Tantalizing Dishes

At I.R.C Dinner

Food from many lands will be featured at the International Dinner, held in the cafeteria, April 20, at 7:30 p.m. The event is sponsored by the International Relations Club.

Beginning April 7, a limited number of free tickets to the dinner will be available in the Personnel Office in Bryan Hall. Students interested in the dinner are urged to go pick up these tickets.

Additional tickets will be sold by reservation only for $2 each. To reserve tickets, call Scottie Harvey at 294-0182. No tickets will be sold at the door on the night of the dinner.

To insure a greater variety of food, everyone on campus who can cook a foreign dish is urged to contact Nick Mason at 299-0555, or Jeanette Maharajh, Shore 203, 299-9728.

Those bringing food will be admitted free; furthermore the IRC will reimburse them for the cost of the food or special ingredients. Food prepared for the dinner should be brought to the cafeteria by 7:00 on the night of the event.

Following the meal, entertainment will be provided.

In past years, the IRC dinner has been a very popular event. Last year an unusually large turnout resulted in ridiculously long lines and a shortage of food. To avoid such problems, fewer tickets will be made available for this year's dinner, and attendance should be reduced. Some foreign students from UNC-G and A&T plus select individuals from the community will be present, however.

Anyone wanting to help with preparations should contact chairman Nick Mason.
