before semester break there were some flus hanging around. Fortunately, break discouraged much flu visitation. According to Mrs. Hester, head nurse at the infirmary where the guest book is kept, quite a few flu shots were given.

During exams, most of the problem guests were due to stress, strain, and anxiety.

At present, there is an acute nasopharyngitis with mucopurulent post pharyngeal discharge.

As for venereal diseases, according to Mrs. Hester, the problem is greater than one might think. The infirmary unfortunately can not keep accurate records because most students who think they have either syphilis or gonorrhea go of their own accord to the public health center or a private doctor. V.D. is not treated at the infirmary; students are referred to the public health clinic or a private doctor.

The exact destiny of proceeds from each walk is determined by a local student steering committee. 42.5% of the funds are retained in the city holding the walk, to help provide for such services as: emergency food and nutrition programs, inner city day care centers, school lunch programs, Indian nutritional research and education, low-cost housing projects, migrant workers' training programs, and developmental reading projects.

The remainder of the money is sent abroad, to aid in the support of: Health and nutritional centers, school construction, literacy training, local credit unions, and the like.

The over 300 national YWD groups, in addition to raising funds for, and promoting public awareness of, the pressing international problems of hunger, poverty and social injustice, also are actively involved in local community development issues. YWD people have, for example, aided in wider distribution of information on food stamp and federal lunch programs, worked for crucial cross-discipline curriculum reforms in high schools and colleges, helped in voter registration drives, and created and taught developmental education programs in their local communities.

Interested persons should contact Nancy Thomas, Gilbert Mbeo or Moulton Avery through the International Relations Club office in Founders.

Religion Seminar

Another off-campus seminar has been scheduled for New York City. This seminar is being held in conjunction with John Stoneburner's class in contemporary and alternative religious lifestyles.

The group will be in New York City from February 12 until February 19.

The material of the course for which the seminar was planned focuses greatly on a sense of community among men. Several of the places which the group will visit are interested in the communal aspects of religious life. Three visits to Emmaus House are included in the itinerary, and the Cooper Square urban renewal project will also be visited. Two drug rehabilitation programs, Exodus and Odyssey House, will be considered in terms of work done in a community spirit.

Get to know the two of you before you become the three of you.

Get to know what you both really like.

What you both really want out of life.

Get to enjoy your freedom together until you both decide you want to let go of a little bit of it.

But make it your choice.

Research statistics show that more than half of all the pregnancies each year are accidental. Too many of them, to couples who thought they knew all about family planning methods.

Get to know how the two of you don't have to become the three of you.

Or the four of you. Or...
