

Lady Quakers Whip N.C. Central

The Guilford College Women's Volleyball team opened its 1977 season with a win. The Quakers downed North Carolina Central University 6-15, 15-10, 15-9 in Durham on Thursday evening, September 22. The Quakers experienced difficulty in keeping their serve, and through backcourt play sparked a comeback, the women could not sustain the drive as North Carolina Central took the first game 15-6.

The outlook improved in game 2 as a strategic maneuver removed the block. Intelligent offense by freshman Lynn Zahurak plus consistent serving by sophomore Jennie Davis, along with overall improved defense made the difference here, as Guilford won game 2, 15-10.

The Quakers seemed strong early in Game 3 as they held a 7-3 lead over the War Eagles. Though at one time North Carolina Central came back to lead by one, the Quakers pulled it out 15-11.

Guilford stormed over Central during game 4 to build up a 12-2 lead, prompting liberal substitution. A strong comeback bid by Central forced Coach Currie to return her starters to the game which Guilford won 15-9.

On Friday September 23, the Lady Quakers faced a much harder task as they met Western Carolina University and North Carolina State in a tri-match. Guilford faced Western Carolina's Catamounts in the opening match. Game 1 was close with several long rallies. Western Carolina rose to the occasion, and Guilford succumbed 15-13. Game 2 was not fiercely contended as inability to keep the service caused the second loss, this time 15-10.

Match 2 paired N.C. State and Western Carolina. State dominated the offense as it pounded the Cats for a 15-9, 15-7 loss.

The Lady Quakers came up against the Wolfpack for the most exciting match of the evening. Guilford looked strong and the future looked bright as the first game was tied 10-10, however, N.C. State turned it on and came up with the win 15-10. As a demoralized Quaker team again took the floor, erratic serve reception and inconsistent serves once again took their toll as the powerful Wolfpack offense ran over the Quakers 15-3.

With these game,s Guilford's new record now stands 1-2. Next week's games are scheduled for Tuesday September 27 against Pembroke and Elon at Elon, and Thursday, September 29 against Catawba at Catawba. On Firday September 30 the Lady Quakers will face the Tarheels of UNC-Chapel Hill at 5:00 in the Alumni gym. This is the second of only four home matches this year, and it will be exciting. Don't miss it!

All in the Family

Last Wednesday's soccer clash between Guilford and Duke University on the Quakers' home field seemed like a family reunion for Brian and Brent Oswald. While Brian, a fullback for Guilford, and Brent, a senior wing for Duke, were not lined up across from each other, they did play against each other as the game progressed. Family ties did not restrict the aggressive play of either.

"I'm looking forward to playing duke," commented Brian before the game. Brian a sophomore from Abington, Pa., continued, "but I don't have any feeling about playing against my brother. Once the game starts, he's just another player."

"We have talked about last year's game (won by Guilford 3-2), but we don't dwell on it. I think he has a lot of respect for our team, and we certainly respect Duke. He is captain of the team this year, and I think he is expecting to have a good team."

With three wins, one loss, and one tie to their credit, the Guilford College soccer team has gotten off to a very strong and impressive start this season.

Two weeks ago, the Quakers defeated East Carolina by a 4-1 margin in a highly aggressive match, during the first round of the Campbell College Soccer Tournament, played in Belwus Creek, N.C. The second round battle between Guilford and Erskin College saw plenty of action before the Quakers fell, 3-1, to the strong and nationally ranked Erskine. Bob Propster and Bob Lloyd, the leading scorers for the Guilford College team, were named to the 11-man All-Tournament team in that tournament.

Propster, who has six goals and three assists in six games for the Quakers, scored two goals in the first round match over ECU, and got the Quaker's only goal in the loss to Erskine in the finals.

Lloyd, a sophomore from Trenton, N.J., had an unassisted goal against the Eat Carolina Pirates and was outstanding in both tournament games. For the season, Lloyd has five goals and three assists.

Propster, a junior from Chapel Hill, and Lloyd, were both named to the All-Carolinas Conference and All-NAIA District 26 teams lat year, and were the Quakers' leading scorers with 29 and 16 goals, respectively, in the 17-4 season.

"We are pleased with the

"No thanks, I'd rather have an apple."

Soccer Season Unfolds

progress we have made so far," commented Quaker coach Ray Alley. "We are disappointed with the loss to Erskine, but they have a very strong team, which is indicated by a narrow loss to Clemson last year. Actually, our game with Erskine was closer than the score indicated. They had a 3-0 advantage at halftime and the third goal came on an indirect free kick with only four seconds left in the half. I felt we outplayed them in the second half, and that type of effort continued in our game Sunday against Davidson.

Against Duke University, the Quakers faced the strong challenge of a Blue Devil team that remembered the 3-2 overtime loss to Guilford a year ago. Last Wednesday, in the hard fought match against Duke, the Quakers tied the Blue Devils 1-1, again in overtime. Duke scored first, with 18 minutes gone in the 2nd half on a kick by Richard Murray, with an assist from Edwin Agyaploy. Guilford then scored with five minutes left in the game on a direct kick by Marty Block, his first of the year. Coach Alley commented that he felt "the team played very well on defense, but was disappointed with the offense." Sophomore Bob Sanguinetti was credited with 15 saves. "Bob probably played one of his best games ever against Duke."

On Friday, Guilford travelled to Catawba College where they defeated the Indians 5-0. Tom Boutin scored his first two goals of the year, with Larry Davis, Marty Block and Bob Lloyd scoring one apiece.

378-3592

SECURITY PAGER NUMBER

24 HOUR SERVICE

WANTED.....Live-in student to babysit for young family in exchange for room & board.

PRIVATE ROOM; FLEXIBLE HOURS.

1 mi. from campus

852-0331

LOCATED BETWEEN THE COLISEUM AND FOUR SEASONS MALL

Roy Rogers

FAMILY RESTAURANT

HOWDY PARTNERS !!

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
2606 HIGH POINT RD.
GREENSBORO, N.C.
294-5399

FRESH ROAST BEEF SANDWICHES
Homemade Hamburgers - Salad Bar
Western Fried Chicken
Apple Cheese Crisp dessert
Free Refills on all Large Drinks

OPEN TIL 1:00 AM - FRI. & SAT. TIL 2:00 AM

The Ruling Class

Sept. 30

8:15p.m.

Sternberger Auditorium

Forbidden Games

Tuesday, September 27th

Sternberger Auditorium
254 8:15